IN THE COMMONS.

Speculation is rife as to what shall be the outcome of the debate on the Navy Bill. The members are returning to the Capital in groups and the newspapers of both parties are busy telling their respective readers with what a fervor of enthusiasm the proposed contribution of $35,000,000 has been received by the people of Canada, or with what vehemence the said contribution is being denounced. The people, with but few exceptions, pay little heed to these special pleadings and those of them who are capable of judging and honest enough to see the claims of both Canada and the Empire, regardless of party claims and party bias, will have made up their minds on the question long ere this and will hold to their opinions long after it has been disposed of in parliament. Whatever the outcome may be, whether the Opposition will succeed in driving the government to the country, or the government succeed in passing the appropriation and winding up with the National Anthem, either achievement will be looked upon as the winning of a skillfully played game rather than an evidence of the loyalty or disloyalty of the Canadian people. So much for the significance of what we are about to receive within the next few days or few weeks or possibly months, at so much per day. The members are expecting a prolonged and bitter debate. There is to be nothing but "Naval bill" until the question is settled one way or another. The "Naval Bill" is the daily order of business for every sitting day until disposed of to the exclusion of every other business. Even the private members' days have been taken and the House will be kept down to the programme. Judging by the various press reports most of the Liberal members seem to be in favor of forcing the government to the country and freely express the opinion that they could succeed in a campaign on the naval question. The Conservative members are equally confident. They are credited with declaring that there will be no election, but that, if there is, the government would win. One member is credited with having boasted that the government now has a campaign fund of a million dollars and that it can get as much more as it requires. The Liberals claim that they have no money but are willing to test the country on the merits of the question. Should they lose the election they will be no worse off than they are whereas if they win they will have gained the whole political world. As their opponents say, they have everything to gain and nothing to lose. For the next few weeks, then, we shall have an opportunity of studying the vitality of Canadian loyalty and the eagerness of our people to take a hand in the salvation of the Empire either by their giving or withholding the proposed gift of $35,000,000. There is much satisfaction in having the assurance beforehand that after we have decided either to give or to withhold we shall be able to seal our loyalty and our devotion by jubilantly singing "God Save the King."

OUR RESOURCES

"All that a man hath will he give for his life," said one of old who, although not a safe guide to follow, nevertheless came near the truth on this occasion. For the sake of gain men will often risk their lives and the way of wealth, like the path of glory, is strewn with dead bodies. But these are the exceptions. Gold hunters in the unexplored wilds, in the fever-infested swamps, in perilous and death-daring undertakings are comparatively few and the quest is adopted only for quick returns and large profits. In choosing a life calling either for wealth or glory, the great majority take thought for the healthfulness both of the calling and of the place in which it is to be pursued. They will take no chances with death or disease. This is especially true when families are concerned and very properly so for he is no better than a murderer who, for the sake of either wealth or glory will take his family where one of the conditions is a fight with an unhealthy climate. In telling of the resources of Prince Edward Island, its fertile soil, its headquarters for smokers' supplies. One of the reasons for our success is the fact that we keep only the very best goods and once we have our tobacco stocked we keep them in first-class condition in our patent humidors—no chance for drying, mildewing or extra dampness. For pipe, chewing, or smoking tobaccos, cigars or cigarettes you will need to come here. The McKinnon Drug Co., Corner Great George and Kent Sts. Mt.

NOTES.

The proprietors of a large sawmill at Victoria, B. C., have decided to discharge all of the 90 Hindus in their employ and destroy the shacks which they have been occupying. The decision is said to have been arrived at on account of evidence that in order to retain their jobs the Hindus have been in the habit of giving bribes to certain officials. That it would be much fairer, says an exchange, to discharge the corrupt officials is something that does not seem to have struck the company.

WHAT IS THE MATTER

Sir—What is the matter with our Foreign Mail arrangements? I mailed important letters here Wednesday morning at 7 a. m., in time to catch the outgoing western train but the Postmaster informed me he had orders from headquarters to send all foreign mails to Georgetown as both boats were on that route, (his order has not been cancelled yet and one boat at Summerside and the other at Georgetown). My letters were sent to Georgetown that night and are there yet and will be until Friday morning, only 48 hours to go 6 miles, or eight hours a mile, not 8 miles an hour. This won't do and we only get foreign mail every other day. Great "continuous communication" this! "Continuous humbug" would be a more suitable term. GEO. R. MONTGOMERY. (On enquiry the Post Office Inspector informs The Guardian that when the Minto was ordered to Georgetown last week the postmaster at Montague was notified, as were all other postmasters interested, and all outgoing mails via Georgetown while both steamers were on that route. The Minto however was not transferred, as all postmasters must have known, although not officially notified, and they should have had sense enough to send the mails where there were boats to carry them.—ED.) Later—The Post Office Inspector adds that the Postmaster at Montague says that the mails from that office are being sent regularly to Georgetown.—ED.

IN MEMORIAM.

(From Yesterday's Evening Guardian) At his home in Charlottetown on Jan. 6th inst. there passed peacefully away to his eternal rest John McLeod, formerly of Montague River, in the 70th year of his age. The deceased had been of a quiet, modest nature, in the home kind and cheerful and during his severe suffering manifested that enduring patience characteristic of an earnest Christian.

WONDERFUL CURE OF CHARLOTTETOWN LADY. Mrs. Laphorn Tells a Story None Can Question. Dear Sir,—In order that others may find relief from their sufferings I am glad to make known the benefit I have derived from the use of the Oxyphator. I was a great sufferer for many years, and had spent a great deal of money in search of a cure. I suffered much from want of sleep and had no appetite. I had a very weak heart and often had not sufficient strength to walk upstairs. I also suffered much from rheumatism. Besides these troubles one of my limbs was badly ulcerated for over twenty years. My health was in such a condition that all last winter I could not venture out of doors. I began to use the Oxyphator early in April and in two or three weeks time I was so much better that I was able to walk to church unaided (the distance being about half a mile) and since then I have found no difficulty in walking any reasonable distance. From the time I began the use of the Oxyphator my sleep returned and my appetite has been good. The weakness of my heart is almost entirely gone along with nearly all the pain, and the ulcerated limb has been entirely healed. I am now able to attend to all my household duties. Since I began to use the Oxyphator I have taken no medicine of any description.

Having found the Oxyphator such an efficient and reliable remedy I have frequently recommended it to sufferers. It is a pity that so many continue to suffer who might easily be relieved by means of the Oxyphator. Yours sincerely, MRS. J. D. LAPHORN, 88 Water St., Charlottetown, Dec. 30, 1912. The foregoing letter is addressed to W. E. Inman, Local Manager of the Maritime Oxyphator Co., in P. E. I., 30 Longworth Ave., Charlottetown, 1-17ME11.

Certainty of Gain—Us Probability of Loss

In the fight with time some one is going to lose—but it will not be the man who carries sufficient life insurance. The man who carries a life insurance policy is certain he has a valuable nest egg stored up for him that will be delivered, just when he needs it, he is sure that if he should die suddenly those he leaves behind will be well provided for and this in itself is a fact that tends toward long life. The certainty of gain against the probability of loss—the Canada Life man versus the uninsured man. Which are you? Which are you going to be? Now is the time to decide.
