James A. Bayne who has been on the island for some time in connection with organization work in the I.O.O.F., was a passenger to Georgetown last evening by the mail special en route to his home in Moncton, N. B. Mr. Bayne was instrumental in the organization of the new Oddfellow lodges at Montague and Kensington, and work in the interest of the Oddfellows Relief association.

S. C. Clark, Mt. Stewart, has returned home from an extended trip to Bermuda and other parts of the sunny south.

Hammond Kelly, Southport, left yesterday afternoon for Georgetown en route to Fredericton, N. B. Mr. Kelly has a carload of horses to dispose of in the N. B. capital.

Capt. P. A. McKenzie, of Hunter River, is offering for sale an exceptionally good business stand in that thriving village. This is without a doubt one of the best stands in that vicinity or in fact on the island for carrying on a general business. Any one needing such a property would do well to see the Captain before settling down elsewhere.

A correspondent from Melville writes that their school is progressing rapidly under the skillful management of Miss Peggie Walsh of Charlottetown. J. D. McKenzie was a visitor to Pleasant Valley recently, where he was the guest of Hugh Jack. J. C. Beaton was a recent visitor in Glen Martin. M. McArthur is visiting in New Glasgow.

An interesting program was put on at the People's Theatre, Charlottetown, last evening. The film entitled 'The Life Boat' was especially good. It was an interesting and realistic picture of the sea. The Eternal Mother, another good one, the story of a woman's sacrifice for love, was fully appreciated by the large audience present. The other two reels, both comical with a good laugh for every spectator, were 'Won Through a Medium' and 'Dooley's Scheme'. The scheme was all right but failed to work. Miss Wren was as good as ever in illustrated song and received well merited applause.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season at Springfield was the basket social and entertainment held in the new Temperance Hall on Friday, March 16th. The roads and weather being all that could be desired a crowded audience assembled. After the preliminary remarks by the chairman, Thomas Haslam, the following program was well rendered: Chorus by the choir; Recitation, Agnes Haslam; Solo, Thomas McKay (encored); Duet, Penzie and Robert Howard; Recitation, Bessie McKenzie; Solo, Clara Balderson (encored); Reading, Walter MacKenzie (encored); Recitation, Ernie Haslam; Chorus by the choir; Stump Speech, Daniel Matheson; Solo, Dorothy Goodridge; Duet, Mary Haslam and Jack McKay; Solo, T. W. E. Haslam (encored); Chorus—Three Fishers—sung by the male choir. After the program the baskets were auctioned by Archibald Ferguson, ably assisted by John E. Sinclair, and a large sum was realized.

A recent issue of the Canadian Cigar and Tobacco Journal contains a fine photograph of the attractive cigar window display made by the MacKinnon Drug Co., Charlottetown, managed by Captain D. A. MacKinnon and H. L. Bethune. The magazine says it is a striking example of what some dealers can accomplish even in a line somewhat aside from their regular business. The firm added cigars to their stock just a little less than two years ago, and, judging from the manner in which they have made the goods go, some men, at least, can get the public's ear when they set out to do so. They are firm believers in advertising, and when they find a line of goods worthy of public patronage spare no pains or space in letting friends and customers know about it, and those same friends and customers, on the other hand, know that when 'The Best Drug Store' pronounces an article 'Corking Good,' there is something to it. They have made Webster's El Presidente their leader in the cigar line, handling them almost exclusively, and are pleased to pronounce them 'Corking Good Cigars,' a statement which seems to be borne out by the large number they are disposing of.

Edmund and Mrs. Carr, Hillside Cottage, Oyster Bed Bridge, were surprised on Monday evening, March 11th, when about thirty of the young people of Wheatley River and Oyster Bed Bridge unexpectedly arrived at their home. The company were kindly received by Mr. and Mrs. Carr and family and the greater part of the night was spent in dancing. At midnight lunch was served after which Dr. McKenna, summoned the young people to the parlor and in his usual efficient manner in their behalf presented Mr. and Mrs. Carr with a valuable present, it being the thirty-first anniversary of their marriage. In the early morning hours the company departed after singing For Elsie's a Jolly Good Fellow.

A Flat River correspondent writes: The thaw of last week has taken away all the snow and the roads are in a very bad condition. J. J. England, Springfield, has returned home after visiting friends in Flat River. Compton and Ross, contractors, are busily engaged getting ready for their summer's work. Jack Gill and Samuel Ross are cutting their summer's supply of wood. Mrs. D. Campbell, Southport, is visiting friends in Flat River. Edward Easton is busily engaged building a fishing boat. He will have it fitted with an Imperial engine. Mrs. D. McCleod, Melville, has returned home. While here she was the guest of Mrs. D. E. Ross. John R. Ross is packing his summer's supply of ice, assisted by D. W. Ross. Mrs. A. N. McDonald, Flat River, and Miss D. Gillis, Pt. Prim, spent Sunday last in Murray River the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Berhoe.
