FRANCE WILL MAKE A UNIQUE EXHIBIT

PARIS, Sept. 19, (Special)—Much attention to the question of French participation in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915 is being paid by Mr. J. J. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, during his vacation in France. He has called on a number of important persons and possible exhibitors in half a dozen of the largest French provincial cities.

The Ambassador is convinced that the French exhibit will be representative of the best that France can show. It is intended that everything shall be distinctive either for its great value or its cheapness, its artistic quality or its novelty, so that nothing shall be commonplace.

One of the historic buildings in France also is to be reproduced in the exposition grounds and will serve to house the exhibit. It has not yet been decided which of these will be chosen. Several are under consideration, any of which would be unique and interesting in itself.

Mr. Jusserand intends to leave for America on October 4 on board the Savoie. He is now in Paris on business connected with his embassy.

WILL THORNE DELEGATE TO MONTREAL CONGRESS

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Will Thorne the well-known Labor member of parliment sailed from Montreal to attend the Trades Union Congress for Canada as delegate from the organized workers of the United Kingdom.

WANT LAPOINTE FOR CONTROLLER

MONTREAL, Sept. 17—Petitions will be sent out asking Ald. L. A. LaPointe to be a candidate for the Board of Control in April next. Asked whether he would consent to run, Ald. LaPointe said that he was in the hands of the people.

Ald. LaPointe has been a member of the City Council for ten or twelve years, and is a financial critic. He is a member of Parliament, but under the existing law he would have to retire from the Commons if he became a Controller so his ultimate decision to retire from Parliament would rest with the Liberal Party.

WHALE RAMMED SHIP.

ST. JOHN'S, Sept. 17.—A collision with a whale caused such serious damage to the Danish steamer Wladmir Ritz that the vessel was forced to put in here to-day for repairs. The accident occurred Monday afternoon about 250 miles east of St. John's. The crew of the steamer say that the whale approached at terrific speed and they could not alter the ship's course in time to prevent the impact. The whale struck the steamer head on, knocking a four foot hole in the bow. The accident is believed to have killed the whale, for the monster sank immediately, its blood discoloring the water over a large area.

The steamer left Campbellton, N. B., Sept. 11, for Plymouth, Eng. She will have to discharge her cargo to permit of repairs being made.

WHOLESALE PRICES MOVED UPWARD DURING AUGUST.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—Wholesale prices moved upward again during August, according to the Department of Labor's record, though only a slight degree. The index number for 270 articles was 136.2 compared with 135.9 in July. In August a year ago it was only 133.3. The advance was due to higher prices in grains and fodders, eggs, potatoes, wool, jute, calfskins, lead and anthracite coal. At the same time there were somewhat lower prices for cattle, beef, butter, trout, whitefish, coffee, benzine, rubber and a few other articles.

Comparing the month with a year ago, the chief increases are among animals and meats and the chief decreases among grains and fodders. In retail prices there was a general advance in eggs and butter, and in certain meats. Rents were down somewhat sharply in several western cities but were firm to upwards in the east.

CANADIAN HEALTH CONGRESS MEETS

REGINA, SASK., Sept. 18.—The third annual congress of the Canadian Public Health Association opened here today with a large attendance and will remain in session until and including Laturday. The congress is international in its representation of public health officials. Health officers from nearly every city and town of the Dominion and representatives of the health authorities of New York, Chicago and other large American cities are in attendance as the guests of the provincial government and of the city of Regina. Many notable authorities on matters of public health both in Canada and in the United States are present and have consented to deliver addresses before the congress. The program for the social entertainment of the guests will include a reception at the parliament buildings, the annual dinner of the association, a garden party and an excursion to Fort Qu'Appelle by special train, on which occasion the visitors will have an opportunity to inspect the new sanatorium building in course of construction.

NEW INSPECTOR GENERAL PROPOSED

LONDON, Sept. 19, (Special)—The Melbourne correspondent of The Times understands that the next Inspector-General of the Military Forces of the Commonwealth will be an Australian, and not a Britisher. Gen Kirkpatrick retires next year.

It is also stated that a reorganization of the Naval Board is probable after Admiral Patey's arrival.

Senator Millen, Minister of Defence, reiterates his determination to maintain loyalty the Kitchener and Henderson schemes, but on the other hand it is an open secret that Sir John Forrest, Treasurer, is cutting down the estimates drastically, thus interrupting the steady development of these defence schemes.

CANADIANS MUST PESERVE AND OWN INDUSTRIES

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—The Underwood tariff bill has passed the senate at Washington and after being submitted to a conference of the two houses, will be sent probably in a week or two, to the president for signature, whereupon it will become law. So far as Canada is concerned, it provides reductions which will give us about as much as we should have received under the Taft-Fielding reciprocity, and this without our making any sacrifice in return. Besides, nobody suggests this time that Canada is to be transformed into an outlying dependency, "an adjunct," of the United States.

It is not probable that the reductions in which Canada is principally interested that have been made by the democrats in the senate will be objected to by the democrats in the house, who did not go quite so far, so that the following brief account of what there is in store for us may be regarded as approximately correct.

TAKE THE CASE OF WHEAT

In the first place, wheat, now taxed 25 cents per bushel, is to be admitted free, providing the exporting country admits American grown wheat free. In other words, if we in Canada desire to get the benefit of this provision we must repeal our duty of 12 cents per bushel on American wheat. According to the latest issue of the Grain Growers Guide newspaper, wheat prices at Winnipeg are higher than at Minneapolis, by an amount equal in some cases to the rail rate irom Mianeapolis.

As the bill was first amended in the senate, foreign wheat was to be taxed 10 cents a bushel and flour 45 cents per barrel of 196 pounds, when exported directly or indirectly from a country or dependency which imposed a duty on wheat or flour imported from the States. But, as said, wheat has been put upon the free list for such countries as admit American wheat free, and apparently, the same course has been pursued in the case of flour. The Canadian duty on American flour is 60 cents a barrel, which we shall have to abolish in order to secure the free admission of Canadian flour into the states.

The duty on barley has been lowered from 30 cents to 15 cents a bushel, and that on oats, now 15 cents to 6 cents. According to the Guide barley is selling at Winnipeg at 41 to 45 cents, while at Minneapolis it fetches 54 to 69 cents; oats at Winnipeg bring 33 and at Minneapolis 38.

THE LIVE STOCK MADE FREE

Cattle and sheep and swine are made free. Prices at Winnipeg and Chicago for beef cattle are $6.25 and $9.25 respectively, sheep $5.50 and $6.30, while swine are 5 cents a hundred higher at Winnipeg.

The duties on butter and cheese have been reduced by over one half. Implements and parts thereof are to be free, so are eggs, milk and cream, together with fresh beef, peal, pork and mutton, bacon and hams and preserved and prepared meats. Potatoes are made free, while the duties on hay, peas and beans, poultry, fruits and honey and vegetables in general are considerably reduced. Rough lumber and logs are free, together with fresh water fish, whilst salt water fish are to be free if the exporting country admits American fish free, otherwise they will be taxed a cent per pound.

These are the chief provisions affecting the Canadian farmer, altho in the absence of an official copy of the bill as it passed the senate, I cannot vouch for their literal accuracy.

"CASCARETS" CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

Feel bully! No headache, sour stomach, bad breath, constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF WORLD WORKERS

CHICAGO, Sept. 19, (Special)—Fifty delegates declaring they represented the vast army of unskilled workmen attended the opening of the annual convention of the Industrial Workers of the World here. The delegates listened to Tom Mann, English labor leader, criticize Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor. "Gompers is a pure reactionary," he said, "and has got away from a sympathetic understanding with the needs of the great army of borne down, unskilled laborers.

"He virtually is at the head of the American 'labor trust.' Instead of welcoming into its membership all who need the benefits of organization the 'labor trust' draws a sharp line excluding the unskilled.

"If the aims of any right movement for the ultimate emancipation of the workingman are to be considered, all workers, skilled and unskilled, must be welcomed."

AWAIT OPENING OF SUICIDE'S WILL

KENTWOOD, La., Sept. 17—A sensation is expected to follow the probating of the will of William Williams the wealthy farmer, who killed himself two weeks ago. According to reports, which have leaked out, some of the most unusual dispositions will be made of the property. The will is to be made public to-morrow. Williams left his bed at mid-night and going into the barnyard nearly severed his own head with a razor. He is believed to have been insane as the outcome of pellagra.

BISHOP LEBLANC IN KENT COUNTY.

RICHIBUCTO, N. B., Sept. 17.—His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc was in Rexton this afternoon to administer confirmation to a large class of candidates. South Rexton is the most northern part of the St. John diocese. His Lordship will be in Buctouche on Sunday. Great preparations are being made for his reception, as the population of Buctouche is mostly Acadian.

A HARVEST LABORER GIVEN SIX MONTHS FOR STEALING GRIP

ESTEVAN, Sask., Sept. 17—Six months hard labor without the option of a fine was given a harvest hand from Arizona for stealing a suit case from a hotel. A large number of harvesters have been hanging around the past two weeks asking abnormally high wages and the magistrates have instructed the police to round up all loafers and if they will not work at reasonable wages to clear them out of town, failing which they will be charged with vagrancy and jailed.

Seventy-five were hanging around yesterday, but since the police issued this warning the streets are practically clear. The men are determined to hold up the farmers for more money than they can earn.

THE STANDPOINT OF THE CONSUMER

From the standpoint of the Canadian consumer, there is another and a serious side to this story of tariff reduction. How is he going to fare with American buyers competing for Canadian-raised articles like eggs, potatoes, beef and pork, milk and cream, bacon and hams? If the Canadian farmer is to obtain augmented prices for much of his produce, will not the price on this side of the boundary be exalted?

In the debgtes at Washington a good deal was said of the enormous and growing exports of the United States to Canada. In the fiscal year 1912-13, according to our Canadian returns, they sent us goods of the value af $441,000,000, whilst our exports to them were only $157,000,000. They say their new tariff will increase our exports to them, but at the same time they count on being able to ship us more goods in payment, unless trade depression should fall heavily upon both countries.

In this manner they evidently hope to make inroads upon our manufacturing industries. Their reductions of duties is designed solely for the benefit of the American consumer, but they fancy that our farmers will demand a reduction of the Canadian duties on factory products, which would also be an advgntage to their manufacturers and artizans. There would also be an advantage to their Canadians must be on the alert to protect their manufacturers, unless we are willing to end in the long run by becoming ere purveyors of food and raw material for our neighbors.

CHINA WILL KEEP FAITH WITH POWERS

PEKIN, Sept. 19, (Special)—The Premier has notified the ministers of the five Powers with which the big loan was negotiated that the reorganization of the salt gabelle will be undertaken under the direct management of Sir Richard Dane and Tsai Ting-kan, in accordance with the stipulation in the loan agreement.

This dispels the allegation that the government had determined to obstruct reform, although it deprives it of its chief excuse against inaugurating a debt commission to control China's finances.

The Japanese regard China's formal note accepting her demands in the Nanking affair as unsatisfactory, owing to the inclusion of phrases conveying the suggestion that the incidents were provoked by the Japanese and demand that the reply be reconstructed.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Have you seen The Garden Island
On St. Lawrence's Gulf of blue,
Felt its sweet refreshing breezes,
Heard its waves tell stories true?

Stories of those far off ages
When the earth itself was young,
E're its fair primeval beauty
Had by human life been sung?

Stories of the first explorers,
Coming o'er its restless wave
In their quaint boats, strange instructure,
But with daring hearts and brave?

Stories of the old white settlers,
Who transformed the virgin soil
Into fields of useful beauty
By their years of patient toil?

Stories of that fatal tempest
Which the old remember well,
When upon the fishing vessels
Death and swift destruction fell.

Fell, and struck New England's hearth stones
With an aim that did not fail;
So the Island people called it
To this day—"The Yankee Gale?"

Have you seen its firs and spruces
With their heavenward pointing tops,
Guarding well the boundary fences,
Where each field and pasture stops.

Or in dusky forests, massing
Their guardian hosts o'er hill and dale,
Keeping well the woodland secrets,
Secrets fit for poet's tale?

Have you seen its red roads, winding
In and out through fields of grain;
Lost them in some hillside's spruces;
Watched them stretch across some plain?

Have you picked its ripe blueberries
Growing by these roadsides fair;
Often stopped to gaze about you
While you drank the healing air?

Have you driven along its shore line
Till the tide came rolling in,
Washing out each mark of wheel track
As a soul's washed free from sin.

By the ocean of God's goodness,
When its tide turns back once more
Cleansing with its strong swift insweep,
All the life that's gone before?

Have you seen the sun in splendor
Sink beneath the Gulf's bright wave,
While the sky of radiant beauty
For his parting gift he gave?

Have you homeward turned at night fall,
Soothing all life into sleep?
Forded through the darkening waters?
Driven through spruce woods, dim and deep?

If you have not, listen closely;
When the summer sun runs high,
When from work you're faint and weary,
When to rest you vainly try,

When the heat waves of your own land
Seem to parch your very soul,
Take a trip to this fair Island,
With Cavendish your final goal.

You will love the kind hearts in it;
You will love its flowers and trees,
Fields of oats and wheat and barley,
Quivering in its cooling breeze;

You will love the Gulf's blue waters,
When you look across the sea;
You will love it as the homeland
Of little "Anne of Avonlea";

Little Ann, who by her mishaps
Brings a smile to lips in pain,
And by her sweet and guileless wisdom
Helps tired hearts to strive again.

Then when winter snows are drifting,
And the land is wrapped in white,
When with cares you are surrounded,
Naught but labor is in sight,

In some sweet, though stolen, moments,
Close your tired eyes, and see
Visions of Prince Edward Island,
As they'll float through memory.

LIFE AND MATTER OF TWO ORDERS

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 19, (Special)—At a joint meeting of several sections of the British Association the debate, which was on "The Origin of Life," attracted a great audience.

The discussion was animated, but Sir Oliver Lodge refused to accept the title of the debates declaring that the meeting was not discussing the origin of life at all, but a laboratory synthesis of some material that might "possibly become endowed with what we call life."

"I regard life itself," he said, "as something not of the same order as matter, but of a higher and different order. By having a molecule sufficiently complex, sufficiently unstable and supplied with the energy of sunlight you have apparently the physical and chemical substratum for the operations of life; you have potential living matter. I do not say that we have that potential living matter yet—that will be a great achievement—but I have little doubt that it may be done."

WIDOW TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

...BARTLESVILLE, OKLA., Sept. 18—Hundreds of visitors have arrived here from Tulsa and other cities of this State, attracted by the fact that on Monday next Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, a former society leader and prominent church worker of Tulsa will be placed on trial before a jury in the local district court upon the charge of complicity in the murder of her husband, Charles T. Reuter, an attorney of Tulsa, Guy Mackenzie and Joe Baker, the two men whose accomplice Mrs. Reuter is rharged with having been, were tried upon the charge of murder some months ago and are now serving life terms in the State penitentiary, having been found guilty of the murder of Reuter.

The case was originally on the docket of the surpeior court at Tulsa, but was transferred to the district court at Bartlesville on a charge of venue, after an agreement to this effect had been reached by the attorneys of the State and those of the accused woman. The case will be tried before District Judge R. H. Hudson, by whose order a venire of 100 jurors has been drawn from which the jury in the case will be selected. County Attorney Pat Malloy, of Tulsa and his first assistant, Ed. Crossland, will represent the State, while several noted lawyers will guard the interests of Mrs. Reuter.

The coming trial, which is awaited throughout the State with a great deal of interest, will probably form the concluding chapter of one of the most puzzling mysteries which the authorities and courts of Oklahoma have ever faced. Although two men were found guilty of the murder the real motives and the true inside history of the crime have never become publicly known. Whether the mystery will be solved at the coming trial remains to be seen. Nearly two hundred witnesses have been subpoenaed by the State and by the defense and the trial is expected to last a month or more.

Charles T. Reuter, a well known and prosperous lawyer of Tulsa, was killed in his bedroom on the upper floor of his Tulsa residence on the night of May 5 last. The shots which had caused his death and the screams of Mrs. Reuter alarmed the whole neighborhood and when the police entered the house they found Mr. Reuter dead on his bed, while Mrs. Reuter was locked in her room on the opposite side of the hall, screaming for help. It was ascertained that jewelry valued at $400 and $150 in cash which Mr. Reuter was known to have in his pocket, were missing and the natural inference was that Mr. Reuter had been killed by burglars who had entered his house to rob him.

A thorough investigation was at once begun. It was ascertained that a tall man, masked, and with a red light dangling from his belt, had been seen running from the Reuter home immediately after the shots had been heard. But the burglar theory did not satisfy the police officials and on the following day Guy D. Mackenzie, Grover Bellew, his chauffeur, and Joe Baker were arrested on the theory that Reuter's murder was the result of a conspiracy, with robbery as a blind to conceal the real motive. Not until the preliminary examination of the three men began was Mrs. Reuter served with a warrant charging her with being a party to the alleged conspiracy.

At the preliminary examination a great deal of damaging evidence unearthed by the police was offered and the men as well as Mrs. Reuter were held for trial. The men were tried together and in the course of the trial the prosecution maintained that there had been intimacy between Mackenzie and Mrs. Reuter. It was shown that there had been frequent quarrels between Reuter and his wife; that Mrs. Reuter and Mackenzie frequently met and that she accompanied him several times on joy rides in his automobile. The attempt to prove an alibi for Mackenzie and the other men accused, failed and while the charge against Bellew was dropped, Mackenzie and Joe Baker, his friend, and companion, were held for trial. Their trial was brief and they were found guilty and sent to the penitentiary for life.

Mrs. Reuter, who comes from a good family and occupied a high social position in Tulsa, where she was prominently identified with church work and women's club life, was held for trial but was permitted to remain at liberty upon her own recognisance. She continued to live quietly in her home on North Cheyenus Avenue, Tulsa. She is the daughter of Benjamin McKean, formerly postmaster at Indianapolis, Ind., is 26 years old and has two small children. Public opinion seems to be in her favor and it is believed by her numerous friends that she will be able clearly to establish her innocence of any actual or implied share in the alleged conspiracy which led to the murder of her late husband.

SULTAN'S CONFIDANT IS IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Sept. 19, (Special)—From the position of friend and confidant of the Sultan of Turkey to the Montreal Police Court, where he is charged with performing an illegal operation, is the epitomized history of Captain Sadik Bey, who was arraigned and remanded before Justice Basin.

According to the police, Capt. Bey was a power in Turkey before the days of the revolution and Young Turks, but when the Turkish political tables were turned he, with others, made his way beyond the Turkish frontier and came to Canada. Since arriving in Montreal he has become well known and has been active in military circles. It is alleged that nearly three years ago he was connected with the case of the disappearance of a Chinese, and when called upon by the police to give information, went into a state of coma. Emerging from this, he requested the police to go to a certain spot where they would find a cave, and that if they dug there the body of the missing Celestial would be found. Thinking there might be something in the information from the spirit world more than a direct communication from the spirits themselves, the police did as directed. They did some digging, but never found the Chinese.

HUMAN EYEBALL LAMP THE LATEST FOR AUTOMOBILES.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—A new automobile head-lamp which represents a radical departure from present designs has made its appearance in France. The lamp has the shape of a human eye-ball and turns in its sockets in exactly the same manner as the eye. Two small lamps controlled by thumb screws from the interior of the car hold the lamp in position in any desired direction, while the handle itself is used in turning the light rays to the side they are needed.

MINING UNIONS' HEAD STOPS RIOTING DURING STRIKE

CALUMET, Mich., September 17—The presence here of President Charles Moyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, has been productive of absolute quiet in the copper strike region. Moyer has counselled against disorderly tactics and since his arrival here a few days ago there have been no attacks on workmen nor noisy demonstrations. The strikers today contented themselves today with orderly parades and picketing.

John N. Walker, president of the Illinois Mine Workers, has returned here bringing fresh assurances that his organization will support the strike.

WOODEN TOOMBSTONE IN HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. A wooden toombstone, seven feet tall and four feet square was dragged in on the floor of the house today to illustrate an argument by Representative Smith of Minnesota, that the administration currency bill would put the industry, labor, agriculture and commerce of the United States under the control of four men appointed by the party in power.

On the base of the monument were painted seven circles representing the seven members of the several reserve board proposed by the bill.

A general attack on the method in the house was made by Representative Calloway of Texas, Democrat, who protested vigorously against following Wilson and Bryan blindly.
