All Guardians are discontinued promptly at the expiry date, unless requested otherwise by subscribers. A renewal notice, and addressed envelope in which to remit are sent to each subscriber a short time before expiry, and if no response another renewal notice is sent out and the paper is discontinued promptly, subscribers having thus no cause to blame the management if their paper is stopped.

Considerable interest has been aroused among riflemen over what is known as the Clifford position, so-called because first made use of by Private Clifford, Toronto, this year's winner of King's and Prince of Wales Prizes at Bisley. The Ottawa rule is as follows: "Any position may be taken that can be adopted on level ground, a fixed rest must not be used." From the foregoing it is quite evident that the position now prevailing among P. E. Island disciples of Clifford is well within this law and cannot be changed until a new rule is adopted by the governing body at Ottawa.

De Witt St. John; J. W. Moss, D. B. McLellan, Boston; A. McConnell, Sydney.

A gathering of ordinary importance took place in the evening of the 25th, October, at the residence of Daniel P. and Mrs. Fraser, Kingston, on the occasion of the marriage of their second daughter, Ella M. to Myles MacDonald of Brookfield. At seven o'clock the bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father and to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Fannie Gill, cousin of the bride. The bride was attended by her sister Pearl, while the groom was supported by his brother Donald. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Z. L. Fash, pastor of the Baptist Church, Charlottetown, in the presence of many of the friends of the contracting parties. A pleasing feature of the ceremony was six ribbon girls prettily attired in white. The many valuable and costly gifts attested to the high regard in which the bride and groom are held. Special mention must be made of the chair which was pronounced by all present to be the best assortment of costumes ever seen at such an affair and their gentlemanly conduct was highly commented upon by all.

A CHOCOLATE STORY

This specialized training, complaints from customers are almost unheard of. In the buying of materials the firm exercise the greatest care only the best being incorporated into their classy goods. Every conceivable kind of chocolates are turned out double that of the famous Heinz. They are constantly on the look out for new creations and reproduce or improve on them so that there is always some new "surprise" in a box of Moir's Chocolates. The boxes used are all made in the factory, labels only being imported. Their packages and packing are the most attractive seen anywhere their taste in this line being warmly commended by high class American confectioners. It is however, in the contents that Moir's take pride believing (and having that belief shared by thousands of enthusiastic patrons) from the Atlantic to the Pacific) that their goods are the best possible to produce. One has but to examine the coating of a "Moir's chocolate" to see its superiority. Note the thickness nearly double that of others—

Tuckett's Orinoco

SHAKE out your pipe. Now take your pocket knife and scrape it out. Before loading up with Orinoco clean the bowl, so that you can enjoy to the utmost the fragrant, sweet smoke reserved for Orinoco smokers. Young smokers appreciate its mildness and flavor. Experienced smokers say: "Nothing to beat it for real satisfaction."

In packages and thus sold every where. TUCKETT LIMITED HAMILTON

see the smoothness (because made from pure Venezuelan bean) and rich pure flavor. Then take the fillings—the rich cream and sugar centres, the fresh nutty fillings, the delicious fruits and the true flavors render them not only a delicious condiment but an extremely healthful article of diet. Those who love chocolates should use care in their buying—this is an age of sanitation and it is but right that your health should be guarded. In the manufacture of even the cheapest candies Moirs insist on scrupulous cleanliness and care so that one can always eat "Moir's" with feelings free from anxiety. In referring to Moir's chocolates above the XXX brand is meant, Moir's of course cater to cheaper trade by producing other brands which are sold at correspondingly low prices. The McKinnon Drug Co. of this city have handled Moir's XXX chocolates—the highest grade made by the firm for the past two years to the exclusion of others. Their success has been really remarkable. Every week a fresh assortment of bulk and boxed goods leaves the makers hands and on Monday are on display in the elegant case of "the best Drug Store." It is the perfect freshness and the fact that they sell only the highest grade of Moir's which has won such popularity for the McKinnon Drug Co's chocolate department. No box of Moir's chocolates more than ten days old is ever offered for sale, and the bulk goods are just as carefully looked after. There is many a slip between the cup and the lip, but it is impossible for you to make a mistake if you leave your order at James Callaghan's, 178 Queen Street. You are always sure to get satisfaction in material, fit and workmanship. His garments are noted for their superiority, you could pick them out in a thousand, because they have that classy touch that makes them different from the ordinary, his prices are moderate. Leave your order with him and you will have no reason to regret it. 10-4dwfmwtt.
