$5,000 House For One Dime

(By Dominion News Service.)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—A lorry driver of Ealing, who lives with his wife and family in two rooms, has won a house worth $5,000 for sixpence, or twelve cents.

He is W. Piddington, of 18 William Road, West Ealing. His was the winning ticket in a scheme to help King Edward Memorial Hospital at Ealing. The hospital, it is expected, will receive about $10,000.

Mr. Piddington is now the owner of Camborne House, Camborne Avenue, Ealing, and handsome six-roomed freehold building standing in his own grounds, and specially built for the scheme. At present Mr. Piddington has not made up his mind whether he will leave his two rooms and live in the swell house or sell it.

Mr. Piddington had the surprise of his life when a messenger arrived yesterday at where he was working, telling him the Mayor of Ealing wanted to see him at the Town Hall as he had won the £1,000 house. There was even a motor car waiting to take him.

Good luck has dogged the family of late. Last week Mrs. Piddington took a prize at Ealing Baby Show and some time ago she won two turkeys in a draw which also benefited Ealing hospital.

There was a crowd outside Piddington's house last night, and he was overwhelmed with congratulations, for everyone is glad that the house has been won by a local man.

Over 165,000 tickets were sold in all parts of the country. The draw was organized by the Ealing Chamber of Commerce and was made by the Mayor at the Town Hall. The matron at the hospital was one of the 50 consolation prize winners.

Trapper Finds Vicks Handy For A Host of Ills

Ontario Man Says it is a Most Useful Remedy.

Mr. C. Phoenix: "I am very pleased to recommend Vicks VapoRub. I am a hunter, trader and trapper, also a fisherman. I use Vicks VapoRub in place of liniments, because it is very handy to carry and always gives such quick relief for small animal and insect bites, and for chapped hands and lips. My boots would blister my feet and I rubbed it on them and it made them just right. When I go trapping next fall I will have plenty of Vicks VapoRub in my kit. I call it the "Trapper's Friend." I have not had a cold all winter and I go out all the time and sometimes stay out all night with my traps."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc.

Absorbed through the skin and at the same time inhaled as a vapor, Vicks reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages. It is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles, the successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniments, poultices and plasters.

Used for croup and children's colds, Vicks gives remarkably quick results and also avoids nausea in internal dosing. Just as good for cuts, burns, bruises, bites, stings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Co., 344 Paul St., W. Montreal, P. Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

At one time she obtained a situation as a companion to a woman well known in the North Country, but soon herself appeared as a leader of fashion.

Three times she was convicted of theft, and the third time she had her proclivities were unchecked. In 1910, as Madeline Lloyd, she went to the Isle of Wight during Cowes week, and engaged a most expensive suite at a noted hotel.

Fashionable dressed, talented, and apparently wealthy, she made an immense impression, and soon gained the friendship of titled women, who took her everywhere, and introduced her to members of the Royal Yacht Squadron.

It is said that she was presented to Royalty. Certainly she was welcomed wherever she went. At the height of her popularity she was arrested. Unknown to her fashionable friends she had been systematically defrauding tradesmen and stealing jewels from them. She arrived at Cowes, where she was sentenced to 12 months in the second division for this outbreak, and from her release until her arrest in Bournemouth a few days ago she did not again come

Society Woman's Life of Crime

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A woman's life of crime while mixing in the highest social circles, and the revelation of her past to her well-connected husband, has been disclosed following a prosecution for shop lifting and stealing, at the Bournemouth Police Court.

Mrs. Helen Vera MacLaren, 39, described by her counsel as charming, well-educated and artistic, but a woman with a "moral kink," is the central figure. She was married seven years ago to a prominent Bournemouth man, who was unaware that she had been four times convicted for theft.

It was known to the police in her youth as an audacious and confident thief, who had for years lived a double life, and her tragedy is that on her release from her second term of imprisonment 13 years ago she abandoned her criminal career, and seemed to have left it behind for ever.

Her secret past might have remained hidden but for an unaccountable lapse into her old ways leading today to the police court, a plea of guilty on three charges of theft, and a sentence of six months imprisonment.

Born of respectable parents, and although well cared for in her early years she developed at an early age social ambitions and a love of luxury said to have been fostered by reading romantic literature.

At the age of 17 she plunged into a life of crime and adventure, and for nine years, during which she moved in the most exclusive circles and deceived some of the best known people in society, she stole thousands of pounds worth of jewels and clothes.

At one time she obtained a situation as a companion to a woman well known in the North Country, but soon herself appeared as a leader of fashion.

Three times she was convicted of theft, and the third time she had her proclivities were unchecked. In 1910, as Madeline Lloyd, she went to the Isle of Wight during Cowes week, and engaged a most expensive suite at a noted hotel.
