BREAD AND FLOUR PRICES.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—If the price of bread is to be based upon the price of flour, then 9 cents for a small loaf does not appear to be exorbitant. One year ago, when bread sold for 6 cents a loaf, flour sold at $3.25 for 98 pounds. The same quantity now sells at $5.60. In other words flour has increased 61 per cent since November 2, 1915, but the price of bread has increased only 50 per cent. No 1 northern wheat costs 79 per cent more than it did on November 2, 1915, and No. 2 winter wheat costs 88 per cent more.
