The election of Mr. Charles A. McLean, Spokane, Wash., cashier of the Trader's National Bank at that place as Treasurer of the Washington State Bankers' Association has recently called forth from the press many favorable comments on Mr. McLean's election. Mr. McLean is a son of William McLean, City, and a brother of Mr. A. A. McLean, K. C. It will be gratifying to the many friends of Mr. McLean in this Province to hear that he is being entirely successful in his chosen profession.

A great many favorable comments are being passed by tourists and travellers on this city's appearance. Charlottetown people can congratulate themselves that what is being said of them to their credit is true and it can be added that never in Charlottetown's history has the city been known to appear more beautiful. The verdancy and generally healthy look of the trees, grass and flowers in our squares and on our streets especially adds to the beauty of the city, and indicates a pure healthy climate.
