GERMANY'S POSITION

If the Russians have halted the German advance at the gates of Warsaw, it is high time they did so! Reports from Russian sources assert that the Germans have devastated the Western Poland after true Belgian style. Be that as it may, Russia is responsible, because she allowed the Teutons to romp as they pleased over that section of Poland. I am not inclined to accept the "strategic" explanation, but believe the Russians were out-fought, as well as out-maneuvred, at that point.

France and England bearing the burden of the war in Western Europe, are undoubtedly growing restive, at lack of results by Russia. Of the Czar's sincerity, there cannot be any doubt, but the Great Bear has been hibernating for ten years and hasn't yet shaken off the lethargy of peace.

Another question is the reappearance of the Turkish question and the transcendent magnitude of a chance to acquire Constantinople—the first real opportunity, because the one great power that has heretofore prevented the realization of the hope, England, is now her ally!

If Russia finds it necessary to dispatch a second army through Rumania and Bulgaria to drive the Turk across the Bosphorus, her interest in the march to Berlin, of which so much has been heard, is likely to diminish to a minimum. I believe the Turkish agitation is fostered by the Kaiser for the very reason that it will divert the attention of the Czar from the invasion of Prussia.

If it have that effect, Turkey will become a more valuable ally than is Austria. The Kaiser acts recently as if he were ashamed of the alliance with Austria-Hungary. This is hardly fair.

SAINT DUNSTAN'S WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES BY A SCORE OF 3-0

At the A.A.A.A. Grounds yesterday afternoon a good-sized crowd saw the St. Dunstan football team defeat the Connaught's by one touch in the first game of the series. The game was characterized by much open play and long kicking, making it one of a lively nature. The Conns, losing the toss, kicked off. The Saints returned with a nice kick, following up and dribbling splendidly right to their opponent's 5-yard line. The Conns put the ball out of the danger-zone to midfield, from where they worked the ball to the Saints 5-yard line on a dribble. The strong scrum of the Saints worked the leather back to their 25-yard line, only for it to be again returned by the Conns to the 5-yard line of the boys of the red and white. Gillis here got the ball from a pass, and after getting through the clutches of about half the S.D.C. team got over the line but lost the ball. After kicking from the 25 yards the Saints followed, with the resulting play being centred round the Conns' 30-yard line for a time. Continuing their rush, the Saints gained their opponent's 10-yard line before Gus McDonald, who played good game for the Conns, took the ball and made a pretty run of about 20 yards. The Conns then put on a fresh spurt of energy and worked the ball to the centre of the gridiron. Gillis got away for a run of 10 yards; he was followed by McCarey, who ran to the Saints' 25-yard line. Play of the "scrum" nature centred round this point for a short time, when Fred Kelly, the "Belgian" of the Saints, drove the pigskin into touch by a well-placed kick at the Conns 40-yard line. The Saints then continued until they reached the 5-yard line. It looked dangerous for the Conns, but Gillis made a gain of 5 yards, kicking the ball into touch ten yards from the line. The Conns were next compelled to rouse. From the 25-yard kick they followed the ball to the centre. The Saints put the ball over the touch line again for another rouse. The Conns made a nice kick from the 25-yard line, which was returned by Fred Kelly, who kicked the ball into touch 40 yards from the Conns' line. The Saints continued to gain ground and when the whistle sounded for halting they had the ball on their opponent's 5-yard line. The Saints kicked off with the wind against them in the second half. The ball came to Hazard on the extreme right of the Conns forward line, who made one of the finest kicks of the day, punting the ball into touch 25 yards from his opponent's line. The Saints dribbled back from the throw-in for 35 yards; the Conns pushed the play to midfield. The Saints came back fiercely, first reaching the 25-yard line, then getting the Conns' 15-yard line. The Collegians then got a set back of about 20 yards. They went at it again hammer and tongs, and were soon again on their opponent's 15-yard line. Curran made a run and was stopped about 5 yards from touch line. He swore he was over, but seemed unable to impress anyone else of the fact. The Conns got busy, and reversed matters, sending the play 40 yards away from their line. E. McMillan loomed up a new hero in the eyes of the College rooters and made a run of fifteen yards. Keenan here sprained his ankle and had to retire from the game; the Conns continued playing with fourteen men. On the resumption of play the Conns worked the leather to mid-field. The boys of the red and white started "the ball rolling" again, and before they stopped were nearly over the Conns' line. They went back to 5 yards for a scrum. Kelly got the ball from the scrum and went through, with the support of his team mates went over the line, touching the ball down for the first and only score of the game. Trainer made a poor effort to convert. The Conns then put up a grand effort and immediately forced their opponents to rouse. From the kick at 25 yards the ball went to midfield. The Conns then commenced to gain. McCarey got away and ran a good game for another run and a good gain. Fitzgerald and McCarey combined for a run which was stopped 5 yards from the touch line. This was the second chance the Conns lost to score, the first being when Gillis, instead of going to the end went right through into the whole half line opposing him. The Saints then got the ball away from their line by 35 yards. Redge Fitzgerald and Gus McDonald went away for a nice run. And then, Oh, my, the St. Dunstan "steam roller," McDougall, got moving and did not stop until 25 yards from the Conns' line. The Saints kept up the good work and the game ended with the Saints on the Conns' 5-yard line. The St. Dunstan scrum was wonderfully improved, while the Conns was considerably weakened, their whole line, Davison, Gay and W. Campbell, being off. Mr. James McMillan refereed in his usual satisfactory manner. The following were the line-ups:—St. Dunstan's College—Full, J. McIntyre; halves, Ed. Kelly, E. McMillan, W. Curran, L. McDonald; quarters, Fred Kelly, F. McKenna; forwards, J. McDougall, A. McIntyre, R. Smith, A. Daley, W. McLeelan, G. Morrisey and J. Reid, Connaughts—Full, R. Fitzgerald; halves, D. Gillis, F. McCarey, Augustus McDonald, Henry Fitzgerald; quarters, Lewis, G. McMahon, M. McGuigan; forwards, E. Cullen, D. Hogan, G. Hazard, A. McDonald, J. McAlister, W. Keenan, B. Gorman. An outstanding feature of the game was the playing of D. Gillis of the Conns.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. JOHN C. CLARK.

A telegram received yesterday by Mr. J. A. Clark, Superintendent of the Experimental Station, Charlottetown, brought the sad news of the sudden death in Kamloops, B. C., on Tuesday night, of his father, Mr. John C. Clark, of Bay View.

The late Mr. Clark left some weeks ago in excellent health to visit his children in Western Canada. En route he spent some time with his son, Dr. Jeremiah S. Clark, in Brandon, Manitoba and later proceeded to British Columbia where at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Prosser, Kamloops, B. C., he was stricken with apoplexy, death coming suddenly.

Many friends throughout this province will learn of his death with sorrow. He was widely known as a successful farmer, a man of much more than average intelligence, public spirited and progressive. In all matters of educational, religious and public interest he took a prominent part and his voice and his means could always be depended upon as factors in the furthering of anything calculated to benefit his country or his fellowmen. He was in his eightieth year and up to the time of his death was mentally and physically well preserved and so active as many at a much younger age. He will be greatly missed especially in the community in which his life was spent and in the welfare of which he always took a keen interest. His surviving children are Dr. Judson F. Clark of Vancouver, B. C.; Dr. Jeremiah S. Clark, Brandon, Man.; Mr. J. A. Clark, Superintendent, Experimental Station, Charlottetown; the Misses Martha and Lella, Missionaries in India, now on furlough and who were with him in Kamloops, and Miss Irene nurse in Vancouver General Hospital. There are also four sisters, Mrs. William Simpson, Vancouver, B. C.; Mrs. William McNeill Simpson, Hamilton, this Province; Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Brookfield; the Misses Mary Jane and Matilda, Kensington. To the bereaved relatives The Guardian tenders sincere sympathy.

MRS. JAMES MOYNAGH.

On the morning of October 13th there took place a very sad event in Souris when that stern and inevitable vision, death, entered the home of James Moynagh and claimed his beloved wife. The deceased had been ailing for about a year but at all times exhibited a mild and genial character which was a striking characteristic of her life. Cared for most tenderly, her every wish anticipated and supplied by her devoted relatives and friends, Mrs. Moynagh lingered until the worn out body could retain the heroic spirit no longer. During all this long illness Mrs. Moynagh's strong, courageous spirit demonstrated how a true Christian woman can endure sickness and weakness of body. About a month ago it became evident that death was hovering about the home and, in spite of skilled medical aid, it finally claimed her as a victim.

The long funeral cortege that followed the remains to their resting place amply testified to the high esteem in which she was held. The last solemn rites were performed by Rev. R. B. McDonald after which all that was mortal of a good and true woman was laid to rest in the adjoining cemetery. The funeral was under the skilful management of Funeral Director, W. L. Dingwell. The deceased leaves to mourn besides a sorrow-stricken husband, two sons, Edward in Souris and James in Seattle, Wash., sister in Gloucester, Mass.; two brothers on P. Island, and one brother in California. The late Mrs. Moynagh was, in the community and to all her acquaintances a general favorite and a woman of good and pleasing qualities. The community at large share in the sorrow of the grief-stricken family in their sad bereavement.

MRS. ANGUS McDONALD.

The community of Tryon was saddened by the death of Mrs. Angus MacDonald which took place on 19th inst. Deceased had been in poor health for some time, being confined to bed for over three months. The end, however, came suddenly and with something of a shock. On Sabbath the 18th, she took suddenly worse. All that loving hands could do was done to stay death, but on Monday night she passed quietly away. Mrs. MacDonald was not only respected and beloved in the community. Many will miss her kindly, cheery presence and the warmth of her smile. Her thought was ever of others and in seeking the welfare of her fellow beings, she did not hesitate to sacrifice herself. There is an old verse which reads: "At eventide there shall be light." It was so with her. When the dark clouds of physical suffering hovered over her the light which is eternal flamed her soul. When the flame of life was burning low—the flame of the hope which is eternal waxed greater. She passed as the "morning star which goes not down behind a dark horizon but melts away into the light of Heaven.

There are left to mourn their loss a husband, two step-daughters and a son Kenneth. Also her father, Wm. Chisholm, three sisters, Mrs. Waite, of Bedeque, Mrs. F. Lang of Tryon, Miss Grace at the old home and a brother James of Tryon.

Funeral service which was held at the home were conducted by the pastor of the Presbyterian Church assisted by Rev. G. M. Young.

The pall-bearers were Mr. Waite of Bedeque, Mr. P. Cameron of Albany, Mr. F. Lang and Mr. Jas. Chisholm of Tryon.

ANGUS B. McDONALD.

On Thursday morning, October 15th the vicinity of Little Pond was saddened by the death of Angus B. McDonald. He enjoyed excellent health until about a week previous to his death when he was stricken with pleuro-pneumonia from which he never recovered. The deceased spent thirty-five years in the Western States, the greater part being spent in Seattle, and about four years ago returned to his old home in Little Pond where he remained with his late brother's family. Since his return to his native home his kind disposition won for him many friends, especially among the youth of the place. During his illness, which he endured with great patience and resignation to the Divine Will, he was comforted by the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church and in its comforts he passed to his eternal reward. He leaves to mourn, besides a large circle of friends and relations one sister, Mrs. John Morrison, Georgetown Royalty and one brother Joseph in Butte, Montana, also his late brother's widow, Mrs. D. J. Macdonald, and family to whom he was a devoted friend and uncle. On Saturday his remains were carried to St. Francis De Sales Church where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor Rev. Dr. Walker. Then after Mass all that was mortal of a kind brother and uncle was laid to rest in the adjoining cemetery there to await the final summons on the resurrection morn.

Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord! And let perpetual light shine upon him.
