Accident To Steamer Halifax

The steamer Halifax, owing to an accident, did not get away from this port at the usual time on her last trip. As the last of the cargo was being put aboard at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, the steamer suddenly listed towards the starboard and the result was that the water rushed into the vessel's hold in tons, for the reason that the cargo doors were open. Owing to the fact that the water was rushing in from the sides of the wharf, getting in the way it took nearly an hour to close the cargo doors, and by the time this was accomplished the ship was down by the stern almost to the level of her deck. In the hurry and excitement the wrong door was closed first, which left an opening and owing to the pressure of water from outside the door could not be forced back. The result was that the inrush of water continued to a considerable extent. By the placing of canvas over the doors and caulking the seams the flow was retarded quite a lot. The fire hose was also used to work on the door, but the water was so high that the pumps were put in operation as fast as possible and a battle ensued between the pumps and the leakage. The pumps finally got the upper hand and the water gradually started to rise, and by two o'clock was sufficiently pumped out so as to be able to start on her return trip to Halifax and Boston.

The cause of the accident is ascribed to the fact that probably too much cargo was piled on the upper deck, and not sufficient between the decks. The principal part of the cargo was turpentine, some 1500 gallons of potatoes. The loading was so conducted as to keep the steamer trimmed properly and there was not a symptom of a list a few minutes before she heeled over. Another theory which sounds plausible is that she was resting on the edge of the mud bank, as it was low tide, and that as the tide fell she may have suddenly slipped off the bank. This might have the effect of shifting the cargo to one side and causing the list which put the cargo doors beneath the surface. The accident caused quite a lot of excitement and many people collected on the wharf during the forenoon to watch the progress of the pumping. Some of the second class cabin passengers had the novel and disagreeable sensation of finding quite a flow of water in their cabins and may be imagined no little extent alarmed at first. Those of the passengers decide to make their return to Boston by rail but the others decided to stand by the ship, realizing that the accident could have no effect on the steamer when once she was pumped dry. The following were the outward passengers:

- Miss P. Wilson, Mrs. J. Mahoney, Miss P. Grant, Miss S. L. Ryan, Miss M. A. Ryan, Miss Wilson, Miss H. DeChamps, Miss L. Jackman, Miss E. Lockman, Mrs. D. E. Brooks, Miss E. Brooks, Miss D. Wilson, Miss B. Cortis, Miss J. Cairns, Mrs. K. J. MacEachern, Miss M. Fisher, Miss Matthew, V. McCormick, Edward McDonald, Miss Maud E. Ball, Miss V. McIsaac, J. McNair, C. A. Morse, Mrs. Morse, J. W. McPhee, Mrs. Cameron, Miss Cameron, D. L. Ford, Mrs. Ford, Miss M. B. Farmer, Mrs. J. M. Grant, Miss R. Murphy, John Murphy, Miss C. Comisky, A. Bell, Miss A. Chesbrough, J. A. McDonald, Mrs. J. E. Murphy.

While on vacation, Rev. W. J. Patton, evangelist of St. Paul's Church, Halifax, preached last Sunday in St. Peter's Church, Ottawa, and also on Monday evening in Christ Church Killdare Capes, to large congregations. His sermons were greatly appreciated. Mr. Patton left for Halifax, by way of Charlottetown on Thursday. When he visits the island again he is sure of a hearty welcome.

King's County Exhibition

centre of attraction during the afternoon. In the handwork class the Women's Institutes had on exhibition several pieces of cloth in which vegetable dyes had been used which produced very successful shades. The quality of the cloth also was excellent. Home woven rugs and wool shawls were shown in very pretty designs and colors.

An interesting feature was the flax exhibits by Miss McFarlane of Brooklyn, Mrs. Kemp, and Mrs. Walsh of St. Theresa's. The flax was first shown in its original form after it had been hatched, spun, twisted, and finally woven. There were samples of the spun flax shown in tablecloths and towels one of which had been bleached.

The fancy work was judged by Mrs. Morrison to be excellent. The classes were very well filled and all the work of a very high order. The housekeeping which was judged by Miss McFarlane was found to be superior to that of any other year. The preserved fruit and pickles in particular were more numerous than last year and were also of excellent quality. The bread section was not as well filled as last year but without exception was excellent.

Mr. Tait, of Charlottetown, who judged the flowers, considered them good for the time of year, all classes being well filled. The sweet peas in particular were excellent. The butter and cheese was judged by Mr. A. D. McLellan. The butter was very good and the number of entries far exceeded that of last year. The quality of the cheese was excellent but the number of entries was not up to the average. In the fifth and miscellaneous class the oatmeal and flour were considered by Mr. Moore to be very fine. The canned goods were also above the average. The fruit was magnificent and taking it generally was far ahead of the Provincial Exhibition. The apples and pears, especially Platt's favourite, were exceptionally good. Mr. Clarke, of the Experimental Farm, had a nice exhibit of model poultry houses arranged for feeding sheep. Also improved barns for the latter. Samples of wheat and grain were shown in seed as well as in sheaves. The flowers and vegetables grown on the Experimental Farm were also good.

In the cattle class the quality was superior to the class shown at Souris and the sections were well filled. A good type of Avshire cattle and a fair exhibit of Holstein were shown. Some splendid Avshires and Jersey cows were exhibited by George Martin of New Perth, Mont Annear, of Perth, and Thomas Heaney of Georgetown. Much attention was given to A. W. Morrow's Holsteins. The Shorthorns might be improved as the Judge considered them the best dual-purpose cow for this country. The exhibit compared favourably with the fair of a similar kind shown at Souris. The sheep exhibitors who entered a large number of animals, were Keenan Bros., of Georgetown Royalty, Stewart Bros., of Murray River, and Casius Clay of Bridgetown.

The class was well filled and compared favourably with that of other years. The pigs were of excellent quality, but the number of entries was not as large as in former years. Some which took prizes at the Provincial Exhibition were put in second and third places here.

The Yorkshire's under six months were the best ever exhibited in the province. The horses were fairly good taking the class all through. It compared very favourably with those at the Charlottetown Exhibition. The carriage stallion was considered excellent. The draught stallion and cart horses were good but the sections were not so well filled as those of the carriage horses which were of a superior quality as well as numerous in the entries.

Shot By A Fellow Officer

(Canadian Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, October 3.—Lieutenant C. E. Oakes, of the 16th Brockville Battalion, was instantly killed at Rockfield musketry school today by a bullet accidentally fired from a rifle in the hands of a fellow officer. Formal inquiry is under way before a military tribunal, but the main facts of the tragedy are known. Oakes and the other officer were at firing practice with dummy ammunition. The method in this particular part of the course is that one officer is sighting the rifle and the other takes the aim at it and fires five rounds, unloaded shells being used simply to operate the mechanism of the rifle. The officer wearing the disc is able to see whether the rifle is being held true and to correct any defects in aim. The two officers today were taking turns at the test and in some unexplained manner a loaded cartridge got into the magazine. The bullet entered Oakes' eye and passed clear through his head. The dead officer was about thirty years of age and the son of William Oakes, of North Augusta, Ont.

Hostility Towards German Chancellor
(Canadian Press Despatch.)
BERLIN, Oct. 3.—(Via London, Oct. 4.) The campaign against Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, is daily assuming a more tangible form. One of the latest developments is a circular demanding the retirement of the Chancellor, which has been sent by a vociferous group of his opponents to such members of the Reichstag as are considered open to their arguments.

The indictment covers almost everything in the Chancellor's conduct of foreign affairs before and during the war. Attacks are made in particular on his attempts to reach an agreement with England, his first attitude towards Belgian neutrality, and naturally his policy in the submarine issue.

Another factor, which is disturbing the political situation is a breach of the political truce proclaimed at the outset of the war, which has been made by the Saxon Socialists. This faction has determined to run a candidate for the seat in the Reichstag vacated by the death of the Conservative, Ernest Eduard Gleis. This determination violates the general agreement between the political parties that all vacant seats shall be resigned without consent to the party holding them at the outset of the war.

Meanwhile the Chancellor and the Reichstag leaders continue to discuss the points at issue behind closed doors. The discussion is being conducted on an even more confidential basis than before. It is being no longer held before the full committee on ways and means to which all members of the Reichstag are admitted as auditors, but in a small select committee of party leaders, who are specially bound to secrecy. Such reports as leak out say that while the long fight for the seat in the Reichstag and his opponents has not disappeared, the discussion is now being conducted on the basis of reason and not of passion. It is believed that there is a good prospect that an agreement will be reached which will avoid the Reichstag.
