GLOWING DEMONSTRATION AT SUMMERSIDE

Citizens Turn Out In Large Numbers To View Silver Jubilee Parade

In spite of showers of rain Summerside citizens turned out in large numbers for the Silver Jubilee celebration yesterday. Crowds lined the streets along which the parade passed. Many of the buildings floated gaily from the buildings and everyone felt that not for years had the town been so gay.

The patriotic music of the band, the bright uniforms of the soldiers, and the happy school children, waving small Union Jacks as they marched along, made a very festive and memorable occasion. The parade commenced at 9:30 when the parade left the Town Hall and following a certain route came to a halt at Dominion Square where the chief celebrations were carried out.

The procession was headed by the Marshal, Major T. H. E. Inman and a colour party in charge of Lieut. J. S. Wright.

Right behind them was a detachment of the R. C. M. P. on horseback and City. The Nurses in uniform and members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion. War veterans, wearing their medals, were in the command of Col. E. H. Strong, V. C. Boy Scouts in charge of Scout Master, E. J. Hallett, Band, Mayors and Councilmen, High School children, pupils of St. Mary's Academy, Firemen, Brotherhood of Trades and Labour, and public.

During the march the band played patriotic airs.

Upon arrival at the square the different units were arranged round the Grand stand with the children in front. It was a colourful scene not soon to be forgotten by the vast throng of citizens who had assembled.

The ceremonies opened with the singing of "O Canada" by the children, followed by the playing of the national anthem.

Mayor Lidstone then took charge and called to the platform all those who were to receive the Silver Jubilee Medal. The Mayor then spoke a few words of welcome and in fitting terms referred to the celebrations of the day in which Summerside with the rest of the British Empire, the greatest Empire the world has ever known, has the privilege of taking part. In all parts of the world similar celebrations are going on, and the citizens of our own city, with others in prayer and thanksgiving for their Majesties that they may continue to reign over a united Empire for many years to come.

Councillor J. M. Nicholson in an eloquent address referred to the majesty of the King and the Queen, and his own devotion to duty and his unselfish labour for the welfare of his subjects at home and abroad.

He spoke also of our gracious Queen Mary, who was beloved by all for her noble and dignified character, and the dignity with which she has fulfilled her duties as wife, mother and Queen.

God Save and Bless our King.

Mr. G. J. McLellan, D.D., V.G., in his address spoke of the loyal devotion of the people of Britain for their King, of their love and affection for one who has guided the destinies of this great Empire for the past 25 years.

He reminded the people that while other nations had witnessed the overthrow of thrones and empires the British Empire had become more firmly rooted than ever and the King and his gracious subjects are loved with a deep and abiding love which is being demonstrated in all parts of the Empire in this great occasion.

It was very fitting that this great celebration should have begun with prayers and thanksgiving in the churches throughout the Empire, as His Majesty has always sought the help and guidance of a Heavenly Father, the King of Kings, during the anxious times of which his reign has been filled. We may be favored with enjoying a peace within the empire such as every other country enjoys and it is very fitting that our prayers should be up today for our King, God Save our King.

CANADIAN GARDEN

(Gordon Lindsay Smith)

Spread out Vegetables. It is advisable to make several sowing of each vegetable. Otherwise all mature at the same time, and then there will be a feast or a famine. After all, with such things as radish, spinach, peas, corn or practically anything else for that matter the time they are really worth eating is when they are fresh, that is just mature, and taken right out of the garden. They must be quickly grown and used immediately when they have reached the proper size. New vegetables will deteriorate whether they are left in storage or ripening in the vegetable rows. To avoid this sort of thing the good gardener has his vegetables coming along continuously, a few feet of lettuce and baby carrots, which are ready to be put in storage or ripening in the vegetable rows. Planting and Thinning. Seed should not be sown too deep and plants should not be allowed to grow too close together. Very fine seeds like that of the poppy and alyssum, for instance, is best mixed with a little sand and the mixture sown, otherwise the seed will not go very far and will be put in much too close together. With such small seed merely pressing into the prepared soil will be sufficient. This will mean pressing in most flowers except things like Caster Beans, Nasturtiums and Sweet Peas, which are large and should be covered about an inch deep. Bulbs, or Gladioli, may be put down quite a piece, from four inches to a foot. Fine vegetable seed such as lettuce and carrots is merely pressed well into the soil and raked lightly over. Beans buried about half an inch and peas and peas about an inch. Thinning of both flowers and vegetables is most important after the plants are up an inch or so. With flowers a good rule is to have half as much space between as the plants will be high. This will be about a foot between ordinary Marigolds, Petunias and Asters, two to three feet between Cosmos and Dahlias but only an inch or so separating tiny Alyssum, Lobelia and other edging plants. Well spaced flowers will be more sturdy and thus resist heavy wind and rain. Even the smallest vegetables such as lettuce and radish, must be thinned too. An inch or so will be sufficient and that is also all the room that will be needed for carrots and beets, because when these things have developed roots an inch thick and two or three long every other plant should be removed and used, and this proceeding followed until the whole row is used up.

Sowing and Resowing. First flowers to be sown are those very hardy kinds which naturally reproduce themselves in Canada, such as Cosmos, California Poppy, Alyssum, Calendula and Gandalf. In the second group are the Zinnia, Marigold, Nasturtium, Stocks, Aster and Petunia, which do not stand serious frost, and of the tender things which must be held over are the Dahlias, Cannas, and Gladioli. As the latter are all bulbs and do not come up until a week or so after planting they may be sowed within a few days of the arrival of really warm weather. One is well advised to save a lit-

HOLMAN'S BOTH STORES

OFFICIATES AT THANKSGIVING SERVICE

By Thomas T. Champion Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 4.—Here are humbly sketches of the chief officials at Monday's great thanksgiving service for the King's Jubilee in St. Paul's Cathedral Monday:

The Archbishop of Canterbury: His Grace the Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang. Aged 69, he was translated from the Archbishopric of York on the resignation of Randall Davidson in 1928. Such a translation was unusual but was probably prompted because Archbishop Lang was deemed the most suitable to smooth out the difficulties created through parliament's rejection of the new prayer book.

His reputation for sagacity, like that of his immediate predecessor, seems to increase with the length of his own years. His address at the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of Kent in November struck the imagination of the whole world.

The Bishop of London: Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram. Aged 77, he has been Bishop of London for 34 years a record for centuries. He declares only an act of Parliament will cause him to retire. According to popular rumor he addresses his clergy sometimes as old chap. His goodwill towards all men is widely known. Although many influential churchmen deplore the lack of discipline in the London diocese, he is well known in Canada.

The Dean of St. Paul's: Rev. Dr. Walter Matthews, aged 54, came from the Deanery of Exeter when Dean Inge retired last year. Obviously it is very difficult to follow in the footsteps of the noted Inge. But Dr. Matthews has handsome presence, an excellent delivery and an abundance of scholarship, all of which he has already shown in his readiness to place himself at the service of London's citizens.

The Canon: Rev. S. A. Alexander is 69, and has been treasurer of the Cathedral for 25 years. His fine head for business is as valuable as his scholarship. He has raised nearly half a million pounds ($2,500,000) for the restoration and preservation of St. Paul's and has been mainly responsible for the details of the ceremonial ritual for Monday's service.

The Organist—Stanley Marchant. Aged 52, he previously was sub-organist. He is a thoroughly up-to-date St. Paul's musician, established and maintained by predecessors like Attwood, Goss, Blaizer and Martin, which brought from Gounod the declaration St. Paul's rendered the finest communion service in London.

Dr. Sidney Malcolm Berry, who will read the lesson, is aged 53. He participates as moderator of the Federal Council of Evangelical free Churches. His pupil eloquence and administrative ability constitute him one of the most important leaders of English non-conformity. He has held many pastorates, including Carr Lane Chapel at Birmingham where he succeeded such eminent preachers as Dale and Jowett.
