Starring Victor McLaglen, with John Loder, eminent British actor, as the victim of McLaiglen's injustice, the drama tells the story of the discovery of diamonds in South Africa. In the cast with McLaglen and Loder are Anne Nagel, Philip Dorn, Cecil Kellaway, Francis Ford, Anthony Hughes, Ferris Taylor, Lionel Belmore and other well known screen players.

The "Night Train To Munich" Wins Praise Of Toronto's Critics

"Night Train To Munich", at the Prince Edward Theatre, is timely, topical and up-to-date minute, a thrill-packed romantic drama, punctuated with refreshing humour and deserving of being chosen as one of the year's "ten best" films. Margaret Lockwood, who made a hit in "The Lady Vanishes" is co-starring with Rex Harrison, who appeared to such advantage with Robert Donat in "The Citadel". Heading the supporting cast is Paul von Herrried, who scored in "Goodbye Mr. Chips". The film also serves to reintroduce the hilarious comedy team of Basil Radford and Naughton Wayne, who enlivened the proceedings of "The Lady Vanishes" as the cricketering comers. It was directed by Carol Reed, one of England's foremost young directors.

The action commences in Czechoslovakia before, during and after Germany's seizure of that unhappy country and then proceeds to England, later to wartime Berlin and Munich and finally to Switzerland. It shows the daring work of a young

Mr. Somers will however be in charge of St. James from Sept. 11.

HERE FROM WINNIPEG — Among the visitors here at present is the Rev. J. Eustace Purdie, B.D., D.D., Principal of the Western Bible College, Winnipeg, who is the guest of his brother Mr. W. E. Purdie and Mrs. Purdie, 13 Sydney Street. Dr. Purdie has been on a Bible Teaching Tour for some weeks through a number of Canadian cities, ministering to splendid congregations with encouraging results.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT — City firemen were called out twice Saturday morning in the space of an hour. The first at 9:15 was a still alarm resulting when a tractor backed. The next one at 9:58 was at the rear of W. W. Welner, Ltd., when a pot of boiling tar accidentally overturned. In both cases their services were not required.

CHURCH PARADE — Army and navy units presented an imposing sight yesterday morning on parade through the City streets. His Hon. Lieut. Governor B. W. FAREWELL GATHERING — On Friday evening, July 25th, over one hundred people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sherry, Fernwood, to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Swithan McKenna, Fernwood, who was leaving the following week to resume his studies for a Redemptorist Father at St. John, N. B. A very appropriate address was read by Thomas, son of Mr. Basil Sherry of Albany while Mr. Brendan Sherry, Fernwood, presented the well filled purse which showed the esteem in which Thomas is held by his many friends both old and young. Although taken by surprise he very fittingly replied thanking one and all for their thoughtfulness and assured them that he would never forget them. A delightful luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by a number of the ladies present, after which a few hours was whiled away in dancing.

CHURCH GATHERING — The concert and dance held at Tracadia Friday night in aid of the Catholic Church there was a very successful and enjoyable function. It was staged by Mrs. Angie Garvey of Dover, N. H., a native of the parish. The program included step dancing, gigs and reels, novelty dances and recitations, and the Highland Fling by Miss Ethel Weatherbie of Nova Scotia. Mrs. Garvey and her sister Mrs. Jessie MacNeil, danced the Irish-sivanna and the former provided the violin music. Mrs. Garvey has had much experience as an entertainer in New Hampshire having staged many successful concerts. She left on Sunday for Nova Scotia enroute to Dover, N. H., accompanied by her two sons, Leo F. Garvey and John Emerson, who speak very highly of the scenic beauties of the Island and the hospitality of the people. They intend to return to the province next year.

NO PLANE MISSING — Search for a plane reported to have crashed in the water of St. John's Bay Friday night was abandoned Saturday when a check of airports in the Maritimes failed to reveal any plane missing. The crash was reported by a guest at Dalvay House who said the plane went down in the sea "trailing black smoke". That was about dusk Friday. Later in the night planes from the Royal Air Force at Charlottetown went out and dropped flares in an endeavour to locate any wreckage which might be floating. Then at daylight more planes from the Charlottetown airport joined the search and residents of the north shore area said they saw a flying boat circling around, apparently engaged in the search. No trace of wreckage or oil was found, either by searchers from the air or by sea and it was assumed the Dalvay House guest was mistaken in the semi-darkness.

From the opening shot to the final fade-out, the action of "Night Train To Munich" speeds from one thrilling moment to another, with hairbreadth escapes, romantic moments and refreshing humour. Its local engagement follows record-breaking runs in other Canadian cities and provides a real treat for all lovers of clever entertainment. Patrons are urged by the management to attend the early showings possible to avoid the crowds.

CREWS WERE CHANGED — A last-minute switch of plane crews was made at a British airport. One plane carried 23 bomber-loads worth of old coils, the other carried Lord Beaverbrook and J. P. Bickell (ABOVE) to Canada. Mr. Bickell, the Toronto Mine magnate who went to England a year and three weeks ago to assist Lord Beaverbrook in speeding plane production, came back en route to Washington.

The pallbearers were: Herbert Kielly, Isaac Lawson, Thomas Horgan, William MacDonald, and John A. McLaughlin. Interment was at Stanhope Cemetery.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS — While only some of the public schools in this province have opened for the fall term there are indications of a shortage of teachers. It was learned over the weekend, while no official figure will be available until after the first of September it is known that more than a score of schools which were scheduled to resume classes August 12 have not yet opened. Practically all the medically fit male teachers in the province are serving with the armed forces. Many of the girl teachers are with the civil service department at Ottawa. The situation has changed radically since 1935 when there were an estimated three teachers for every teaching position in the province. It is expected when all teachers available have been employed there will be few if any schools without teachers. In some places, however, school boards are almost despairing of finding anyone qualified to take charge of the district's rural schools.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. Ross C. Eaton, B.D., took as the subject of his morning sermon "The Necessity of God." Taking his text from Paim 127:1, "Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it," he pointed out that religion is all or nothing, the first thing and the last thing, life falls into place only with God. God is an intellectual being and His truth give us the only key to life. God is an emotional necessity. Poor and feeble is a universe without love, God, our Father in Love, God is a moral necessity. Evil precedes today on a titanic scale, our hearts deep instincts call for justice and truth, except the Lord build, other effort is vain. God is a social necessity. We hope we pray, we long for a better world and such a new and better world must be built on the eternal rock of Almighty God. Handel's "O Lord Corcorat Me" was exclusively by Miss Delys Owen. The sermon at the evening service was delivered by the Rev. Kenneth Eaton, son of the Rev. R. C. Eaton, an address marked by originality, subtlety and power. Mr. Eaton gave a notable rendering of Elfinger's "I Shall Not Pass this Way Again." John Inch, Mus.Bac., organist and choirmaster, was in charge of the music for the day.

circles. He insisted the sabotage was the work of the Communists who he claimed revived their activities after the start of the German-Russian war.

Mr. report said the car carrying the Germans was smashed Saturday night when it sped into a cable stretched across a street at night in Puteau, one of the "red ring" working class suburbs. The Germans were said to have been injured; the terrorists escaped. This was the first reported act against German troops since Lt. Gen. Von Schaumburg, commander of the occupation forces, announced Saturday that all French held by or for German authorities in France would be hostages for the safety of German soldiers.

The order provided that in case of a "criminal act" against the troops "a number of hostages corresponding to the gravity of the act committed will be shot."

Reports from occupied France said guards had been drafted among the civilian population to protect the railroads against sabotage attempts. The guards will be held personally responsible for such attempts, it was stated.

News of the new anti-German incident was received in Vichy as interior minister Pierre Pucheu released a statement claiming that Communist disorders are planned to paralyze the government by provoking German reprisals.

On Saturday a decree, published in the official journal turned over to military courts cases involving Communists and Leftists, with the death penalty provided and no appeal possible.

Even as the Vichy cabinet gaddered for its weekly session word reached Vichy of a new train wreck in the unoccupied zone at the entrance to the Valdonne Tunnel east of Marseille Saturday. Thirty m/men were injured.

The Petain death-for-Communist activities decree published Saturday was drafted Aug. 14, the same day the German military command made a similar ruling because of the demonstrations and shootings in Paris Aug. 12.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS FOR AIR RAID VICTIMS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the thoughtful suffering of many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are barred from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them, all places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.

To meet these enormous needs, funds have been started in various parts of the world. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth has permitted the use of her name in connection with the Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims."

Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homeless and needy.

Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown, which reports the following receipts to date:

Received yesterday:—
Bay Fortune Young People's Society—$10.00.
Miss Adele Bowness, Summerside—$4.00.
Miss Ely McEwen, Lower Montague—$3.00.
Mrs. William H. McEwen, New Dominion—$2.00.
Previously acknowledged — $2,834.77.
Total—$2,853.77.

Premier King

Another officer, asked if he had discovered from the men any reason for the boozing, merely replied: "Boozing is contagious."

Days before Mr. King's visit some soldiers had spoken of giving him a "warm reception." These argued that the Canadian army should have been given a place beside the Australians in the eastern campaign, and that conscription for overseas service should be introduced.

Anxiety for activity on the part of the men was reflected in the enthusiastic reception given the Prime Minister when he shouted into the microphone: "I gather from the applause that many of you are impatient and would rather be engaged in more active operations than you are today."

The cheering, clapping and whistling which greeted these words — a retort to previous boos — made the greatest sound volume of the day. The boozing was comparatively mild when Mr. King first stepped into the view of the crowd to inaugurate the guard of honor but became more audible even though handclapping increased among the officers in the forward part of the grandstand.

Boozing Outdid Applause

Later, when during an interval in the sports he crossed the field with Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, to make his brief address, the reception was again mixed. As the corps commander finished his words of appreciation for the boozing outdid the applause. During the outburst, which lasted several seconds, Gen. McNaughton never changed his stern expression, staring straight ahead into the stands. Handclapping accompanied the Prime Minister's return to the stand where he resumed his seat to watch the remainder of the meet.

The mixed reception accorded the Prime Minister, who arrived in Britain Wednesday on a trans-Atlantic flight by bomber, started when he entered the stadium. There was another demonstration when Mr. King started to speak.

The occasion for the Prime Minister's speech was a field day attended by 10,000 Canadian soldiers — the largest gathering of them ever assembled, it was believed, in Britain. Mr. King, wearing a raincoat over his blue suit, arrived with Lt. Gen. McNaughton after attending a luncheon at which he met the senior officers.

As he passed in front of the stadium mixed cheers and boos greeted him. Then the boos subsided and there was much applause as Mr. King walked across the track to inspect the guard of honor of the Black Watch. Handclapping, cheering and boozing broke out again after the inspection, and it lasted for a few seconds.

Gen. McNaughton then stepped to the microphone and briefly introduced the Prime Minister, concluding with the words "I take pleasure in introducing to you the Prime Minister of Canada." The boozing broke out again from the rear of the grand stand and it drowned out the applause and cheers from the front rows.

Mr. King looked up at the stand, smiled, took a tighter grip of his umbrella and advanced to the microphone, his first words did not come through and the crowd shouted: "Speak up, speak up!"

Mr. King said:—
"I bring the Canadian soldiers overseas a message from the hearts of those dearest to them—a message from their homes to tell them that day in and day out they are in the thoughts and prayers of those nearest them."

The Prime Minister spoke of his recent trans-Canada tour. He had found that everywhere the talk was of the men overseas.

"No words can begin to express the pride which the people of Canada have for the men serving overseas," he declared.

He told the men Canadians are
