What is the use of telling the rheumatist that he feels as if his joints were being dislocated? He knows that his sufferings are very much like the tortures of the rack. What he wants to know is what will permanently cure his disease.

That, according to thousands of grateful testimonials, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It promptly neutralizes the acid in the blood on which the disease depends, completely eliminates it, and strengthens the system against its return. Try Hood's.

Pickling Season

The pickling season has arrived and like many other duties the pickling of them is postponed from time to time and at last the anxious housekeeper is face to face with the fact that the season has come and gone and those toothsome dainties so dear to men's palates are beyond their reach.

The pickling season only lasts a short time and the time to put them down is when the material to make them is at its cheapest. That season is now, not next week.

Every housekeeper should make their own pickles, you know then what you have, much of the imported article is decidedly unwholesome.

Considering the worthiness of the object only a meagre audience greeting the Y. M. C. A. Exhibition in the Opera house last evening, but all who attended were pleased and delighted with the various performances. The Juniors in their dumb bell and wand drills were uniform and regular in every movement, showing careful and painstaking training on the part of those who had them in charge while the different numbers given by the seniors were of the highest order. The club swinging Mr. Louis McIntyre was a pleasing feature and called forth much applause. The slack wire walking by Mr. W. S. Robb was a feat truly wonderful and kept the audience one moment spell bound and the next bursting into applause. The closing number was comic in the extreme and provoked roars of laughter from the onlookers. The clown as usual came in for his share of attention. A unique feature of the entertainment was the human pyramid building by the seniors. Several forms of this were given which were much admired and commented on. The exhibition all through was excellent and worthy of greater patronage than it received.
