The J. D. Hazen Will Arrive Shortly In the St. Lawrence

(Special to The Guardian) OTTAWA, July 15.—The ice breaker J. D. Hazen re-purchased by the Government for work on the St. Lawrence will arrive in a few weeks. The ship early in the war was sold to Russia and afterwards became the property of the French Government, from which she was bought some time ago for $400,000. Extensive repairs have been made and the ship is now classified Al at Lloyds. The re-purchase of the Hazen was decided on in place of building a new ship at a cost of $1,500,000. The contract for the latter had been awarded but was cancelled after the change of government.

Need Authority Flags In Church

LONDON, July 15.—Serious difficulties arise in hundreds of Anglican parishes where flags have been placed in churches without a faculty, as a result of the granting by the chancellor of the consistory court of Chelmsford of an application from some of the parishioners of Rev. Conrad Noel, vicar of Thaxted, for a faculty directing the removal of Sinn Fein and Bolshevik flags from the Thaxted church. The argument of Rev. Mr. Noel's counsel that a faculty was not required for the placing of flags in a church, except where they were part of a permanent memorial affixed to the fabric of the church, was rejected by the chancellor of the consistory court of Chelmsford. There are hundreds of churches in which flags have been placed without a faculty. Rev. Mr. Noel has hopes that the church generally will assist him in taking the Thaxted case to a higher court.

Ontario Crops Good But Help Is Scarce

TORONTO, July 15.—Much of Ontario's first crop of sweet clover has been harvested, and the hay crop has also been gathered in some of the more advanced districts of the province. Cutting of fall wheat is well under way in many counties, according to the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Some points complain of rust, owing to much wet weather, and the Heslar fly has been giving trouble. Corn fields are reported somewhat disappointing, but the root crops are showing up well. Among the fruits, cherries, gooseberries, and currants are giving a generous yield. Raspberries are doing better than was expected earlier in the season. "There has been general complaint of the scarcity of help," the report concludes, "although farmers are willing to pay good wages to fair workers. Many farmers have had to struggle alone or with family help only in harvesting their various crops."

QUEBEC'S PURSE SWOLLEN BY PROFITS ON LIQUOR

MONTREAL, July 15.—Patrons of the Quebec liquor commission stores whose ranks have been liberally enforced by visiting tourists have guaranteed a provincial treasury surplus this year which will smash all previous records. British Newspaper Criticizes Canada

(Special to The Guardian) LONDON, July 15.—Here is an illustration of the way in which the Lloyd George Government tempers with the constitution fabric, explains the Saturday Review, with reference to the visit of the Canadian Premier, Mr. King, to discuss the appointment of a Canadian Minister to the United States. "The Saturday Review says the Dominion Parliament recently voted money for the creation of the post and continues: 'We suppose that the matter which has provoked differences among the Canadians themselves must now be regarded as settled. In a statement made in 1920 it was alleged that the proposed arrangements denoted a change in the diplomatic unity of the Empire though obviously it does not. It is an entirely new departure.' The Review adds 'and in our view it is warranted because a Canadian Commercial attaché on permanent staff at the Washington Embassy would meet the case perfectly well.' The review promises to return to the subject later.

Quebec Farmers Will Not Unite With Any Party

(Special to The Guardian) MONTREAL, July 13.—The United Farmers of Quebec have no intention of entering into alliance with any provincial organization. They intend to remain a separate entity and work for the good of the farmers of the province, and will countenance no surrender of any plank in their platform for the sake of an alliance with anybody. This is from J. M. Pontreil, official organ of Quebec Agriculture. Any talk that is heard, he said, to the Standard, and any statements made to the effect that an alliance is considered are worthless and without foundation. The Farmers Association are able to do their own talking and until we make an announcement there is no danger of amalgamation or alliance with any political party. We are Farmers and intend to remain Farmers and stick to our platform.

WIFE WINS LIVING WITH BOXING GLOVES

BOSTON, July 14.—When her husband fell ill, and the responsibility of caring for him and their three children fell upon her shoulders, twenty-three year old Mrs. Ellie Graves had a light on her hands. And, getting a pair of boxing gloves, she literally began to fight for a living. Since then she has become so capable with her mitts that she is quite a card at boxing events, and has issued a challenge to any woman in the world of her weight. Ellie looks less like a female prize fighter than a demure school girl. "But how she can battle. Men who have faced her testify that there's dynamite in her left hook. 'I want to be the woman champion prize fighter of the world,'" she said to the reporter. The evening before she was interviewed she had given Al Delmont, former lightweight champion of New England, a run for his money at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. at Charlestown. "It may feel strange to many women that I should be so interested in boxing, but I have always loved it," she continued. "I was brought up in the country and always played baseball and basketball when attending high school. I always had a keen desire to become a wrestler or boxer."

CZAR'S TOMB EMPTY

MYTH MAY BE FACT REVEL, July 16.—One of the strange tales told by Russians for almost a century, has represented Alexander I. as having left the throne to become a monk. Officially he died in 1825, at the age of 48, and was buried in the Oupenski Cathedral, with full ceremony. Rumors came from the vicinity of Taganrog, however, that one Fathor Theodore Kousnitch (or Formich), known for his piety, closely resembled Alexander, and was treated with utmost respect by the imperial authorities until his death in 1870. Prince Volkensky, a Russian historian, wrote a book, telling of the last days of this monk, and saying he was really Alexander. Nobody was ever able to verify this tale. Now, however, the Soviet authorities have proved that Alexander was not buried in the Oupenski Cathedral. In the search for jewels the tombs of the czars have been opened and in that of Alexander no body was found. In his later years Alexander disagreed with many of the traditions of his house and became a mystic. Before he disappeared he spent most of his time in prayer. The Bolsheviks are incidentally reported to have opened the grave of Paul I. and taken from it the huge diamond cross of the Order of Knight of Malta, which was laid on his breast when he was buried. Paul was grandmaster of the Order.

LUDENDORFF, IN SIGNED STATEMENT SAYS COMMUNISTS KILLED RATHENAU

Declares That Socialistic Government in Germany Would Threaten the Culture and Civilization of the Whole World.

BERLIN, July 15.—The following signed statement was written today by General Erich von Ludendorff, German war chief and one close to the Monarchist regime: "Socialistic Government would be disastrous in Germany because it would Bolshevize Germany. With Germany and Russia both Bolshevistic it would mean that important parts of the earth would be submitted to the orders of the Third International, giving it new stimulative power which would threaten the culture and civilization of the entire world. 'Herein lies the great question of the moment. The momentary special question as to whether or not Germany should be subjected to certain dynastic or monarchistic movement is not so important. 'The murder of German Ministers was decided upon more than a year ago by Communist organizations. This is the true explanation of the murder of Rathenau. Murder organizations do not exist in earnest political circles.'"

CANADA POSSESSES IN HOLLINGER THE WORLD'S GREATEST GOLD MINE

Nearly Half-billion Dollars Yet to be Taken Out, Down to 3,000-foot Level, is Stated by the General Manager.

COBALL, Ont., July 15.—Speaking at a banquet tendered by the Porcupine members to the visiting members of the Ontario Mining Association at Schumacher, Mr. A. F. Brigham, general manager of the Hollinger mine, made a statement about that mine which sets it in the position of being the world's greatest gold mine. He said that for each foot of depth was a fair estimate of the value of the Hollinger, but lately decided that $150,000 a foot would be nearer. Mr. Brigham suggested a depth of 3,000 feet to be used as a basis for calculating the value of Hollinger and adding the value of $450,000,000 from surface that on the $150,000 a foot valuation it was purely a matter of arithmetic. In discussing his statement after the meeting Mr. Brigham said that the mine had produced more than $150,000 a foot down to the 200 foot level and that there was yet considerable ore in reserve to that depth. Mr. Brigham said further that the banquet that he thought the aggregate value of Porcupine would which would equal that of Hollinger, "or at least a fair proportion of it." Following out Mr. Brigham's suggestion that "it was purely a matter of arithmetic," to figure out the valuation he puts on the Hollinger mine, amounts to the astounding figure of $450,000,000 from surface down to only 3,000 feet.

Fierce Fighting Continues in Ireland

Government Forces in Limerick in Satisfactory Condition. Republicans Hold Barracks in Waterford and Have Mined the Roads.

DUBLIN, July 15.—Fighting has been in progress in Limerick since 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, says a report on operations in the province given out by the National Army headquarters. The position of the Government forces in Limerick is stated to be satisfactory. On Wednesday they captured one man and taking thirteen prisoners. The Republicans hold all the barracks in Waterford and have mined the roads leading to there. They are also said to be concentrating on Castlesbar and in County Mayo. DUBLIN, July 15.—The great burst of gunfire in Mount Joy Prison which caused a sensation throughout the city yesterday was caused by the efforts of the prison authorities to put an end to the signalling going on between the Republicans prisoners and their adherents on the outside says an unofficial statement given out today.

You only want a bit of pluck, and that is what I have always had."

Canadian Teachers Visiting in England

(Special to The Guardian) LONDON, July 15.—A party of two hundred Canadian teachers has reached here and yesterday opened the first day of their sojourn with an extended tour visiting Oxford University, whose professors gave a most cordial welcome to the visitors, who are under the tutelage of Major Ney. After leaving Oxford the teachers paid a flying visit to Warwick Castle and from there travelled to Stratford-on-Avon where the party was officially received by the Mayor and members of the Stratford branch of the English speaking union. The teachers visited Shakespeare's birthplace and included in their sightseeing the Memorial Theatre erected largely through the benevolent generosity of American and overseas residents. The party was subsequently entertained at tea by the Mayor who had delivered a brief address in happy form, which was responded to by Major Ney and prominent educationalists among the party. "Today there is to be more sightseeing."

Prisoners Forgot to Leave Their Address

An innocent inquiry made Saturday morning at Queen's County Jail as to whether the prisoners O'Brien and Essory had yet gone to Dorchester Penitentiary, elicited the following mournful reply from the jailor: "They didn't tell me where they were going."

Danny O'Brien and George Essory, two prisoners in Queen's County Jail, sentenced last Friday to three years in Dorchester Penitentiary for stealing two casks of rum from the leased bonded warehouses last June, decided that Dorchester was no place for them, so they accordingly left the jail without permission sometime between 9 o'clock Friday night and 5 o'clock Saturday morning. When the jailor went on his rounds at the latter hour he found the two men missing from their cells. He found also two lower bars, 23 inches long and 7-8 inches in diameter on the iron latched doors sawed through. These bars forced outward leaving an opening through which each man crawled. The jailor also found that an iron bar about 14 inches long and 1-3 inches in diameter, one of those guarding the basement window on the east side of the building had also been sawed through leaving a 12x14 inch opening which furnished an exit for the two men to the potato field. Their steps were tracked through the field to the corner on the Mt. Edward Road. Here were fresh marks of an auto, mobile, small jammer, head tires, and in that auto no doubt Essory and O'Brien departed to parts unknown. The prisoners were locked up in the cells at 9 p. m. These cells are on the first floor. O'Brien's cell door was three or four feet from the eastern window, which opens for ventilation. The window is about 9 feet from the ground. There were scratches on the bars indicating that some one may have passed a hack saw through on the end of a stick. By thrusting his arm through the bars O'Brien could secure it and the rest was easy. O'Brien evidently sawed Essory out, and the two went to the basement, secured a bench in the kitchen, carried it to the basement window and out themselves to freedom. The jailor said that there was no opportunity for any visitor to smuggle a saw through to the prisoners, as when any one called on them the jailor or his assistant was always on hand. No trace has yet been found of the prisoners.
