RECEIVES PROMOTION—The promotion of Mr. J. A. Costello, electrician of the C.N.R., City, to the position of Equipment Maintainer of the Island Division with headquarters at Charlottetown, will be learned with pleasure by his numerous friends, especially by railway men. He will supervise maintenance of lines, way stations and office equipment, and will also supervise all construction work in this territory.

STOCK NOTE—A three-year-old Holstein heifer, Gem of Seaside, bred and owned by Mr. Walter Buntain, South Rustico, P. E. I., has just finished a year's work in the 305 day division of the R. O. P. with a very creditable record, her production totalling 12,699 lbs. milk containing 668.75 lbs. butter giving her the high average test of 4.21 fat. This heifer was sired by Pontiac Cornucopia Prince, and milked twice daily for the entire period.

C. G. I. T. CAMP—Plans for the annual C. G. I. T. camp at Canoe Cove July 25th to August 4th, have been completed and all indications point to a banner camp. For the first time in the history of C. G. I. T. camps in this province the Director of the camp is an Island leader, and one of wide experience, Miss Jessie Fullerton. Assisting her will be the following excellent staff:—Camp Hostess—Mrs. R. H. Rogers; Business Manager—Mrs. Harry Cudmore; Sports Officer—Miss Helen Belding; Handcraft Officer—Miss Ruth Miller; Nurse—Miss Bina Collett; Group Leaders—Miss Berna Huestis, Bessie Prowse, Ethel Taylor, Lillian Cook, Helen Jamieson and Katie Carr. The camp folder is particularly attractive this year. It contains all information necessary for the prospective camper, and also a specially written selection of poetry from the pen of Lucy Maud Montgomery. Although the date set for the closing of registration is not until July 21st, applications have already started coming in to the Business Manager, Mrs. Cudmore. The camp property at Canoe Cove is continually being improved, and the new feature this year is a commodious building in which all girls will be quartered who do not wish to live in tents. The motto this year is—"A bigger and better C. G. I. T. camp than ever."

Maritime Electric Employees Banquet

With the memory of a recent successful bond campaign fresh in their minds, the employees of the Associated Gas and Electric Co., are out on another campaign—the sale of Associated Gas and Electric Co., 5 percent gold debentures, due in 1988 which are to be sold through the employees only.

The campaign opened by a banquet at the Parker House on Monday evening presided over by Mr. J. T. McKee, among those present being Mr. Warren Nute, of New Bedford, of the customer ownership department; Mr. Albert of the engineering staff and a Patriot representative.

At the conclusion of the banquet, Mr. McKee made a few introductory remarks and before introducing the "key man" Mr. Nute, called on several of the employees.
Mr. Murray prefaced his remarks by a humorous story and then thanked all for their assistance and co-operation in the refrigerator jubilee which had just closed. They had "shown the way" to all the Maritimes and he thanked the employees who had made this possible by their co-operation. He knew they all took pride in placing Charlottetown first and he assured Mr. Nute the employees would support him in this campaign.

Mr. Reg. Cox wished it understood that the reason he refused the captaincy of a team was because he considered members of the office staff to be in a better position than the men on the street. He would give every possible assistance to make this campaign a success.

Mr. Harry Williams as one of the older employees said this campaign may not be as easy as the last, as the last was new to them all. But they have had the experience of several campaigns and into all of them the spirit of co-operation was injected. The speaker gave several excellent suggestions as to the methods of work and referred to Capt. George Binns, who had that day made a good sale. He also referred to the good work of Reany Larter who had obtained excellent results in several campaigns. They were selling nothing to be ashamed of but rather something to be proud of.

Mr. Albert of the engineer staff compared the work of the several plants which he visited periodically and said that the employees in Lunenburg were going to put up a big fight for leadership in this sale of bonds. He concluded by wishing the Charlottetown boys the best of luck.

Mr. Nute on arising was greeted with "He's a jolly good fellow" and in his opening remarks said he was not going to make a speech. He was glad to be with them and said that while in St. John he heard many nice things about the employees in Charlottetown. "If the boys think you cannot sell bonds, get that idea out of your heads" he said. In stressing the value of the bond, Mr. Nute said, any bank would take that particular bond which is rated A-1. He assured the employees he was always at their service. He explained the value of this particular bond and asked why an investor should be receiving only 3 or 3 1/2 percent when this bond guarantees 6. He gave some suggestions as to how to sell and said that Capt. Binns had got away to a whirlwind start. This money, all of it was for improvement, new lines, etc. He was always ready and willing to help any one at any time, that was what he was here for and he wished them to avail themselves of his services. Advertising matter, applications, etc., were then distributed to the teams after which The National Anthem concluded the enjoyable session.

Congratulations

Rev. Scott Fulton, M. A. B. D., pastor of Zion Church, will henceforth be known as Rev. Dr. Fulton and he is receiving the hearty congratulations of numerous friends in this province on receiving the degree of Doctor of Theology.

Dr. Fulton received this degree from the Southern School of Divinity, Dallas, Texas. In this institution he took the Doctor of Theology course including the following subjects: Systematic and Biblical Theology, Modern Theology, Minister's Practical Psychology, Varieties of Religious Experience, Major Bible Themes, Bible Typology, History and Literature of the New Testament.

The Doctor wrote a thesis of ten thousand words, and the President of the Divinity school of Dallas in forwarding the diploma added these words: "We congratulate you on your gifts and experience which have made this good work possible."

It will be noted that Dr. Fulton completed his post graduate course with the final standing of Magna Cum Laude. This course was completed in two years.

Dr. Fulton has received a call to the congregation at Chatham, Ontario. This call was extended to him by the unanimous standing vote of a large meeting of the congregation held about a month ago. No other name was mentioned. There is a salary of $3,300 with a manse, moving expenses and a month's holidays. This call will be dealt with at a meeting of the Prince Edward Island Presbytery today.

The church to which Dr. Fulton has been called is the second largest in the Presbytery of Chatham. There is a magnificent stone building, one of the finest in that portion of Ontario. Recently a new Sunday School and tower was built and a set of chimes installed. There is a membership of nine hundred in the congregation.

Flags were in gay display at both rallies with a band in attendance. The Opposition Leader was well received. Taking up the matter of the Duncan Report on Maritime rights, Mr. Bennett declared that Maritime Conservative members with the support of other members of the Opposition had pressed for Maritime claims constantly upon a reluctant Government. Liberals afterwards he continued, had fallen in behind to catch a few votes. The Leader criticized the delay in implementation of the report and on the eve of an election remarked that the Government had only decided it might do something with the iron and steel schedules. Presentation of the cases of the Maritimes he stressed had been made by the Conservative and Nova Scotia Governments and not by any Liberal public man.

Mr. Bennett declared that the Conservative Party always endeavored to shape its course and political life with the national interests of Canadians at heart. Conservatives, he declared, unlike the Liberals do not shape our policies with political expediency as the dominating note. Men and women today, the Conservative leader stated, were taking a keen interest in the National crisis facing Canada. "In the seven provinces of the Dominion which he had visited in his campaign, Mr. Bennett proceeded, audiences ranging in numbers from 5,000 to 9,000 and 10,000 had gathered to hear him discuss subjects vital to the national welfare of Canada. Conditions had arisen, he said, which had convinced the people of this country that there could be no recovery from existing serious conditions, "until there is a change of Government."

The Conservative Leader went on, "never has the sweep of public opinion towards the rejection of the present Government been more apparent than one can see today." The people were confronted with the question, whether or not in view of its record the Government should be returned to power. For nine years, there had been unprecedented prosperity in many countries, he said, due to the stimulus given to production following the great war." But did this new country prosper? "With vast richness in resources make any provision for the future, did we in days of prosperity provide for the evil days to come?" The answer, Mr. Bennett continued, was that the Ottawa administration, had failed in its duty to do so. "Men and women," the Conservative Leader asserted, "there are some things a Government cannot do, but there are some things a Government can do to provide against unemployment."

MYERS

the Canadian dairy industry before the Australian treaty opened the doors for a vast influx of New Zealand butter was trenchantly reviewed. "We farmers are fair. We want first the cost of production for anything we produce on our farms. That is not asking too much. And that is all that we have asked as dairymen."

The result of the New Zealand importations was summed up by Mr. Myers in a sentence: "Butter is actually three cents a pound dearer in the central markets of United States today than it is in central Canadian markets, notwithstanding what the Liberal candidates may say to the contrary."

Mr. Jenkins, Mr. Myers pointed out, has admitted that he really does not know whether he is in favor of admitting New Zealand butter or not. What can the electors expect if they send him back to Ottawa?

Further applause greeted the Conservative candidate's challenging statement: "It is time the farmers of Canada were waking up and voting in the interests of their own pocket."

The effect of inadequate tariff protection on eggs and other agricultural products was emphasized. "Transportation, for the farmer, begins when he turns out of his own gate." Thus Mr. Myers approached the important subject of federal aid for highways which is one of the explicit planks of the Conservative platform.

"They tell us that there is more unemployment in United States than in Canada," he continued, "Of course there is. There are more people in the United States. But the saddest feature of the unemployment situation in the United States is that so many of their unemployed are Canadians."

MR. MCCLURE'S SPEECH

"The Liberals are quite willing to have a new policy every day of the week if they could find one or join one from the Opposition," declared Mr. McLure, scoring a telling point against Mr. Jenkins' admission that the Liberals boast that the Liberal policy was one of change.

Increased applause greeted Mr. McLure's review of the tariff situation as it affects the Canadian egg and poultry industry, as well as dairying and sheep-raising.

"Is it fair for the farmers of Canada to have to pay for the trade that the automobile manufacturers have profited by?" he asked, apropos of the Australian treaty.

Mr. McLure challenged the new Minister of Fisheries to state where he stood on the New Zealand butter situation.

Some of the loudest applause of the evening followed Mr. McLure's searching analysis of the contradictory statements of Liberal candidates on the subject of the settlement of provincial subsidy claims and the total inability of the Audit Board to make any final adjustment of these claims. "The holding up of this Audit Board to the public attention at the present time," he asked, "what does it mean?" "I claim, Mr. Chairman, that it is only a bluff to sidetrack the main issue, which is the fact that the Mackenzie King Government has failed to implement the terms of the Duncan Commission report."

Richard Hudnut's Toilet Water Always in Good Taste. Three Flowers Basic Cleansing Treatment. Ross-Drug-United The MacKinnon Drug Co. "HOME OF BETTER VALUES"

Pensions Act was emphasized as showing the advantage of the Conservative policy to this Province in respect to this one measure alone.

Liberal Speakers

Minimizing the importance of the effect of New Zealand butter importations on the Canadian dairy industry almost to the vanishing point, Mr. R. H. Jenkins declared that in the last two months only "between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 pounds" of the New Zealand product landed in Canada. "This would have been enough to do us between five and six days," he announced cheerfully, while his audience looked and murmured their incredulity.

The present high American duty on Canadian dairy products was given as a reason for the King Government abrogating the New Zealand treaty.

Mr. Jenkins, as on other occasions, criticized the members of the Government for his own part. He had "thoroughly enjoyed" his five years of office as Parliamentary representative.

The Governments activities in dredging and other matters were reviewed. Assuring his hearers that "we have no promises to make, Mr. Macmillan and I, we give performances, not promises," Mr. Jenkins proceeded smilingly: "It won't be long now before the dredge will be into Pownal. I can't tell you when, but I am sure it won't be long."

Voice: Before the 28th (laughter). If there was anything else wanted by the voters, Mr. Jenkins assured his hearers that he "was for it."

That is our policy, you know. We believe in changing with the times, with the conditions."

Mr. Jenkins explained how he got the duty on sewing machines lowered on his application to the Tariff Board.

The Conservatives promise national aid for highways. "But the Liberal Government will do as much for you; yes, more!" he exclaimed.

Fisheries Minister's Address

That three Conservatives had voted in parliament for the Dunning budget was exalted by Hon. Cyrus Macmillan into something of considerable significance in the present campaign.

C. G. S. Bayfield Trims Jack Fish Ont. Nine 10-2

Pounding the ball hard for nine frames, and playing airtight ball the C. G. S. Bayfield, which is now in port, trimmed the Jack-Fish, Ont. nine here yesterday afternoon, by score of 10-2 before a good crowd of baseball fans.

The C. G. S. Bayfield team consisted of Catcher, Richard Gauthier; Pitcher, Archie MacFarlane; 1st Base, Walter Lawlor; 2nd Base, Fred Doyle; 3rd Base, Ted Morrison; 4th Stop, Lorne Dolron; R. Field, Captain Snelgrove; Centre Field, George Lund; L. Field, Walter Sherren; T. C. G. S. Bayfield boys are to be congratulated on their win. In the evening the boys of the Bayfield were given a dance by the ladies of Jack Fish.

ed for New Zealand butter. "Are you going to let that become the great issue of the campaign," he asked incredulously.

Goods under the countervailing duties cannot go down below the general tariff, so there will be no danger of dumping, he contended.

Hon. Mr. Macmillan thought it was "dangerous" for Mr. McLure to criticize as a "bluff" the Liberal promise of subsidy readjustment on the qualifications of the Tariff Board.

Mr. Bennett's policy of Old Age Pensions he referred to as a "mytical prize package." He could not agree with the compilation quote from the Patriot newspaper with respect to the approximate cost of this scheme to the province.

And an early and satisfactory readjustment of our subsidy claims was promised if the King Government was elected and he, Hon. Dr. Macmillan was returned to sit at the council table.
