Canada Welcome Sight After Japanese Internment Camp

JOB FOR MEN

LONDON —(CP)— War Secretary Sir James Grigg told a deputation of women that in the immediate stage of military operations there was little room for women's work on Amgot, the Allied military governing body of Sicily and southern Italy. The deputation from the British Federation of Business and Professional Women urged the employment of trained women in Amgot.

BLOOD SERUM ON ITS WAY

MONCTON, N.B., Dec. 3, — A carload of blood serum representing the voluntary blood donations of ten thousand Canadians passed through Moncton tonight on the Scotian in care of the Canadian National Express enroute to an eastern Canadian port.

The shipment was contained in five hundred cases two thousand bottles totalling fourteen thousand pints and was waybilled from the central medical stores of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps at Ottawa to the military forwarding officer at the port.

The life saving fluid was packed in a specially heated express car with instructions that the heat should be maintained steadily throughout the journey.

The shipment weighed approximately 22,500 pounds.

More than 200 Canadian citizens are now back in Canada after spending two years in Japanese internment camps. They arrived in Montreal via New York, where the Swedish liner GRIPSHOLM docked recently with more than 1400 American and Canadian repatriates. Touching scenes were witnessed at the old Bonaventure station as relatives and friends welcomed them home. Upper left: Nursing Sister K. Christie, of Toronto, chats with her father, W. R. C. Christie, while waiting for her baggage. Miss Christie was on duty during the siege of Hong Kong. At right (upper): Mrs. A. B. M. Coleman comforts Helen Marsh who was overcome with emotion as she was being interviewed by a newspaper woman. Both are from Vancouver. Mrs. Eugenie Zaitzeff is shown with her young daughter Ann, who was born during her mother's internment. They are Vancouver - bound. Lower centre shows the ship's only bride, Mrs. (Beng) Forsblad, formerly Miss Sheila Baskett of Vancouver. Her husband is assistant purser on the Gripsholm. At right: little Bonny Macklin reaches for an apple, a luxury unknown during internment. Mrs. Macklin is from Montreal. Her husband died in camp.
