Migration of British People Discussed in House of Lords

LONDON, July 21 (CP Cable)—Migration of British people to the sparsely-populated parts of the Empire as a stabilizing influence on world affairs was urged by various speakers in the House of Lords today.

Partaking in a debate on a report of the Overseas Settlement Board, the Duke of Devonshire, Under-Secretary for the Dominions, declared land-hungry countries regarded the Empire as holding a large area of unoccupied and undeveloped land, but preventing others from settling it.

This condition, the Duke argued, "is not conducive to peaceful or settled international relations." He urged collaboration quickly between the Dominions and the United Kingdom before it was too late to populate the Dominions with men and women of British stock.

Viscount Elibank, who has travelled extensively through the Empire, submitted the best arrangement for the present way for people to migrate from the United Kingdom was on what was called a policy of infiltration. Only Australia had subscribed to that policy, he added.

"Canada does not require more immigrants as she still has employment, and political conditions are such apparently that she does not require them," Lord Elibank declared.

Referring to last year's Empire Settlement Act, the proposed £1,500,000 (£750,000) grant to be given under the Act, Lord Elibank said: "I want to ask to what extent the treasury is prepared to meet the expenditure of the money. I suggest the treasury has too much control over expenditure and interferes too much with the policy of the overseas settlement committee."

Lord Barmby, Conservative, declared that in Canada an official view was that an inflow of migrants was a challenge to employment.

"The facts are so palpably the reverse," he added, "that unem- ployable means have not been found to convince organized labor of the position."

The Duke of Devonshire, who is chairman of the Overseas Settlement Board, in his speech mentioned the changing attitude of organized labor in the Dominions. Formerly, he said, it had been the bitter opponent of immigration, an attitude "partly due to the large number of the most foolish speeches made on the subject in this country."

Viscount Stonehaven, former governor general of Australia, said: "We accept the fact that people will only migrate if they are attracted by conditions in the Dominions." He believed any successful migration schemes must be achieved cooperatively between the Mother Country and the Dominions.

Lord Snell, Labor leader, mentioned the possibility of foreign minority groups establishing themselves in the Dominions.

"I hope we shall not knowingly produce groups of nationalities in our Dominions and so create difficulties to which I could point as existing in the world at present," Lord Snell told the House.

He said an immediate and constructive approach to the problem of Empire settlement was "vital to the very existence of the commonwealth."

Simmerings Along The Sport Front

(By Alan Randal, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, July 21—The future of hockey is a number of things. One is Charlie Conacher, on the side-lines for one season due to illness, is reported to be headed for Detroit with Red Wing bosses. Connie is in Ottawa at present. Would it be in connection with rumors the Montreal team will play some of their games in the Canadian capital this winter? The Montrealers are understood to be in the hunt for the long-time since Babe Ruth was an active player but now he is with Brooklyn. The kids scramble on a road trip for one game. He thinks the road trips are swell. The Babe's legs no longer are good for running but he figures his batting eye as sharp as ever. One thing is sure, Herman Pollock along with baseball and golf is breakfast—steak breakfast at that.

The Babe is getting grey. But in all likelihood it's merely the years creeping up on him and not the Dodgers because Brooklyn is flying high for Brooklyn these days. Hats off to laughing Larry MacPhail who has strengthened the personnel and o'd Ebbings. He'll work with Bolly looks like a right smart guy for Brooklyn to hang on to. Meantime MacPhail is looking for more Dodge recruits and Flatbush feed's the promised land of the first division is not far off.

Johnny Vander Meer's Cincinnati team makes him the fastest pitcher a'round in the National League. The fact that he is fast ball that brought him to Cleveland fans was to see if he really has something. Lefty Grove threw a nap on the rubbering table before pitching to Boston. From that point on, the old man's maw is anything but napping.

From out Cleveland way come mutterings at the handling of Bob Feller. No longer a pitcher, he is now a reliever, on, relies on curves, etc. like any run-of-the-mill flinger. The curves are hot stuff, but some Cleveland fans would like to see the Indians' papoose return to his natural way of pitching—foggin' 'em past. Still, there are many more fans who are tied with the Indians and rightly so.

Approve Changes In Eastern Guardian Medical Services

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON, July 21 (CP)—by trans-Atlantic plane) — Revolutionary changes in the general medical services of the United Kingdom have been drafted and approved in principle by the British Medical Association, and legislation to implement the recommendations will be introduced at the next session of parliament.

Main principles of the scheme, which contemplates a new nationwide organization would provide for:

- 1.—A system of medical service directed to the achievement of positive health and prevention of disease, no less than to the relief of sickness.
- 2.—The right of every individual to nominate a family doctor of his own choice.
- 3.—Specialists, laboratory service and institutional care made available to all through the family doctor.
- 4.—Coordination of all medical services on the lines of a planned national health policy.

Dr. J. B. Miller, chairman of the Association's health service committee, in moving endorsement of the scheme, declared that health services of the nation had been permitted to grow up haphazardly. Overlapping was rife, and business-like consideration of the problem was essential to achieve an organized co-ordinated service.

The proposed scheme, he said, would be operated through a central controlling body for the whole country, and would be independent but representative of the medical profession. Local auxiliary bodies would be created in selected centres.

Apart from those entitled to national health insurance, approximately 20,000,000 members of the population would be embraced in the new proposal and qualify for medical services they never enjoyed before.

Dr. Hayden Guest, Labor member of parliament for North Ireland, declared the Association's proposal would be welcomed throughout the British Isles. He was certain the recommendations would be supported by the opposition and hoped the government would draft a bill not to be treated as "window dressing."

The scheme, however, does not meet the outright approval of Association members from Glasgow. They have been agitating for what is described as a state medical service, and make medical practitioners and employees of the state.

This suggestion has found little support among the medical profession and brought the following reply from Sir Henry Brackenbury, one of the foremost medical practitioners in the United Kingdom: "Any form of medical nationalization would involve such a loss of the life and health of the people that they would never tolerate it."

Canada's Official Hangman In Critical Condition

MONTREAL, July 21 (CP)—"Arthur Ellis," the quiet, mysterious, and mysterious man who murdered more than 500 murderers in Canada, is dying in a Montreal hospital.

A few friends only and his wife knew the nature of the illness that suddenly struck the dapper Ellis yesterday. But no one would say he was in hospital. And at Sie, Jeanne d'Arc Hospital, where Ellis was removed yesterday by a friend, he was not listed.

Attendants said there was no Ellis there. Nor was there Bartholomew Ellis, the name under which he lived at the Grandpre, heretofore out of hospital, was unable to say under what name Ellis might be registered at the hospital.

The stout, French-Canadian woman said she didn't know much about the man except that he always paid his rent, $20 monthly, in advance.

"But he was a real gentleman," she said. "He was well dressed and very polite and charming, he used to take off his hat to me and sometimes he used to come to me from the gallery to see me."

President's Son On Honeymoon

MONTREAL, July 21—Following the trail of hundreds of honeymoon couples who have sailed from Montreal this year and in past years, John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President of the United States, and his bride, the former Anne Lindsay Clarke, the former daughter of the Inver Lyle family, embarked on the Canadian National Steamships tonight to complete their honeymoon by taking a trip along the scenic St. Lawrence seaway and through the Atlantic to Bermuda.

"Well, the boys trailed us all right," said John Roosevelt as they met at the station by a group of some of the best photographers of all of whom declared that the distinguished visitor was very generous in this regard without seeking publicity in any way. Mr. Roosevelt realized that the arrival of himself and Mrs. Roosevelt Jr. was an event of considerable importance and on request, immediately arranged to have the press boys meet them at the hotel.

Mr. Roosevelt's interest in sports was shown by the fact that he sat down to the breakfast table at the hotel this morning, play, "Say, could I have a game of tennis with you?" The time to spend at the Roosevelt summer home on the Island of Campobello, N. B., was the first visit to the whole trip was noticeably enhanced by the congenial, light-heartedness of celebrating honeymoons Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt, who sailed tonight, won the hearts of all aboard and were regarded throughout their whole trip as ambassadors of good will between Canada and her neighbor, the United States.

Steamship Lines Beg Ocean Flier To Be Their Guest

DUBLIN, July 21 (AP)—This hero business is rapidly turning sour to the taste of Douglas G. (West is East) Corrigan, and he doesn't want anybody to give him a ride in an airplane.

In the midst of a busy day in which he has received many new ideas regarding the flying of important people and looked over cables offering marriage, movie contracts and what not, the young Californian who flew from New York to Dublin (by mistake) declared:

"I certainly hope they have stopped being Corrigan-mad when I get back."

Informed of a report that the Advertising Club of Newark, N.J., was opening a campaign to collect money to present him with a new plane, Corrigan said:

"I hope they don't do any such thing. I don't deserve it at all. I appreciate the spirit in which they are planning it, but this country is not the place for me. I am in view of the circumstances of my trip."

The flier who hopped the Atlantic in a 5900 plane and commanded a flight of 12 hours, really meant to go to California but his compass was set wrong, planned to sail for home by the middle of next week.

DEATH OF HANGMAN ARTHUR ELLIS

Canada's Official Executioner Dies In Hospital After Brief Illness

MONTREAL, July 21 (CP)—Arthur Ellis, the methodical killer who seldom was known by his real name of Arthur Bartholomew Alexander English, died in hospital tonight after a brief undisclosed illness. The shuffling little man, of snowy-white hair, had been more slowly to the "five foot, three" man than to the 500 persons he was estimated to have dropped from the gates of the execution. He was born in 1925. He is also president of the Chicago Federal Savings and Loan Association and an officer and director of many other corporations, and is an active member of numerous trade associations in his business field. He was born in Bristol, Tennessee, and was educated at King College of Bristol where he received his B.A. degree in 1911, and at the University of Tennessee, where he received his LL.B. in 1916.

In 1915 he was admitted to the bar in Tennessee and began the practice of law in Knoxville. Five years later he came to Chicago to become secretary and general counsel of the Cook County Supply Company and its several subsidiary corporations which were consolidated in 1912 with the Consumers Company. Under the consolidation, he assumed the position of general counsel.

During the World War he entered the military service and became a private soldier, later becoming a lieutenant in the Field Artillery, serving as a judge advocate. He is a Major (Reserve) in the Field Artillery and was also a member of the Rotary Club of Chicago in 1927. He has served as a member and chairman of many of the club committees and was also a director and chairman of the Finance Committee of the Executive Committee of Rotary International in 1933-34 and filled unexpired terms as a member of the Finance Committee and chairman of the Investment Committee in 1934. He served as chairman of the committee of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in 1934-35 and as a member of the committee for 1937-38. He was elected president of Rotary International at the San Francisco, California, convention held June 19 to 24.

The Protein Value of Feeds

While amount of protein in feeds is important the kind or quality is more so. Protein in livestock feeds is a word loosely used and seldom properly understood. Its derivation is from an old word meaning "to be first" and becoming "protein" found in grains, it has to be purchased by the farmer. It is the most expensive nutrient generally considered the most important.

Protein is necessary if growth and egg production is to be maintained from poultry, muscle, blood, and reproductive and digestive organs, skin, and a large percentage of the egg requires protein in their makeup.

Kind of Protein

Until recently, feeders in accepting the need of protein, have been inclined to give more attention to the amount rather than the kind of quality. Recent studies have shown that while the amount or percentage is important, the kind or quality is more so.

The Poultry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, in Bulletin 362, showed that with similar protein levels, three kinds of feed were obtained: one from 138.4 eggs was obtained; one from 138.4 eggs was obtained; one from 138.4 eggs was obtained.

Contents of Moisture

Just because a chicken starting mash contains 17 per cent protein does not mean that it is better than one containing 15 per cent or poorer than one carrying 20 per cent. Consideration must be given to the contents of the mixture and properly they are extremely satisfactory. This is because of the fact that by blending several feeds, the deficiencies of one may be supplied by some other. The tendency of today is to feed less rather than higher protein feeds, but the higher proteins from a limited number of sources.

HEAT, FAST TIME IN REGINA IRKS MAN FROM SAMO

(Canadian Press)

REGINA, July 21—After eight years as scientist, observer on Upolu Island in the Pacific Ocean Samo group, John Wadsworth, stopping here on his way home to England, said he found the heat and humidity of Daylight saving time a bit confusing.

Graduate of Cambridge University and member of several scientific societies, Wadsworth was director of a western Samo Observatory founded in 1904 by the Royal Society of Science of Otago, New Zealand.

Samoa's climate, considered good for the tropics, is not particularly suited to whites, the scientist said. The average temperature varies slightly from 80 degrees and rainfall totals 120 inches a year. Government servants do not stay longer than two or three years.

"Samoans are a friendly people but because nature has made it necessary for them to work for a living, they make poor servants. They grow fast, one day's work a week in a small garden provides ample food," the scientist said. "All-day work on Friday's and Saturday, go to church on Sunday and then rest the remainder of the week."

Although Samoans have taken to Christianity generally, many traditional customs are still practised. Marriages are performed by Christian ministers, but are followed by native feasts and celebrations.

Mr. Wadsworth was known to the natives throughout the islands as "chief of observing the stars."

Earthquake Causes Much Damage

ATHENS, July 20—The strongest earthquake felt in the country in modern times scattered death and ruin today through ancient Greece. A tentative casualty list based on fragmentary reports from the stricken areas showed 30 persons killed and at least 100 injured.

The government hurried relief by trucks and railways to the stricken areas. Officials said it was impossible to estimate the material damage.
