Parents should be sure their children see as well as nature intended. Helping children's eyes often helps them in their progress at school.

FOLK SONG AND DANCE PROGRAMME

Enjoyable Entertainment Given at McDonald School.

A most interesting and enjoyable entertainment was given at the McDonald Consolidated School last evening, the programme consisting of a folk song and folk dance demonstration under the direction of Miss Rena Wood, assisted by Miss Marguerite Terrell. The pupils, both of the senior and junior groups, acquitted themselves splendidly, and showed the great educational possibilities in this healthful and pleasant form of entertainment.

The interest taken in the proceedings was evidenced by the large attendance, and the applause which greeted every number. The folk music, selected for the numbers is particularly deserving of mention. It was indeed, as the programme note stated, "no songs so-called—written to illustrate technical problems, and no merely pretty or sickly sentimental tunes, written yesterday and forgotten tomorrow, but music arising from a genuine need for expression, that has lasted by its vitality and beauty and that continues to be a means of full, joyous expression."

At the conclusion of the entertainment Mr. H. H. Shaw, Superintendent of Education, expressed enthusiastic appreciation of the work accomplished by Miss Wood and Miss Terrell and the importance, from an educational standpoint, of the teaching of folk songs and dances, which he hoped would be developed on a more extensive scale throughout the Province. The programme was as follows:

PART ONE

- Folk Songs: "Come Over the Sea in My Arms" with English; "Hark! The Tinsy Cowslip Bell" English—Senior Group. (a) Folk Songs: "Tira-lira-lira" German; "Cook-a-doodle-doo" English. NEW ERUPTIONS

Improved so materially that there would be no need for intervention by the regular army. Woonsocket and Saylesville, centres of bloody fighting earlier in the week, which took two lives and sent scores of hospitals, remained quiet under the watchful eye of more than 1,000 guardsmen.

Hurriedly Recalled

Regular army troops, hurriedly recalled from field manoeuvres in Maine and Massachusetts, remained in readiness for a quick push into this state, should one be ordered, while at Fort Wright on Fishers Island, N. Y., three batteries of the 11th Coast Artillery regiment stood by emergency orders.

While the situation in Rhode Island remained practically stationary, more National Guard troops were mobilized in Connecticut, although textile strike fronts reported all quiet and from Augusta, Me., came word that a provisional battalion of the Maine National Guard had been ordered to Biddford, site of the huge Peperell Manufacturing Company, purely as a precautionary measure.

In the meantime important concessions were announced by several textile manufacturers in New England. The Berkshire Woolen Company at Pittsfield, Mass., announced that, starting Monday, it would revert to a plan, not in force in recent years, of having only one worker operate a single loom instead of two as at present. The change will mean employment of 74 additional workers.

Offer Wage Advance

At Chicopee, Mass., the Chicopee Manufacturing Company sent out letters to its striking textile workers offering to reemploy them at a wage advance of 33 percent on a five-day week with four six-hour shifts. At the same time 300 employees of the A. D. Ellis, Inc., mills in Monson were told the mill which closed last Friday would go on a one-loom basis as soon as conditions favored its reopening.

Another important development of the day was the disclosure that six guards had been on duty all night at the Diamond Hill reservoir of the Pawtucket water supply after discovery that 25 sticks of dynamite had been stolen last Wednesday from a contractor's supply house nearby.

The strike movement gained impetus in one direction during the day when a flying squadron of 150 strikers from Uxbridge descended upon Canton, Mass., and after a peaceful conference with mill owners effected the closure of two mills normally employing approximately 700 workers.

In another, however, it met a setback when Westery, R. I., police intercepted a motorcade of 15 automobiles bearing 75 strikers, allegedly enroute to the Bradford Dyeing Company where 600 operatives are at work, and escorted them back to the main highway.

WILL PROBE MARITIME FISHERIES

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—The price spreads and mass buying inquiry will hold its first public sitting as a commission in October following the convention of fishing interests of the Maritime Provinces to be held in Nova Scotia earlier in the month. Postponement of the date for the first sitting is in accordance with a request of fishing interests of the Eastern provinces. The definite date will be announced later.

When approached today in regard to the probable date of the opening meeting, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who is chairman of the commission, issued the following statement:

When the commission was organized, arrangements were made for the continuance of the investigation of matters already in hand and in regard thereto the question in relation to the fisheries and farm implements, and it was expected the commission would open its sittings late in September, commencing with the hearing of the fishery industry. In the meantime an organization of experts and auditors has been working on the evidence already in hand, as well as the completion of certain investigations for the presentation of further evidence on subjects not yet heard. Tentative arrangements were made to hear the fishing interests first, followed up by the chain store organizations and other interests.

Since my return to Ottawa, I have been formally requested by the fishing interests of the Maritime Provinces not to open the inquiry until after a convention to be held in Nova Scotia in October, had completed certain material for submission to the commission. In addition to this the auditors and investigators requested more time for the completion of their reports and it was thought desirable that all matters to be brought before the commission should be in such state of preparation that they could be presented with a minimum expenditure of time. It has been decided to grant the request of the Maritime fishing interests and postpone the opening of the investigation until later on in October. The exact date will be fixed subsequently, as soon as definite information is available regarding the completion of the material to be presented.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., September 14.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Clinville insist it's not so unusual—especially in their family. The parents recalled that their seven-year-old son James, had a tooth when he was born.

HAD PLEASANT VISIT TO EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. Paton Home From Delightful Trans-Atlantic Tour.

Mr. and Mrs. James Paton, Charlottetown, and their granddaughter, Miss Logan, Halifax, have just returned from a delightful trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Paton left Charlottetown on May 17 and sailed from Halifax on May 20 on board the S. Pennland returning via Montreal. They had splendid weather during the voyage, both going and coming. After their arrival at Southampton they proceeded at once to London, where they spent a week visiting a great many of the historical and beauty spots.

Leaving London they proceeded to Holland, where among many other places of note they visited Peace Palace at The Hague and the diamond cutting plants at Amsterdam. Before the depression there were 10,000 men employed in these plants, now there are but 1,000. Amsterdam bicycles are used very extensively by all classes of people. In the city there are about 350,000, which are registered the same as motor cars are here.

On the trip up the canal from Amsterdam, they stopped at the "Isle of Marken", where the quaint customs and attire, which are considered so characteristic of Holland, still prevail.

From Holland they went to Belgium, and while in Brussels visited the famous monument on the battlefield of Waterloo and saw the extraordinary picture, shown in relief, depicting so many scenes from the great battle.

Some time was spent in Paris also and from thence they returned to England, where they travelled extensively, stopping at many of the well-known small towns and villages. Among these was Clovelly in the south of England, a very old-fashioned town. Here the streets are so narrow that the use of wheeled vehicles is impossible, donkeys being used instead.

DECISION

The rest was a matter of formalities. In League circles it was generally believed that Tuesday or Wednesday would see the Soviet Union a member of the international family.

Held Conference

The reported agreement was said to have been reached following a conference between Edward Benes, Czech Foreign Minister, and René Maschek, technical advisor at the Quai D'Orsay, with Maxim Litvinov, Soviet Foreign Commissioner, who is staying at a point 18 miles from Geneva on the shores of Lake Lemman.

General debate in the League of Nations Assembly closed tonight in the echoes of the Polish ultimatum that from now on she will treat racial or religious minorities within her borders as she sees fit.

Britain, France and Italy joined today in sharply calling Poland to task for this ultimatum. Rumors floated around afterwards that Poland would make a brisk rejoinder. But nothing happened. The Polish declaration, with the whole question of minorities, goes to the political committee opening its deliberations Saturday afternoon.

Sir John Simon, the legalistic British Foreign Secretary who was elected to lead off the finger-wagging at Poland, entertained both Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister and Joseph Beck, the Polish Foreign Minister, at luncheon today. The meeting was declared to be without political significance, but it was quite plain that some quiet talks were under way.

Reference of the problem, always a knotty one for the League, to a special commission of jurists was among the unofficial suggestions heard around the halls.

The general debate ended with-out Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada being able to make a speech. He was again confined to his hotel today, for the third day, but his temperature was lower and it seemed that he was shaking off the cold he suffered.

The general debate was closed at a sitting tonight at which Egon Berger-Waldenegg, Foreign Minister of Austria, reiterated Austria's intention to maintain her independence of Germany or anybody else. The Austrians have been at great pains to make sure everybody understands this. "Austria's struggle for independence is not yet at an end," he declared.

Life and property." Suppressed by the committee also were the names of certain Chinese officials who had accepted commissions—"called 'bribes' by committee members—from the Du Pont Company.

Objections Raised

So loud had been international objections growing out of the committee's disclosures that Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, and Daniel Roper, Secretary of Commerce, visited the committee during the morning to discuss these protests.

Lamont Du Pont gave his testimony about the making of explosives in Germany in response to questions by Senator Bennett Clark, Missouri Democrat. The committee had just been told that the Du Pont concern had an agreement with a German explosives concern under which secret information is exchanged. Clark asked if the Du Pont Company did not have reports of such manufacture "despite that it is forbidden by various post-war treaties to make armaments and munitions."

Our reports indicate that but I don't know of my own knowledge," Lamont answered. The testimony about the arming of Germany political societies came in a report written by William N. Taylor, Paris agent of Du Pont. In 1933, he wrote:

"Arms of all kinds coming from America are trans-shipped in the Scheldt to river barges before the vessels arrive in Antwerp. Then they can be carried through Holland without police inspection or interference. The Hitlerists and Communists are rumored to get into this manner."

"The principal arms coming from America are Thompson sub-machine guns and revolvers. The number is great."

Four cablegrams in all apparently concerning the Argentine powder plant, were withheld from publication by the committee.

VALUE OF SUMMERSIDE and Prince County HOME MISSION WORK STRESSED

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 14.—A challenge to the church to maintain unimpaired its great services in the home mission field was thrown out by Rev. R. B. Cochrane, D.D., Secretary of the Board of Home Missions, in presenting his report at the sixth biennial general council of the United Church of Canada today.

The dynamic cleric brought the assembly to rapt attention late in the day as he pounded home point after point in detailing the needs of the pioneer districts of the north and west. He extolled the self-sacrifice and untiring zeal of the workers in these territories, appealing in ringing tones for their maintenance at a time when, he said, they were needed more than ever before.

Earlier in the day the commissioners heard Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., General Treasurer, present the financial statement for the past year and express the hope that last year's deficit would be turned into a surplus at the end of 1934.

By A. J. McKenna, Canadian Press Staff Writer (By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—The Church of England in Canada today made itself a mother church by declaring the independence of two dioceses in the Far East.

Resignation of Rev. W. G. White as Bishop of Honan, China, and Rt. Rev. H. J. Hamilton as Bishop of mid-Japan, raised the question of whether their successors should be Canadian or whether the local synods should be left free to recommend native bishops if they desired. The latter alternative was accepted by the 13th session of the General Synod.

Earlier in the day two committees were appointed, one to consider further the proposed merging of the church in Newfoundland and the other to prepare for special services in connection with the 25th anniversary next year of the accession of King George to the throne.

The committee respecting the ecclesiastical union with Newfoundland was named by Most Rev. A. U. De Pencier, Archbishop of New Westminster and President of the Synod, as follows: Most Rev. J. C. Roper, Archbishop of Ottawa; R. A. A. Richardson, Bishop of Fredericton; Rev. G. A. Wells, Winnipeg; Very Rev. Dean A. Carlisle, Montreal; Chancellor P. H. Givorne, Ottawa, and Chancellor R. V. Harris, Halifax.

Canon George Bolt and Col. L. C. Outerbridge appeared before the Synod as a deputation from Newfoundland to tell the Synod of the growing feeling in favor of consolidation there and to give assurance that the church in the island was ready to pay its share if the proposal was carried out.

Conferences will take place between the two churches following the policy laid down by Most Rev. Clarendon L. Worrell, Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada, who died a few weeks ago.

Fishermen Attacked By Sea Beast

CHICLAYO, Peru, Sept. 14.—Four weary, frightened seamen brought their half-sunken fishing boat limping into Chiclayo today to tell of an attack by a whale 50 feet long. The big sea beast charged their small sailing craft repeatedly, hitting it, swinging its tail furiously. A big hole in the hull bore witness to their story. Only desperate efforts kept the boat afloat until it reached port the men said.

INDEPENDENCE OF DIOCESES DECLARED

By A. J. McKenna, Canadian Press Staff Writer (By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—The Church of England in Canada today made itself a mother church by declaring the independence of two dioceses in the Far East.
