It has a surplus fund now invested out of which it can pay over three millions a year in dividends for the next twenty years—not speaking of the large surpluses accruing every year. A Dinner Deferred.

An amusing story is told of Lady Barker's first dinner party at Simla. Desirous of having a pretty table, Lady Barker had herself expended much care in decorating it. She had just received from Europe certain dainty china figures and ornamental dishes and had arranged a tempting show of sweetmeats, flowers and fruit. When dressing time came Lady Barker charged her servants to be on the watch and take care of everything; but something of interest occurred outside, and every servant left the room, quite forgetting to close the open window. Before this window was a big tree on which sat several monkeys which had watched the preparations for dinner with much interest. A half hour later the hostess appeared, ready to receive her guests. Just to be sure that everything was right she gave a glance into the dining room. There she beheld a busy company of monkeys hard at work, grinning and jabbering, their cheeks and arms crammed with expensive sweetmeats, while the table presented a scene of frightful devastation—broken glass and china, fair linen soiled, everything tossed about in hopeless confusion. From this wreck she had to turn aside and welcome her guests with as much ease of manner as possible. Dinner, of course, had to be deferred until order could be restored.

Ridden on the Spinal Cord.

The following remarkable essay on the horse is said to be from the pen of an Indian student:
"The horse is a very noble quadruped, but when he is angry he will not do so. He is ridden on the spinal cord by the bridle, and sadly the driver places his feet on the stirrup and divides his lower limbs across the saddle and drives his animal to the meadow. He has four legs; two are on the front side and two are afterward. These are the weapons on which he runs. He also defends himself by extending those in the rear in a parallel direction toward his foe, but this he does only when in a vexatious mood. There is no animal like the horse. No sooner they see their guardian or master than they always cry for food, but it is always at the morning time. They have got tails, but not so long as the cow and other such like animals."

An Ancient "Frickaise."

A manuscript cookbook of the year 1734 contains this recipe for "a frickaise": "Take ye fowls, cut them in pieces and clean them season with pepper & salt a little mace nutmeg cloves some parsley, a little bit of onion. Let them lay 2 hours then flow them very well, fry in sweet butter & make ye butter hot before you put them in. Fry a fine brown. Wash ye pan & put them in a gain with a pint of gravy. Let them swim in ye gravy. Take the yolks of 3 eggs with a little grated nutmeg & a little juice of lemon & 2 spoonfulls of wine. Shake it over the fire till it is as thick as cream, pour over ye frickaise and so serve it to ye table hot."

MANY will regret to learn of the death of Walter son of Mrs. Locke of Sherbrooke which occurred Sunday night at Wetaskawin, Alberta. The sad news was received here by telegram yesterday afternoon by J. H. Locke, brother of deceased from his brother also residing at Wetaskawin. Deceased was about twenty four years of age and had only been in the west between two and three years. The telegram stated that pneumonia was the cause of death, but no word of his illness had been received. To the bereaved relatives The Guardian extends sympathy.

REV. R. S. WHIDDEN of Bedeque, and Rev. H. G. Gratz of Alberton, spent their vacation in Nova Scotia. They were not idle. Mr. Gratz had his lantern and a set of slides selected from Tissot's famous paintings on the life of Christ. Wherever these views were exhibited they were appreciated, and as a result of the lectures Mr. Gratz sends twenty-five dollars as a special contribution to the foreign mission debt; besides leaving sums in several places where he lectured which in due time will find their way to the treasury of the church. Rev. Mr. Whidden and Mr. Gratz thank most cordially those churches visited for the opportunity of exhibiting these views and the appreciative manner in which they were received—Presbyterian Witness.

James C. Wright would have the public know that he is still in the ranks of the Liberal party and a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, despite the fact that The Examiner has used his name as one of the committee appointed by the Conservative Association to make arrangements to meet Mr. Borden M. P. While Mr. Wright raises no objection to Mr. Borden's visit, he feels that he has more important duties to perform. J. D. Russ, whose name The Examiner has dropped also feels indignant that any other name, particularly that of the one used, should have precedence to his and thinks that he has a stronger case against The Examiner than has his guest at the Hotel. It is up to The Examiner to make amends for the wrong it has done these men. Though as the matter stands there is not much danger of any serious trouble at the Hotel, The Examiner man had better not dine at the Russ for awhile, lest he get his meals cooked contrary to his taste between two such fires as has stirred up.

BRITISH COLONIES.

Remarkable Increase of the White Population Within Their Borders.

The population of the principal British colonies is just now a matter of special interest. The figures given with regard to it by writers and speakers differ widely. This is not surprising, as most of the statements are based upon official returns published from two to twelve years ago. Perhaps a cautious estimate of the numbers of the white population at the present moment may be of a little service. I have been at some pains to make one, and I believe that the figures given below will be found pretty close to the mark. In the case of Africa, south of Zambesi, it is impossible to hope for exactness, and I have therefore given a figure slightly below what seems to me probably correct. The total—11,075,000—will doubtless appear low to many colonialists, but I must remind these that so arrive at my result not only aborigines but Asiatics resident in the colonies have been deducted. The white population in July, 1903:

Canada	5,525,000
Australia	2,860,000
South Africa	875,000
New Zealand	815,000
Total	11,075,000

An eminent American has lately stated in a London newspaper, "Your colonies do not grow." It may interest any one who may have been impressed by this broad assertion to be told that for some time past the average increase of whites in our colonies has been at the rate of about twenty thousand per month.—W. P. Boyce, in London Times.
