THE WRONG HELP

The young girl had been engaged an amanuensis by a society man, so the story goes. She discovered that the woman and her husband did not live happily together, but had a fight about every day. So she gave notice that she was going to leave. "Oh, you don't need an amanuensis in this family, madam," replied the girl.

"What you need is a referee."

LAI D TO REST.—A token of the high esteem in which the late Mr.
Albert E. Sabine was held was the large number who attended the funeral on Saturday afternoon.
There was a very large concourse of citizens, people of every station in life and all denominations.
Rev. Mr. Glendinning pastor of the Methodist Church conducted the service. The Sons of England followed in a body and the fire bell was tolled, the deceased being a long-service member. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Silas J.
Whitlock, Howard Ward, Harry Chandler, Walter N. Tanton, Ernest Foster, and George Brady. Interment was at People's cemetery.

RETURNS FROM BEES

Good returns are obtained from keeping bees in Canada, the conditions in many parts of the country being particularly favourable for honey production. Yet much uncertainty exists, and misconceptions have arisen as to the returns to be expected. One sometimes hears that a colony of bees has produced in one season four or five hundred pounds of honey.
Knowing that honey is worth 20 to 30 cents a pound, and that one man can easily look after about a hundred colonies, one is apt to form the conclusion that money is very easily made by keeping bees.
Such yields, however, are exceptional, and are the result of a combination of fortunate circumstances, abundant flowers of alsike and white clover, fireweed, or other important honey plants, a particularly industrious colony, a well trained and experienced bee-keeper and above all, favourable weather. They cannot be obtained from every hive, nor can they be repeated year after year. Sometimes, a year of failure follows a year of plenty.

To get reliable figures, it is necessary to average the returns from the colonies in the apiary for a number of years. This has been done since 1912 and all the Dominion Experimental Farms scattered throughout Canada that keeps bees now numbering seventeen. The latest figures show that the average annual yield of honey has varied from 18 pounds per colony in the least profitable apiary to 133 pounds per colony in the most profitable apiary. The average annual production for all the apiaries was 63 pounds per colony, which is high enough to make a very satisfactory profit. These figures indicate the importance of good management, the return of only 18 pounds having been due to inexperience. They also point to the importance of local conditions of flora, climate, and soil.
There are many places where double the average honey crop can be obtained and these places are not confined to the well settled or southern regions of Canada.
Beekeepers are sometimes found succeeding in a region or location capable of comparatively low production, while few or no bees are kept in many a region or location where the conditions indicate high returns.

In order to learn about the locality conditions that favor high production, and to help beekeepers to study these and find out what returns they are getting and may expect, forms for making apiary returns are being published, and may be obtained on application to the Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The only condition requested is that a duplicate copy of the report be returned. The returns will be looked over by an expert, who will make suggestions and give any information relative to the management of the apiary, etc. that may be desired.

Sussex To Play Fredericton Team

FREDERICTON, Feb. 25.—The Sussex team who won the Eastern Amateur Hockey League Championship last night will play here next Tuesday against the Fredericton N. B. H. L. team. It will be the first meeting of teams of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League and the New Brunswick Hockey League this season and as such will attract attention.

The U. N. B. students were in high glee when news reached here that the Red and Black hockey team had won the Summer trophy but when they learned the closeness of the score there was unmistakable disappointment in the showing which the U. N. B. team had made.

The fact that U. N. B. had to play overtime to win from Kings added another to the long list of upsets hockey "dope," has been given this season, as comparison of previous performances shows that U. N. B. should have won easily. Conditions surrounding the contest may not have been avorable to U. N. B. but the result has not caused any marked feeling of optimism in U. N. B. circles as to the game with Dalhousie tomorrow night.

In other words a win by U. N. B. over Dalhousie in the game for the maritime Intercollegiate Hockey Championship will prove a big but agreeable surprise here.

Golden Wedding

On Wednesday, January 5th a very striking event took place in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Brown of Hunter River. On this date they celebrated their Golden Wedding. Some fifty guests assembled at their home to congratulate them on having travelled life's way together for the long period of half a century.

After having carefully reared a large family and having given them a good start in life Mr. and Mrs.
Brown are still hale and hearty and on the above mentioned date in their own good way gave their friends a real royal reception.

In Mr. and Mrs. Brown's family there were five sons and four daughters, all of whom are living but one son. The sons living are: William, Golden Plains, Sask.; Melville Gravelburg, Sask.; and Gordon, Hunter River. The name of the deceased son was George who died at Windhorst, Sask., less than two years ago.

The daughters are: Mrs. Eliza Jewell, Concord, N. H.; Mrs. Joseph Cutcliffe, Cape Traverse; Mrs.
Eldon Seaman, Hunter River and Mrs. Lorne Higgins, Hampton.

Among the different members of the family are found to Mr. and Mrs. Brown, twenty-six grand children and four great grand children. At the celebration the earlier part of the evening was spent in having the guests partake of the many tempting viands which had been carefully preparaed for the occasion. When the inner man had been satisfied Mr.
Murdoch Cutcliffe was appointed chairman and the following programme was carried out.

Instrumental music.
Reading of an address to Mr.
and Mrs. Brown by Rev. R. H.
Stavert.

Chorus.
Short speeches by Wm. Seaman, Thomas Johnston, Adam Brown, John Brown and Robert Brown, Mrs. Wm. Seaman, Mrs. Wm. Mc-Dougall, Mrs. Murdoch Cutcliffe and Rev. R. H. Stavert.

Solo—James Brown.
Readings—Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Wm. Seaman and Mr. Simon
Brown.

Duet—Mr. and Mrs. Simon
Brown.
Closing chorus "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were the recipients of a large number of gifts and not the least among these was over $200.00 in cash, considerable of which was in gold.

Before the gathering broke up Mr. Brown was honored, as was also Rev. R. H. Stavert and James Brown.

After having wished Mr. and Mrs. Brown many remaining days of happy wedded life all wanted the evening had indeed been a notable one and also a very pleasant one.

The following is the address presented to Mr. and Mrs.
Brown:

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Brown:
Dear friends:
For some reason or another a large number of your friends have assembled at your home this evening.

In the minds of some who are on the outside there may be a question as to what such a gathering may mean. Judging from your appearance one might be led to believe that it might be a wedding.
And yet this is not at all probable for anyone who has ever known of Mr. Brown and who knows of his popularity with the ladies would know that he would never have lived this long without having some one of them take care of him.

No, we know that it is not a wedding—in the ordinary sense of the word. It is something much more rare. It is a Golden Wedding—and these golden weddings we would have you know are very uncommon occurrences.

And we who have assembled here this evening take great pleasure in congratulating you, Mr.
Brown and your good partner Mrs.
Brown on having together reached the half century milestone on the way of your married life.

Throughout these fifty years the experiences of life have no doubt been many and varied. Some of them have been full of brightness and cheer, while others we would expect have been of the very opposite character. But through them all you have come victoriously. You are both yet hale and hearty and were we to judge from there are many years waiting for you in the depths of the unknown future. "Your home life has been a happy one but in your family as in all others the years have brought many changes. Children have come into your home—and those that came you might note in passing were not few in number—there being nine in all. And while some should be thus so highly valored while other homes are left so bare we are sometimes led to wonder.

But nevertheless these young people came into your home, grew in stature and wisdom, and in the course of time reached manhood and womanhood years. As they reached these years they one by one went out to make their own way in the world—and they have done well. You should certainly be proud of them all.

But while their coming and their going and their successes have all brought joy to you both yet your joy has not been unmixed with sorrow, for we realize that the family circle has not been left unbroken. No, for like in almost all families as large as yours there is a vacant chair.

Less than two years ago you were called upon to mourn the loss of your son George. We can perhaps only vaguely imagine how keenly you felt his death, and yet this was all borne with great calmness and Christian fortitude. You realized, we believe, that he had played his part in the game of life well—and having done so and then having gone to receive his reward you felt that his loved ones should not mourn his going. You had come to know too that these light afflictions which are but for a season work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory.

And tonight we your friends rejoice with you in your many triumphs through all of these fifty years and we all join in wishing you many days of happy wedded life in the years that yet remain to you both.

And we would ask you to kindly accept these small gifts as slight tokens of the esteem in which you are held by us.

May the days which are to com-bring to you as many joys as have the days which are gone and may there be just enough of the darker days to enoble your lives and to make you appreciate all the more the brightest days of life.

And in closing we would add that we know that in accordance with the laws of human nature we can never meet you to celebrate another golden wedding but while we cannot have this pleasure here today, we trust, that we all shall have the joy of meeting in that better home beyond where to bring Golden weddings are unnoticed for but where all because of their having been faithful unto death shall enter into eternal joy and its fullness and peace shall ever dwell together, and out of which home one shall go any more forever.

Signed on behalf of your many friends:

keely you felt his death, and yet have been bright or dark you have met them all bravely and have come through them enriched and enobled.
