

Heart Disease

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing and while it may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion. Real organic disease is incurable; but in one case in a hundred of heart trouble is curable. The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are supplied by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric. In another way, also, the heart is affected by the form of digestion. If the food is not properly digested, it causes gas and fermentation in the stomach, and this causes a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest, caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath. Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart. The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food. This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contains valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form. It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50 cents. Little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE sad news was quickly circulated around town yesterday forenoon that Mr. P. W. Morrison, had breathed his last. Death came quite suddenly at about ten a. m. of paralysis of the heart. Deceased had been in the employ until recently of the Merchants' Bank of Halifax, now the Royal Bank of Canada for about 20 years, 15 years of which was served in Summerside for several years, latterly as manager. The only surviving brother is Mr. James A. Morrison, a commission merchant at Chatham, N. B., and one sister resides in Halifax. Besides these a wife and five sons are left to mourn, to whom the sympathy of the community will be tendered.

The tug Frank C. Batt was gaily decked with bunting yesterday in honor of the event of the previous evening in which the Captain was one of the most interested. About 11 o'clock Capt. Read's steam launch also took the notion to celebrate and started off on its own accord steering the young man is charge who quickly transferred himself into a dory and let the launch go its course. Though a little late for the event its course was in the direction of the scene of the wedding but the Railway Wharf interfered and there it was captured without much injury either to it or the wharf. The young man who believed he was narrowly escaping a serious accident was not an expert engineer and failed to account for the running away of the boat but on examination it was found that a lubricator had blown off.

A joke laughable for those who so successfully arranged it but unpleasant for the unsuspecting victim was played on a young man not far from Summerside a night or so ago. He was in the habit of enjoying a tete-a-tete and occasionally lingered longer than the hour of closing the doors. He started for home on the night in question at quite a respectable hour, but found the regular way of exit closed and locked. Other doors also refused to open and window after window was tried without success until the noise of his efforts, and those of his partner, were overheard by the lady of the house, who kindly assured the young lady that she might give her spouse a lodging for the night. After further trial the young lady discovered one window which yielded easily, and through this the happy lover made his escape with a "snakal" good night. But also the footing was not the ordinary and into a tub of water, he was the victim of a well planned snare. The lady of the house has proved her innocence and the perpetrator is still at large.

THE last sad rites of interring the remains of the late Adam Morrison, of North Tryon, took place Wednesday afternoon from his home to the Presbyterian Cemetery. Rev. George C. Robertson conducted the funeral services. A large number of friends followed the remains to their last resting place. The deceased died quite suddenly on Monday at a ripe old age, having passed by several years the four score mile-stone on the journey of life. He was possessed of an excellent constitution, and during his long life was rarely known to be in anything but the best of health. His last few years were spent calmly and peacefully in the quiet of his home, where he enjoyed all the comforts that a loving helpmate and dutiful family could bestow. The deceased was one of the pillars of the Tryon Presbyterian Church and had been for many years one of its most worthy elders. His sterling qualities as a friend and neighbor will cause the name of Adam Morrison to kindle kindest thoughts in the minds of all who knew him. Thus one by one the older residents are passing to the Great Beyond. The tumult of their lives is lost, the voices of their past are gone, yet God forbid that we should lose the echoes that remain. Mr. Morrison leaves two sons, William at home, and Coun. James Morrison, of Summerside and two daughters, Mrs. Douglas, of Nova Scotia, and Mrs. James Robertson, of Bonshaw. Only about three months ago Mr. William Morrison and wife were called upon to mourn the loss of their only son, who had just grown to manhood. THE GUARDIAN extends sympathy to the bereaved.
