statement at all," Dr. MacMillan said, "I would say my Hon. friend so loves the limelight that he wanted it to be known in the future that he was the first man who proposed it in this country.

Charging the Premier with dictatorial action toward his cabinet, he said it was well known that the Premier had a poor opinion of some of his government colleagues.

He noted in this connection an item in the Public Accounts, 1947, with reference to attendance at a potato conference held at St. John's, Nfld., in the late Mr. J. W. Boulter.

Why was the Minister of Public Works and not the Minister of Agriculture in attendance?

Premier Jones: "Mr. Barbour went to that conference at the particular request of the Potato Growers' Association."

Dr. MacMillan: "The only evidence I have is the statement of a man who is not living. Why the Potato Growers' Association should ask for the Minister of Public Works is something that calls for an explanation."

He added that the Premier's great weakness was that he had "an utter contempt for any man's opinion except his own. It is as if you can't see anything good in the opinions of your colleagues."

He charged that in the packing house strike situation, the Premier had tackled a bigger job than he could handle when he infringed on civil rights.

Dr. MacMillan asked what had happened at Falconwood when steel for a barn was bought, not by the man who was building the barn but by another party, who received a commission.

construction of potato warehouses. The potato growers were the losers because of the attitude of the Provincial Government.

Premier Jones: "They don't lose anything. They are all financed now. They don't come into the picture at all."

Dr. MacMillan: "Why isn't the Federal grant paid?"

Premier Jones: "Because the agreement is still pending."

breeders were called upon to cooperate. Mr. Earl Ings, Mt. Herbert and President of the Dairymen's Association stated that the dairymen had some idea of helping in a matter such as this.

Dr. Bishop believed that artificial breeding was the only way to improve the dairy herds. In this way, he stated, Denmark raised her grade cattle to almost pure-bred production standards.

Mr. Rupert Godfrey, Marshfield, advocated a return to Shorthorn bulls. He stated the farmers wanted beef-type calves and many stopped using the unit when the shorthorns were discontinued.

It was pointed out by a number of experts that so far beef cattle have not reacted satisfactorily to artificial breeding practice.

grant will be forthcoming. Mr. W. W. Gibson, Marshfield, vice-president of the Unit, presided in lieu of Mr. Guy Rodd, Brackley, president.

Mr. James Carr was secretary to a well attended meeting of leading agriculturists.

Stating that the Unit was the greatest thing for the improvement of dairy cattle in the Province, Mr. Claude Smith, East Royalty, who eventually moved the resolution, spoke of the recent success of the Unit.
