

Was Weak and Nervous.

Mr. Paul Poul, Cascapedia, Que., writes: "About five years ago I gave all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ, and tissue of the heart, and increasing the circulation of the blood, and relieving the system of anæmia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RANLEY'S COURTSHIP

Every one in the house felt sure that Ranley was in love with Lella. She herself was very certain of it, for all of the young men who had ever boarded with her mother had gazed at her the most soulfully and remoted her the most frequently with candy and flowers.

These tributes were not bestowed in person, but were left at the door of the dark back parlor, which Lella and her mother used as a sleeping room. It was something of a disappointment to her when she first realized that the delightfully mysterious boxes were the gifts of the exceedingly plain Ranley, for neither his appearance nor his manner was in the least romantic. Lella had her sentimental dreams, but the comfortable reality of the sweets and posies made up for the shy, halting speech and awkward presence of her admirer, so she accepted his attentions with almost as much grace and coquetry as if Ranley had been the embodiment of her girlish ideals.

One evening as Lella was about to join the group of boarders who were trying in almost suffocated silence to get a breath of air on the front steps she was stopped in the hall by Ranley. With one impulse the boarders ceased fanning as they heard his say: "Miss Lella, may I speak to you alone a minute in the parlor?" "It has come," hissed the motherly boarder to the vacation school teacher by her side. "I knew he'd propose this week."

"It's about time," giggled the young girl stenographer, who had often looked enviously at the bouquets with which Lella decorated her simple dimity frocks.

"Pray hush," admonished the middle-aged man who prided himself upon his courtly manner. "Our talk is de trop. We must not interrupt the course of love's young dream."

His fellow boarders sniffed at his words, but sympathized with his desire not to interfere with the forthcoming declaration, so they sat silent, while Ranley, behind the open screened windows, coughed and cleared his throat with a preliminary solemnity which brought the blushes to Lella's cheeks and raised the expectation of the boarders to fever heat.

"Miss Lella, you—you must have noticed my attentions to you," he stammered. "Yes," murmured Lella, almost inaudibly, but the boarders somehow knew what she was saying. "I wanted to tell you, to ask you—that is, it means a lot to me. Will you—oh, Miss Lella, I hesitate to ask you, but—He struggled and coughed and then, with a supreme effort, continued, "I've got a c-c-cold. Will you make me a m-m-mustard plaster?"

The boarders gasped. The motherly boarder, who was the first to regain her composure, exclaimed: "Well, I never in all my born days!" "The insurance clerk said: 'Me, too.' For a week or so there was a noticeable coolness in Lella's manner toward Ranley. He, however, kept up a campaign of chocolates and carnations that melted her heart. One night the young girl stenographer tiptoed out to the front steps where the boarders as usual had assembled and announced in a stage whisper to the insurance clerk: "He's taken her into the parlor again."

"We don't wish to eavesdrop, of course," remarked the middle-aged man, "but it is only polite to maintain silence." The mild chatter accordingly ceased and the depressing voice of Ranley was heard humbly begging leave "to tell M-Miss Lella something."

"I'm sure I'll be glad to hear anything you have to say," bravely helped Lella. "Well, I thought you'd like to know—" A pause. "Yes, I saw your mother's cook washing the dog in the dish pan."

The boarders looked at each other blankly and the middle-aged man surprised them by saying: "Well, upon my word, I fear it's all off." The next night, however, when the boarders looked at each other blankly and the middle-aged man surprised them by saying: "Well, upon my word, I fear it's all off."

SICK HEADACHE

A Symptom of Troubles Which are Removed by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Sick headaches are not merely afflictions to be borne as patiently as possible—they are danger signals. They never come unless the digestive system is out of order, and their regular recurrence is proof positive of serious trouble and a warning that should be heeded promptly.

Sick headaches are caused by Indigestion, Biliousness or Constipation, and no amount of "headache powders" will do more than temporarily relieve them. The only way to get rid of them entirely is to cure the Constipation or Indigestion that is causing them, and nothing will do this quicker or more effectively than Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are purely vegetable in character, and are free from any harmful drug. For over fifty years they have been in constant use in Canada, and have proved most effective in regulating the bowels, aiding digestion, banishing sick headaches and restoring vigorous health.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have stood the test for over fifty years, 25c. at all dealers. W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont.
