Grains are filling satisfactorily and a fair yield is in prospect; in Prince Edward Island a heavy crop is indicated. The digging of early potatoes has commenced, with satisfactory results, but blight, which is prevalent amongst the later seed varieties will reduce the yield considerably. Other roots are progressing favourably. Only a light crop of apples is in prospect and the yield of other fruits will be below average.

ACTS OF VANDALISM — The Experimental Station, Charlottetown requests the co-operation of parents in Charlottetown and vicinity in the protection of valuable experimental crops now under test at this station. Recently, valuable varieties of scab and blight resistant potatoes have been destroyed by children. These acts, on the part of children, have been drawn to the attention of the RCMP. In order to avoid disagreeable consequences, parents should warn their children to remain away from the Experimental Station at all times.

Mrs. Joseph F. Shea of Brooklyn, New York, arrived in the city Wednesday by plane to visit her sister and family of 57 Brighton Ave. She left on Thursday for her home in Tignish accompanied by her niece, Miss Ida Brennan, who arrived in the city Monday night to spend her holidays with her mother at 57 Brighton Ave., also relatives in Tignish.

NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED — Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons of Moncton, N.B., was struck by a race horse at the Charlottetown driving park yesterday but was not seriously injured. She was knocked unconscious and taken to the Charlottetown Hospital for treatment and observation. Last night her condition was said to be good. No bones were broken but she was bruised and shaken up. The accident occurred while a Moncton-owned horse, Lew McKinney was working out for the free-for-all. Mrs. Fitzsimmons was crossing the track before post time and did not see the horse.

Forty-five returned men arrived in the City by bus yesterday evening from Borden, part of the 700 Maritimers who arrived in Halifax Wednesday on the "Cameronia." Many of them were met at the Canadian Legion Home by their wives, parents, and other relatives and most of those who lived outside the City were taken to their homes by car.

Some, however, chose to accept the hospitality of the Legion where lunches had already been prepared for them. Included among those entertained at the Legion were Gnr. Albert Conway, New Zealand, P.E.I.; Cpl. Charles McDonald, Newport; L. Bdr. Peter Campbell, Newport; Pte. Charles Sheehan, Bear River; Tpr. B.M. MacKinnon, Kilmuir; Pte. K.M. MacLaren, Brudenell; Gnr. J.H. Morrissey, Newtown Cross; Gnr. P.R. MacPherson, Glen Martin; Pte. M.J. McKenzie, Melville; Pte. G.W. Stewart, Georgetown; Pte. George Reynolds, Murray River; Cfn. L.W.R. Smith, Montreal; and Gnr. J.C. McFarlane, 76 Gerald Street, Charlottetown.

All records for attendance for any one day at Old Home Week, Charlottetown, were smashed yesterday when 7,983 persons stood in front of the ticket windows and bought tickets to see the big card of horse racing yesterday afternoon. Since 2,000 season tickets had previously been sold, there were 9,983 paid admissions to the track yesterday.

They filled the grandstand and the bleachers; they overflowed into the centre field by the hundreds, and some sat on the fences and the roofs of nearby buildings. There was no point of vantage but what had people on it in numbers.

The ideal day no doubt had much to do with such a large crowd turning out. The sky was almost cloudless, the temperature was around 70 with a gentle breeze blowing, and the sun, never obscured for a moment, shone down with a warmth that was exhilarating but never uncomfortable.

Between the races, the great crowds turned their attention to the vaudeville which helped them to forget the rather long delays which occurred at times between heats.

The midway did an even greater business than on the opening day, and hundreds of young girls and boys—and even older persons—had the time of their lives on the Ferris wheel and other cleverly designed appliances which did everything but turn the youngsters inside out before finally depositing them safely to a position of stable equilibrium.

The bright cheerful evening of Aug. 4, 1945 found the Cornwall United Church almost filled with friends and relatives eagerly awaiting the marriage of Doris Christine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Millar of Charlottetown, to Elmer Bertram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan R. Clow of Cornwall.

The bride was attended by her sister Ruby and Eric MacFadyen, a friend of the groom acted as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Stanley Hyde and Roy Crosby of Cornwall. The church was decorated with bouquets of mixed flowers and the reserved pews were marked with white bows.

To the strains of the Wedding March, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father.

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown, fashioned princess style with inserted lace panels. Her full length embroidered veil fell from a shamrock-shaped headdress. She carried a bouquet of white lilacs and red roses. Her only ornament was a necklace of pearls.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of flowered organza over pink taffeta fashioned in slipper length with fitted bodice and a sweetheart neckline, a matching finger-tip veil was arranged from a heart shaped headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium.

The bride's mother wore a blue crepe dress and silver fox cape with white accessories, while the groom's mother wore a black crepe dress trimmed with American Beauty roses with matching accessories. They each wore a corsage of pink roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J.R. Skinner and nuptial music was appropriately rendered by Mrs. Gordon MacMillan.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party and guests retired to the beautiful flower garden of Mrs. Gordon MacMillan where pictures were taken, after which they motored to the Queen Hotel and a delicious wedding dinner was served. The groom assisted the bride in cutting the three-tiered wedding cake.

Later in the evening, a merry crowd arrived at the home of the groom for a cheverie, the remainder of the evening being spent in music and dancing.

The happy couple later left on a trip to Montreal and Ottawa where they visited many places of interest.

The bride's gift to the groom was a stirling signet ring and to the bridesmaid a pair of gold earrings.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold signet ring and to the best man a cigarette lighter. A person of interest at the wedding was the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Samuel Clow in her 93rd year. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Reagh Moore of Ottawa. Mrs. Moore, a sister of the bride; also her sister Ruby of Ottawa.

The happy couple will reside in Meadow Bank where the groom is a prosperous young farmer
