LATE BLIGHT FEARED—Late blight in potatoes has been reported in a few miles south of Montague. As yet the outbreak does not appear to be widespread and farmers are hopeful that it will not become serious. Potatoes have been making fair growth in the southern King's County area and recently weather was retarding development.

KING'S COUNTY L.O.L.—The annual King's County L.O.L. parade took place in connection with Dalziel L.O.L. Murray Harbor North, on a recent Sunday. Alex Durey acted as Marshal for the parade which formed at their Lodge room and marched to the Presbyterian Church where the pastor, Rev. H. C. Henderson preached an able sermon. The parade made a fine appearance and was one of the largest parades held in years. This offering which was very generous was devoted to the Protestant Orphanage.

NEW MINISTER WELCOMED—At the Montague Church of Christ on Sunday morning, the new minister, Rev. Robert Dryan, occupied the pulpit and was given a warm welcome by the congregation. He came to Montague from the Tuxedo Park Church of Christ in Calgary, Alberta. His wife and their baby boy accompanied him. For his first sermon he preached on the text I Corinthians 5:20. "Now therefore we are ambassadors for Christ." He told the congregation that as minister of the church he was interested primarily in only one thing, telling of the plan of salvation. He said that the Bible as it is customary on the first Sunday of each month, he preached at the Cape Bear Church of Christ in the afternoon. He succeeds Rev. Paul Richardson as minister of the Montague church.

Memorial Service At Valleyfield

An honor roll, containing the names of men and women from the congregation who served in the Second World War, was unveiled at Valleyfield Church Sunday evening. The minister, Rev. A. D. Stirling, was assisted by Rev. D. M. Sinclair, a former minister of the church and now at Sydney, N.S. The unveiling was performed by Mrs. Alexander Gillis, mother of Pte. G. H. Gillis, one of the two men from the congregation who made the supreme sacrifice. The other was Pte. Alex McPherson, a veteran of the First Great War, killed in action during the fighting in the spring of 1940 which resulted in the evacuation of Dunkerque. He was serving with the Imperial Army. Pte. G. H. Gillis was severely wounded in the attack on the hospital at Charlottetown. After Mr. Stirling read the names, the congregation stood silent for two minutes. A Bible was presented to each man and woman on the honor roll. Mr. Sinclair preached from the text, Isaiah 21:11-12, "Watchman, what of the night? The watchman said, 'A morning cometh, and also the night.'"

Morning had returned to the world after a night of war, the speaker said, but the peace was an uneasy one, with much of the causes of the recent conflict, suspicion, fear, and hatred still remaining. The war which just ended was more than a battle between nations, it was a conflict between ideas and ideas, between good and evil. The only solution to the world's troubles, Mr. Sinclair said, was to be found in a return to God. The alternative was a third world war. During the service the Brooklyn trio, Willard Bruce, Mac Munroe and Johnny Bears, sang a special selection. Sunday morning another roll of honor was unveiled at the Orwell Head United Church, where Mr. Stirling also the minister. Mr. Sinclair was the guest speaker.

FIGHT TSETSE FLY IN SOUTH AFRICA

CAPE TOWN, August 7.—(CP)—Gonorrhea is a combative nagana, native name for a cattle disease caused by the tsetse fly, have been announced by Agriculture Minister Strauss. The measures include the clearing of wide belts of brush country to prevent the fly from spreading from the infected game reserves in Zululand, the import of 100,000 doses of the new anti-nagana drug, an aerial survey which will help officials choose the best areas for clearing and spraying, a larger veterinary field staff, and experiments with insect-destroying smoke screens released from aircraft. Mr. Strauss said: "The spread of the disease is serious, and can probably be compared with the last epidemic several years ago. It has extended to the extreme limits of the area of potential infection." E. Kluge, nagana research officer, will visit the Tanganyika tsetse fly research laboratory to study the latest methods of control. The measures projected by the amazing drama of the atomic bomb, "Rendezvous '24," the new 20th Century-Fox release opening today at the Capitol Theatre, called the story of the host secret agent in the world, the film, featuring William Gargan, Pat O'Moore, Marie Palmer and an outstanding supporting cast, is packed with a thousand hidden dangers and violent thrills.

Charges King With Courting Communists For Partisan Ends

NORANDA, Que., Aug. 7.—(CP)—Solon Low, National leader of the Social Credit party in an address here, said Prime Minister Mackenzie King "deliberately courted the communist party in the 1945 federal election." Mr. Low spoke in behalf of Real Caouette, Social Credit candidate in the Sept. 18 federal byelection in Pontiac. The Pontiac vacancy was caused by the death of W.R. McDonald, Liberal. Mr. Low said "the government of Canada is responsible for the shameful conditions we witness recently when so many government employees took the stand to admit loyalty to a government other than Canada." He charged this was proof of the courtship of the Communist party in 1945 and said ostensibly the party was outlawed in the early part of the war but later it was permitted, and as proof of government friendship a large number of civil servants of doubtful loyalty were hired to important posts. Mr. Low charged the country has been pushed into socialism and that the Federal Government takes 25 per cent of the total production of the nation and provincial, county and municipal government take another 25 per cent, leaving only 50 per cent for the people to carry on with.

WAR VETERANS URGED TO SAVE GRATUITIES

WELLINGTON, N. Z., August 7.—(CP)—Over 72 per cent of war veterans in New Zealand have left their gratuities on deposit in government banks instead of drawing them for immediate use. When all claims have been investigated about $2,000,000 worth of gratuities will have been deposited to the credit of war veterans, but at the present rate of drawing the great majority will not want to operate on their accounts. To encourage veterans to have their gratuities on deposit and to avoid inflation, the government is offering 7 1/2 per cent interest, which is much higher than can be obtained on the open money market.

PLASTIC BOMBER NOSES MAKE BABY BATHTUBS

OTTAWA, Ont.—One reason that the sale of odd lots of surplus war property occasionally hits unexpected volume is that some ingenious people figure out new uses for products originally manufactured for totally different purposes. For example, bombers' discarded glass noses are being offered as bathtubs. So far, they have been used only for babies. Perhaps when some of the larger airplanes are dismantled and offered for sale Pop will look like a goldfish each Saturday.

No Legislation Re Free Zoning This Session

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—(CP)—Representatives of Halifax, Saint John, N.B. and Quebec City, who came to Ottawa to urge the Government to introduce legislation in the present session that will authorize the establishment of free zones in Canadian ports, were informed today by Government officials that no legislation could be contemplated until the next session of Parliament. The delegates learned that the inter-departmental committee, now studying the briefs presented by interested Canadian cities, would not make its report until Dec. 15. This report will decide whether Canada will have free ports or not. The inter-departmental committee, composed of representatives from the transport, revenue, construction, finance and trade and commerce departments, is headed by J. Emile St. Laurent, vice-chairman of the National Harbors Board. Armand Viau, industrial commissioner of Quebec, who presented the delegation's brief to Trade Minister MacKinnon, Transport Minister Chevrette and Fisheries Minister Bridges, said there were 54 free ports in the world. He said they greatly facilitated the free movement of goods and would be of immeasurable benefit to Canada in attempts to increase foreign trade. The delegation did not want free ports for their cities, alone, but for all Canadian ports in Canada.

Ellen's Diary

rather hurried one for if the morning saw the machines commence the cutting at Rob's, the afternoon was to bring a freshening of the family here. "Now what I want to ask one of ours when they return from there is the news at the corner?" For there one is able to get in touch with the four corners of the community. There was "nothing new" any of the farmers who chanced along said. There was talk of the harvest, and some were at the potato-spraying machine young farmer was on his way to the mill with a grist to be crushed for his haws and another when he bought a fig of chewin' gum he meant as well to home to the roguin' 'n' of potatoes. Mrs. M. at the corner-store, at the time reminded me of the woman folk at Alder's when the men returned from the rise to the hay-field. She had time to breathe easier now

Quickly and so be prepared for the afternoon's hay. It is a pleasant experience to ride in a well-worn horse that delivers no dreadful last letters in the war years, though it may take and bring messages of much import to those concerned. This mallow, and his best of wives are going on a holiday visit among relatives and friends in the States. "Yes, on Friday morning," he said and added in a war-ner that made me think of James. "I don't change my mind—I don't suppose I will now." And so in the afternoon the last of our hay was saved to a stack which Rob, as usual, up by the line fence. If at the beginning of the haying—when James had made an approximate estimate of the field—I had the newest red calf a careless morning call. It was as I was careful to explain to her: "You may as well put away your sugar—I will not feel your door so badly 'at way for we're not going to have nearly enough hay to feed you and the rest of the cattle through the winter—between me and you." I said "We're going to be in terrible circumstances in respect to fodder. No hay and the strain short and already heading out." However, James came to from the last of the new moon was fading into the blue of the heavens and reached a long happy sigh—or the nearest to a happy one that James can draw! "Ellen," as said "We've a wonderful lot of hay—it quaked up a lot better than I expected. To tell you the truth, Ellen I hated to commence the haying this year, the prospects were so poor. So there it is. Then a red cow will one day graze on the Summer meadows at Alder's—after all my concern to the contrary!" Until tomorrow. Diary. Good-night.

JACKIE 'BUTCH' JENKINS SHINES IN PERSUASIVE CAST OF 'BOYS RANCH' Pint-sized Jackie 'Butch' Jenkins again proves himself one of the screen's most ingratiating performers, this time as one of the youngsters in 'Boys Ranch', persuasive drama of the regeneration of a group of homeless boys, now on view at the Prince Edward Theatre. Although primarily an honest and engrossing study of what sympathetic understanding and a wholesome environment will do for under-privileged juvenile delinquents, the picture is lightened with humorous touches and it is in these that the delightful 'Butch' casts his spell. It is something to see him do away with an entire pig, which he has won because of his success at shepherds; to see him master a bucking mule; to watch him imitate the manners of the grandfather who has brought him up. The performance of young 'Butch' alone makes 'Boys Ranch' worth seeing. WORDS' HOTTEST SECRET SENSATIONAL FILM THEME Who are the men and women Hitler left behind to work for 'Der Tag' with the atomic bomb? Did they continue—after the end of the war—to perfect a secret weapon with which they could destroy cities thousands of miles away by means of radio-controlled atomic bombs? Is there anyone who can say they do not now hold this devastating secret? These are some of the dramatic-
