

Coffee Per Se

We needed two short words to fill the line, so we put in the "per se" which some one says means "By itself considered." There's difference in coffees. The best coffee is the kind that's freshly roasted, and ground from the bean just before use. Coffee beans retain all the aroma and flavor, while ground coffee loses much by contact with the air. The coffee we make a specialty of is ground after you order it, in our electric mill, and the beans are carefully blended, and freshly roasted. Put your expectations high and order a pound—60c.

Devil Takes All Serbian Clean Babies?

Medical Science in Serbia Bound up With Enormous Growth of Myths and Superstitions

Unlucky Friday.

It is extremely dangerous to do anything whatever for a child on Friday, which was the Turkish Sunday. One mother who was asked to do something for the child on Friday explained that she had learned by bitter experience that this must not be done. She had done so twice. The first time the boy almost immediately fell off a horse and broke his legs. The second time he came down with scarlet fever. She was just about to do it again on a third occasion, forgetting her two earlier sad experiences, when she happened to glance out of the door and saw that the boy was leaning over a well and that his head had already dropped in. He certainly would have fallen in if she had carried out a mistaken intention of doing something for the child on Friday.

Getting public health areas in Serbia is a pioneer undertaking. One doctor to 30,000 people is about the usual figure and the trained nurse is unknown. In the absence of the doctor and the nurse, the Serbian grandmothers have accumulated a large store of traditions, maxims and myths, in regard to sickness and its causes, prevention and cure. Occasionally these superstitions have some merit. Often they are important. Sometimes they are terribly harmful. Among some of these firmly established traditions are the following:

Try This on Your Baby

1. It is very dangerous for a baby to be entirely clean for the devil prefers to take a clean baby. The dirt which accumulates behind the ears and on the scalp of a baby who is properly neglected soon forms a sort of crust. It is very dangerous to remove this, for the devil would almost certainly abduct the child. The crust of dirt is also useful in keeping away evil spirits and insects. A Red Cross nurse visited a baby who had been thoroughly cleaned up the day before and found a large streak of soot across the baby's forehead. This had been placed there immediately after the mother's return from the clinic and its efficacy was proven by the fact that the devil had not taken the baby.

2. It is necessary to bind the child's small hands closely to their sides, to bind their feet closely together and wrap them tightly in order to straighten the baby's arms and legs. This makes it impossible to keep the baby clean or dry, but that is of no importance compared with having legs and arms straight. The nurses explain that babies' arms and legs are not bound in America, and that nevertheless the Americans have relatively straight arms and legs. It is difficult to secure real conviction on this point, however. The chain of proof to the Serbian mothers is very clear. All Serbian babies are born with crooked legs and arms. They are all bound tightly in order to straighten them. The grown-up Serbs have straight arms and legs. What better proof could be desired. A nurse who had explained the hardships and suffering, as well as the uselessness of binding a baby's arms and legs to the satisfaction, apparently, of
