FLYING OVER ATLANTIC

LONDON, Feb. 12.—New York Times cable.—In an article in the Daily Express, Claude Graham-White forecasts twenty years hence there will be a regular trans-Atlantic flying service, whereby it will be possible to journey by a giant aeroplane from London to New York in fifteen hours. He says that the aeroplane of the future will be a many-engined machine, by which the risk of a mechanical breakdown will be reduced almost to the vanishing point. It will have wide spread and multiple planes, its horse power will be reckoned in thousands, instead of hundreds, and a speed of 200 miles an hour will be attained.

The HEINTZMAN Piano is the Marvel of Master Musicians the World Over

For the past twenty years pianists and concert singers of world-wide fame have been performing in Canada. It surely stands to reason when pianists such as Reubenstein, Hambourg, dePachmann, Hyllsted—And operatic singers, Melba, Nordica, Plancon, Jonas, Albani—When artists like these, who may use any instrument they desire—prefer and insist on the HEINTZMAN—it must be a good piano. But it costs no more than inferior instruments.

GERMANS FROM WEST AFRICA MAY HAVE ESCAPED.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The Spanish steamer Isla De Pany, which has arrived at Cadiz from the island of Fernando Po, West Africa, has several Germans on board, according to a Havas despatch from Madrid. Other Germans who made the trip north on the steamer disembarked in the Canary Islands, from where they hope to reach Holland. Fernando Po is a Spanish island in the Gulf of Guinea, and it is probable that the Germans, aboard the Isla De Pany made their escape from the German Kamerun region, which borders the Gulf.

PRINCE EDWARD THEATRE

Owing to the regrettable interruption in communication with the mainland yesterday the great serial picture "The Diamond from the Sky" was not shown at the Prince Edward Theatre. This was a disappointment entirely beyond the control of the manager, Mr. Galagher, who, however, with characteristic resourcefulness, gave his patrons a programme which was highly satisfactory in every way. In all there were eight reels, consisting of "The Hazards of Helen," two three-reel Broadway successes and a comedy with the famous English music hall star, Billy Reeves. "A daughter's strange inheritance" was the title of a very thoughtful drama of real life and a perfect sermon on intemperance. It pictured vividly some of the extreme consequences of over-indulgence in strong drink, and in the happy conclusion was a vindication of the superiority of the mind over the body. An actress who is given to drink is married to a rich man, and in spite of her love she cannot resist the evil and finally succumbs to it. Years after her daughter suddenly shows symptoms of an inheritance of the mother's failing and after a long and hard struggle her father, assisted by medical specialists, succeeds in curing her. Her mind such an abhorrence of drink that she herself at length prevails upon her parent to abstain altogether. "The Law of Life" was another splendid picture in three parts and was a happy change from the ordinary moral drama. The plot is a story of a King who had the leading role which he admirably filled. The comedy provided a good deal of wholesome laughter.

DR. BURKE OFFICIATED.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The first anniversary of the landing of the Canadian contingent in France was given a fitting celebration to-day when services were held at St. Margaret's, which, standing on the same ground as Westminster Abbey, is the particular church of the houses of parliament opposite, and at Westminster Cathedral, a short distance away. Canon Carnegie's address dealt with the moral and spiritual lethargy of the nation which has weakened by a set of false notions wrong. That awakening and the response to the call of duty in which the overseas dominions had participated, the preacher regarded as the most momentous and inspiring episode in the history of the Anglo-Saxon race, but his closing operation, he said that Britons the world over had become conscious that the ultimate cords which united them were moral cords—the maintenance of truth, justice and humanity.

Lieut. Col. Steacy, director of chaplains, was among the officiating clergy, Major Bayley, from the front and Major the Rev. C. W. Gordon were also present. The church was filled with soldiers including part of the first pioneers, from camp, and also the staff of the Canadian pay and record office.

Major the Rev. Mr. Burke, of Toronto, (a native of Georgetown; P. F. I.) officiated at Mass in Westminster Cathedral Cardinal Bourne, in his address, commanded "the courage of the representatives of a young and growing nation, and give up their homes voluntarily to face danger, wounds and death."

CLOSE BRITISH MUSEUMS AND ART GALLERIES

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Premier Asquith to-day received an influential deputation who called upon him to urge a reconsideration by the Government of the decision to close the museums and picture galleries. Recently there have been many strong protests against the closing of the institutions.

Mr. Asquith in reply to the deputation to-day said there was necessity for every possible economy during the war, which was being fought under unprecedented conditions. He announced that with certain restrictions the national gallery, the Victoria and Albert Museum, so far as the popular portions of them were concerned and the reading room of the British Museum would still be available for public use, but that beyond these concessions he could give no hope that the Government would recede from its decision to close them.

AN OPERATION

A certain sergeant was speaking at a recruiting meeting held at a village in the North of Ireland, which was noted for not having contributed one recruit in the army. He laid before the likely ones the most enticing attractions of army life. He told them of the glorious deeds already done by their countrymen and pointed out that any one of them might be an O'Leary and bring honor and fame to himself and his village. Yet his glowing oration evidently had no effect on the stolid villagers, for not one stepped forward to enlist. He grew red in the face and yet waxed more eloquent. "Fellow citizens," he was heard to say, "the young men of Ireland are the backbone of the empire. What we have to do is to train that backbone and bring it to the front." That village now has recruits in the army.

LOTS OF CHANCES.

"1916 being leap year, Clinton D. Smith, Jr., begs to announce that he is still a bachelor."
"N. B.—His antique furniture goes with him."
A wealthy young Long Island bachelor posted in 150 neatly engraved cards to young ladies, bearing the above inscription.
Mr. Smith is 32 years old, the son of Judge Clinton D. Smith, enjoys a comfortable income, such as the author of the furniture, necessary servants and a generous wardrobe. He is secretary of the Flushing Country Club, is looked upon as a gifted tango dancer, plays golf well, and is reputed to be more or less handy in mixing things for luncheons and at festive dinners. The antique furniture is generally accepted as genuine.
In five days he had received ten acceptances with provisos attached, thirty absolute acceptances, and seventy-one inquiries as to the authenticity of the furniture. The returns are coming in, but it is evident that the furniture has attracted far more attention than its owner.

SOLDIERS QUARTERS IN SUMMERSIDE

Lieut. Col. Grant, A. E. M. S. accompanied by Capt. Hattie, P. M. O., Halifax, after inspecting the military quarters in Georgetown and Charlottetown arrived in Summerside on Saturday and after inspecting the different quarters in Summerside left yesterday morning for Souris where after inspecting the quarters there will leave for Halifax. At Summerside they made a thorough inspection of the different barracks as well as to the general health of the men quartered there. In an interview with Col. Grant he expressed himself as well pleased with conditions here having found the different quarters in excellent condition, and when a few alterations are completed in the sanitary arrangements expressed his opinion that they would equal if not be better than similar quarters anywhere in Maritime Provinces being much better than some of the quarters in Charlottetown at present time. He expressed his pleasure at the most satisfactory way in which the people had helped in furnishing the different buildings all free of rent and that they were deserving of great praise for the manner in which they were aiding the military authorities. He also inspected the commissary department where he found everything in fine condition. The food of a military hospital here was thoroughly gone into and it is pleasing to know that arrangements are under way for the establishing of a military hospital in the Dunn property, in Cedar Street.

BRITONS WARNED TO GUARD AGAINST FOUL PLAY ON SHIPS

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The board of trade has issued an official warning to shipowners and merchants of the possibility of "foul play on British and neutral ships through the machinations of enemy agents," who in numerous instances are believed to have caused fires and explosions. The warning says that great ingenuity has been displayed in endeavoring to work to vessels. In one case it was found that the wood used for packing purposes had been so treated that it would burst into flames under slight friction. Shipowners are requested in the warning to satisfy themselves that no firm having enemy interests shall have anything to do with the handling of ship or cargo in which they are interested.

The Man Who Looks Ahead

Most persons have some goal to which they steer their hopes, but many thoughtlessly unnerve the hand, and dull the brain by faulty living, then wonder why success is not achieved

Among the everyday habits of life that often upset health are tea and coffee drinking—ancient and respectable customs, but harmful to many.

The average cup of tea or coffee contains from 1-2 to 3 grains of caffeine, which, gradually accumulating in the system, often causes nervous prostration, heart trouble, mental depression, etc.

There's an easy way out of tea and coffee troubles—quit both tea and coffee and use
