

THE QUEEN'S COUNTY GUARDIAN

Head Offices in New Prowse Block—Charlottetown.

The latest news, first of all.

Miss Ella McDonald, city, leaves this morning for Vancouver.

E. Steinfeld, City, was at the Carleton Hotel, Halifax, last Saturday.

Word was received in the city by a party a few days ago to the effect that there are over two hundred cases of typhoid fever in Clagary.

Andrew Mooney, Little Harbor, has returned from the St John Exhibition.

Miss Ollie Cook, city, returns tomorrow from spending two weeks visiting friends in Pownal.

Rev. G. M. Young, who has been spending some days here, left Saturday morning on return to Halifax.

Oen Oslen, who has been spending a couple of weeks here the guest of W. G. Gillespie, City, left Saturday morning for his home in Providence, R. I.

Mrs Steven Tuplin of Maitland, N. S., arrived in the City Saturday. During her visit here she will be the guest of Mrs George E. Ross.

Rev. J. F. Floyd preached at both services in the Central Christian Church yesterday. He preached at the evening service on the subject "The Spiritual Rock," based on the text I Cor. 10-4.

Misses Clara McDonald, Summerside, Nan Crechan, Newcastle, N.B., and Irene and Nan Maloney, of Rogersville, N. B., have arrived in the city to attend Notre Dame Academy.

Among the outward passengers from this City Saturday were Miss Ethel Poole to Pictou, Wm Moran to Summerside, Mrs Geo Mugford to Halifax, Misses Margaret Herrell and Lelia Levois to Hunter River, James Towan to Boston.

Mrs Edgar Beer, who has enjoyed the summer months in St. Stephen, N. B., with her parents, F. M. and Mrs Murchie, has returned to her home in Toronto.—Mrs Beer has a large circle of friends in this city.

Misses Jessie and Marion McPherson, who have been spending three months at their home in Heatherdale and have also been visiting Charlottetown, the guests of Miss Marton McDonald, Haviland St, left Saturday morning for Boston.

Lowman W. Newsom, city, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff, leaves tomorrow morning for Amherst, N. S., to which place he has been transferred. "Pikey," as he is familiarly known, will be greatly missed in social and athletic circles, especially on the Abegweit hockey team line-up, where he proved himself a prominent candidate for senior honors for the coming season. His smiling and always agreeable manner will no doubt win as many warm friends for him in Amherst, as in his home town. "Pikey" will carry with him the best wishes of his many acquaintances here who feel assured that he will meet with all success in his chosen profession.

One of the finest exhibits of the exhibition is that of Prowse Bros., Ltd. It occupies the usual large space reserved by them in every exhibition and is a representative display of the magnificent lines of furs, which the firm has ready for fall selling. Arranged in splendid display to show to the best advantage the superb elegance of the garments—every one will see at a glance how the best value is shown for a very small price when comparison is made to the worth. There is an exhibit of the fur in which Prowse Bros. have the poineers in selling here—the famous Labrador fur, and the Labrador Mink, an exquisitely marked fur, one fit for a queen to wear. Fur coats, fur lined coats, fur trimmed coats, furs in every garment capable of being made up in them. Fur capes and caperines, frustoles, fur muffs, this last named including the handsome and most popular pillow muff which is the fad of the season. Everything needed in furs—and it is worth remembering that they are new goods fresh from the hands of the makers—no sample lots, no left overs from last year. All this season's pick, and of the best. The exhibit is in charge of W. A. Huestis, the fur buyer for the firm, and on the question of the excellent quality of Prowse Bros.' furs Mr. Huestis has a subject he is familiar with, and will do all in his power to interest the visitors who through this attractive booth all the time.

Prof Green entertained the members of the City Council, the Press and several ladies, to an exhibition of his famous Flea Circus in the private office of the People's Theatre on Saturday evening. The exhibition was certainly marvellous and unless one sees the show, so ably demonstrated by Prof Nat Burnham, it is almost incredible that these small animals could possibly be trained to drive the small carriage automobiles or do the acrobatic stunts which the writer saw them perform. One smart little chap, The Edison, faithfully performed his duties on an electrical machine, while each in its turn did the stunts to which it was trained. Prof Burnham allowed one of the fleas to hop onto the coat sleeve of one of the ladies present and then passed a magnifying glass around so that each visitor plainly saw the gold collar which each flea wears and to which is attached two small invisible wires. The fleas came from England, South Africa and even two from St John and have been carefully and faithfully trained to the arduous duties.

The will of Martha Ann Haggart, widow of Peter Haggart, appoints her nephew, Edmund T. Higgs, Charlottetown, P. E. I., executor. Testator bequeaths to Amelia A. Higgs, of Charlottetown, her household furniture, pictures, jewelry and other articles of personal use in her residence, and watch, chain and seal to Humphrey L. Higgs. Testatrix' real estate is to be disposed of and $300 invested, from which $1 per week is to be paid to her sister, Mrs Maggie MacNeill. At her death any portion of the $300 remaining shall be paid by the executor to such persons as he may see fit. From the remainder of the estate, testatrix is directed to pay to Amelia A. Higgs, $1,000, Annie D. Higgs, $250, Maud Goff, $250, Evelyn Goff, $250; Doris, Myra and Flora Chambers, $200 each; Helen Farquharson, Bert Farquharson, Humphrey L. Higgs, and Edmund T. Higgs, $250 each; Carrie Sutherland and Flossie Sutherland, both of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Maud Chambers, of Avondale, $200 each. Testatrix directs that any surplus in the estate be divided among the legatees, while if it be insufficient to pay the legacies, they shall diminish proportionately. The will is dated July 16th, 1900. A codicil, dated May 10th, revokes the bequest of $1,000 to Amelia A. Higgs and instead the dwelling, No 14 Pleasant Street, is bequeathed to her with land in the rear of No. 12 Pleasant St. Another codicil, dated April 12th, 1909, revokes the bequest of $300 set aside for the benefit of Mrs Maggie MacNeill, who was since deceased, and directs $150 each be paid to Mary Amelia and Cathleen Ann, children of Mrs Haggart's niece, Mrs Annie D. Stanford.—Halifax Herald.

Autumnal richness and beauty characterize this week's display

Have you found the answer to your millinery question, in our great autumn showing? No! Scores of buyers have—and many still of the very best models are waiting your selection.

This Monday would be a splendid time for you to come in and make a choice. There are hats of every good model—there are hats of every price—there are hats for young—and middle aged and for old folk. Models exactly as you would see them on Fifth Avenue—but at less than half New York prices.

Have you profited by the saving of one third on sample furs

Lucky buying on our part—makes fortunate buying on your part. If the saving of a full third on the price of this winter's fur is any consideration, you will be interested in the great sample sale that we have prepared for you. Suppose the days are warm—the cold ones are coming.
