Old Masters Displayed At Harris Art Galleries

One of the finest displays of reproductions of the Old Masters ever to be assembled in Charlottetown will be open to the public beginning next Saturday evening and continuing all next week at the Harris Memorial Art Galleries.

The exhibition is sponsored by the School Improvement League, which has gone to great pains in making it an outstanding exhibit.

Reproductions of the Old Masters, including some from De Vinci, Rembrandt, Gainsborough, Corot, Murillo, Reynolds and many others, line the walls.

It is interesting to note the major differences between the work of European, American and Canadian artists. The work of the Canadians, especially that of Fred Brigden, is mostly confined to the interpretation of rural scenery and has a dominant note of the primitiveness of earlier civilization.

The work of the American artists, technically all that could be wished, strikes a more or less middle ground between the cultured, classical background upon which the Europeans spread their canvas, and the primitive, true-to-nature background upon which most of the Canadian artists have chosen to paint their interpretations.

Many of the pictures which were given as a gift to the School Improvement League contained extrinsic flaws such as slight tears in the canvas, the result, perhaps, of careless handling. Through the generosity of the Kinsmen Club and the co-operation of the manual training classes in the City, those pictures were skilfully repaired and framed so that they are today a delight to any one possessing the slightest appreciation of artistic values.

GIANT STRIDES—

true, Brigadier Stewart said, that they had shown their valour before that, at Ypres, Givinchy and the Somme, but, nevertheless, they could not then be classed as efficiently-trained and well-organized fighting men.

Many people seem to forget, the Brigadier pointed out, that when the Canadian armies landed in Sicily in 1943, they had had nearly four years of hard training behind them. The Canadians who landed in Normandy in 1944, were, possibly, the most efficient division that ever carried the name of Canada across the ocean.

Brigadier Stewart did not advocate Canada should maintain a large standing army at present. However "as long as it is necessary to have locks on our doors and police on our streets to protect us against evil doers within our midst ,we can expect to find nations controlled by evil doers, who will take advantage of us unles we are prepared," he said.

Plans for Canada's future army call for an active force, a reserve force, and a supplement reserve, Brigadier Stewart explained. There will be no difference in status between those parts of the main body in pay, uniform, rank, or precedence. The active force will be a full-time force; the reserve, a part-time organization; and the supplementary reserve will consist of men whose peacetime pursuits are similar to their roles in war; chemists, railway men, etc., etc.

Such an organization, Brigadier Stewart said, would comprise a well-trained efficient force upon which a much larger army could be built if the necessity arose. He had no doubt the people of Canada would support the plans for such a military organization so that if the need ever came, Canada would not be caught unprepared.

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-noted for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Trinity Choir Is Entertained

The Committee of Stewards was host to Trinity Choir last evening, when almost every member of the Choir and a large number of guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner, served by the Woman's Association.

The large dining hall was beautifully decorated in mauve and yellow spring flowers, streamers and tall tapers. The table was a beauty spot with place cards of Easter bonnets for the ladies and silk hats for the gentlemen, and green menus.

Mr. J A. MacNair, Chairman of the Committee of Stewards, presided in his usual inimitable manner. Before him was the microphone of the broadcasting station F.U.N. Mr. MacNair read the menu, which caused much merriment, and then they were passed around by W.A Rix and Fred Wotton Between courses there was group singing led by Walter Cox with Mrs. Edwin Johnstone at the piano. Mr. MacNair introduced the guests, with suitable or amusing remarks about each.

During the dinner, which was so thoroughly enjoyed by all, Ed Garnhum took a number of photos, which will no doubt go down in history. At the close of the dinner, Leonard Jordan and Earl Hardy entertained with instrumental music, and Earle Hardy sang "The Little Shirt My Mother Made for Me," in his usual pleasing style. Mrs. N.D. MacLean gave two very sweet song and whistling selections—"Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me" and "Listen to the Mocking Bird."

Station F.U.N. then went on the Air, with an interview of a mixed quartette —Miss Emma Thomas, Mrs. Willard Spencer, Messrs. Lyle Robson and A. Roderick Gillis. They were interviewed by the host who, for the occasion wore his best Scotch accent. They were asked where they were born, their favorite hobby, and asked to give a message over the air—but perhaps it would be just as well not to five the replies! They then sang a most appropriate number! "We're Here Because We're Here." This interview was recorded by Messrs. Jack Cameron and Merritt Forsythe, and later in the evening was rebroadcast to the great amusement of both the participants and the audience.

Mrs. Edwin Johnstone gave two much appreciated piano solos, "Spring Song" and "Repasz Band." The troubles and worries of Levinsky at the Wedding were vividly portrayed by Mrs. Roy Smallman.

Mr. MacNair then called on Rev. T E. McLennan, who spoke not only of the lovely dinner which was enjoyed, but also of the value and importance of the Choir; of the beautiful hymns and anthems which,sung each Sunday bring messages of faith and make a great contribution to the placing of Christian faith in the lives and hearts of the people. Mr. A. Roy Kendall, thanked Mr. McLennan, the ladies, and the Stewards.

Mrs. Angus McEachern in a few gracious words to the Woman's Association expressed the sincere appreciation of the Choir for the banquet, which she said was not only a satisfaction to the inner man (or woman) but also a feast to the eye. This was enthusiastically seconded by Mrs. Willard Spencer, and the vote was extended in a few well chosen words by the Rev. Dr. A. D. MacKenzie. Mrs. Dickie, the President of that organization graciously responded.

The tables were then removed and games and a spelling bee were heartily entered into by both young and older. Winners were presented with bountiful prizes. The winners included Mrs. Wilkins, Mrs. H. C. Rice, the Misses Tait, Sterns, Younker, Teed, Aitken McLennan and Smith, the Lyle Robson, Duncan and Harvey McPherson, Preston Wood and Frank Mills.

102nd Annual Meeting Diocesan Church Society

The 102nd annual meeting of the Diocesan Church Society was held last evening, with the president, the Right Rev. Dr. Kingston, Lord Bishop of the Diocese presiding. There was a good attendance.

After approval of the annual report, reports of the Departments of Education, Social Service and Missions were also approved.

A., and invited Mrs. Cosh, as president, to attend the Diocesan Synod at Halifax during the first week of June and from the platform read her address.

Dr. R. V. Harris, Chancellor of the Diocese on being called upon spoke on the Anglican Advance Appeal for Rededication and Thanksgiving. This is now under way. Early in May across Canada the members of the Church will be asked to subscribe as a Thankoffering for peace, the sum of $4,300,000.00, which will enable the Church to extend its work in Canada and in the foreign mission field, and also to contribute as a token gift an amount to restore the bombed out Churches of the Motherland and in Europe.

The Bishop spoke feelingly in connection with the appeal and said he felt sure that under God's guidance the people would respond to the call of the Church, so that she would be able to go forward in the great work she has to do both at home and in the mission field.

On behalf of those present the Rev. J. T. Ibbott assured his Lordship that the Church people of the Island would shoulder their responsibility in the matter, to which assurance was given by the applause of those present.

The Archdeacon moved a vote of thanks to the members of the two City Parishes for hospitality given to those from outside the City, which was seconded and carried.

The Lord Bishop dismissed the meeting with the Blessing.
