

HER WAY OF WEARING IT.

Miss Amanda Jones, who possesses the artistic temperament in a very high degree, is as careless as a lily of the field as to her attire. Not long ago, being away from home and far from the watchful eyes of her family, she selected and purchased an evening gown for herself, and wore it on several occasions with great comfort and satisfaction. Shortly after her return to her home she was invited to a reception and decided that it would be a good opportunity to wear her self-selected gown. Accordingly she put it on and presented herself complacently for family inspection.

"What is the matter with your dress?" asked her sister, eyeing her critically. "It hikes up in the most singular way in the back and seems to be too long in the front." "I've always thought it looked very nice," said Miss Jones with an air of chagrin. "But it doesn't fit," exclaimed the sister, still examining the garment attentively. "Is that the you've always worn it?" was the next question, uttered in a despairing tone. "Yes, of course. How else could I wear it?" was the response. "And it is so comfortable, with plenty of room in the back of my shoulder blades. And then I like a gown to fasten in front. Why, what is the matter?" as her sister covered her face with her hands and sat down abruptly. "Do you see anything wrong with it?"

A very pleasing function took place at Falconwood Tuesday afternoon when the five graduating nurses were presented with their diplomas. A meeting of the trustees was first held and the advisability of making use of the attic as accommodation for fifteen or twenty patients, was considered. After the trustees had concluded their meeting they adjourned to the lawn where a lawn party had been arranged for the nurses and female patients. Dr. Goodwill, Medical Superintendent of Falconwood, gave a very interesting outline of the work of the training school for nurses at Falconwood. The diplomas were then presented by Premier Palmer, President of the Board of Trustees, to the following graduates: Miss MacDougall, West River; Miss Delory of Georgetown; Miss Curran of New Perth; Miss McCallum, Brackley Point, and Miss Bonnell of Charlottetown. Essays on nursing were read by Miss MacDougall, Miss Delory and Miss Curran.

Premier Palmer then gave an address, referring to the excellent work done in the institution and spoke in very high terms of the essays read by the nurses. Remarks were also read by the Hon. J. H. Cumiskey, another of the trustees. The other trustees present were Drs. Warburton and Conroy.
