HELD ON MORE SERIOUS CHARGE. A party from the west of the province appeared before Messrs Alex Campbell and John McMillan, J. P.'s at Summerside on Saturday on a charge of having a still in his possession. It appeared from the evidence that Messrs MacMahon and Hardy, customs officers at Alberton, had located a still in working order with a quantity of mash in a shack in the woods at Cow Pond. The officers concealed themselves nearby and waited for the owner to come along. Two men next appeared and were about to enter the shack when Messrs MacMahon and Hardy jumped out of the bush. One man had a gun in his hand and it was claimed that he pointed it at Officer Hardy, the other man ran into the woods and made good his escape. The prisoner who was arrested and brought down to Prince County Jail, denied having pointed the gun at the officer. He disclaimed the ownership or any knowledge of the still and swore that his friend had merely asked him to go down to the woods with him which he did. The case of having a still in his possession was dismissed, but the prisoner was held on the charge of having pointed a gun at an officer. He will come for trial on this alleged offence before Messrs Campbell and McMillan this afternoon.

CITIZENS WERE SHOCKED. Citizens were painfully shocked last evening on learning of the death of Mrs. Tweedy, wife of Mr. George J. Tweedy, K. C., Magistrate, for Prince Edward Island under the prohibition act. Mrs. Tweedy had been in her usual health up to the previous night, and despite all that medical care and tender and loving nursing could do, she sank gradually, and passed peacefully away at 6:30 last evening. Her sudden death in the prime of young womanhood, and after only two months of happy married life, was a terrible shock, not only to her husband and relatives, but to a host of friends.

Only a little over a week ago, she held her first post-natal reception, when scores of friends and former school-mates called to greet her, and wish her the felicitations customary on such a happy occasion. Mrs. Tweedy had been in her usual health up to the previous night, and despite all that medical care and tender and loving nursing could do, she sank gradually, and passed peacefully away at 6:30 last evening. Her sudden death in the prime of young womanhood, and after only two months of happy married life, was a terrible shock, not only to her husband and relatives, but to a host of friends.

Only a little over a week ago, she held her first post-natal reception, when scores of friends and former school-mates called to greet her, and wish her the felicitations customary on such a happy occasion. Her death is a solemn reminder of the uncertainty of life, and the transitory nature of human happiness.

Mrs. Tweedy was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Allen of this city. She was married on September 26th last. There are left to mourn, besides her husband, two sisters, Mrs. L. H. Coffin and Miss Winnifred Allen of Montague, and two brothers, Edgar, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Port Elgin, N. B. and Mr. A. C. Sinclair of this city.

To the sorrow-stricken husband, sisters and brothers The Guardian tenders sincere sympathy. The death occurred at the Charlottetown Hospital on Nov. 21st, after a long suffering illness of Ronald J. McKinnon in his 65th year. The deceased bore his illness with Christian fortitude until death released him of his suffering on the date stated above. About forty three years ago he and his brother Frank left the Island for Northern Michigan, Frank working in the lumber woods and contracting for Calumet and Hacky Mining Co., for twenty-eight years, and Ronald being employed for the Quincy Mining Co. for twenty-five years. Both brothers then moved to Salt Lake City where they were employed in the John D. Rockefeller Smelter for twelve years. The plant closing down the brothers decided to return to their native home in St. Peter's Bay where they bought and remodelled the farm residence for both of Charlottetown.

merly owned by the late Mr. McClean on the Cardigan Road, where they have resided ever since. Ronald took ill about two years ago and was attended by his physicians, Doctors McDonald and McLaughlin, who did everything that medical skill could do. On their advice he entered the Charlottetown Hospital about two months ago where he underwent an operation. This did not appear to improve his condition and he gradually grew weaker until the end came.

During his illness he was visited several times by his pastor, Rev. A. McAulay, and his brother Frank was a continual companion at his bedside where he did all he could to relieve the suffering of his brother. He leaves to mourn his loss three brothers, Frank, Laughlin and Daniel and one sister, Mrs. Daniel McInnis, all of St. Peter's Bay.
