

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought. "The face of my little girl from the time she was three months old, broke out and was covered with scabs. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla and it cured her." T. M. CARLSON, Clinton, Ontario. Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

The western train which left the city in charge of Driver Daniel yesterday afternoon at 3.25, met with a accident half a mile west of Milton. The rear axle of the engine tender broke necessitating the detention of the train for over two hours. The broken tender tore off a number of the sleepers but the rails were not damaged. A wrecking train was sent from the city and the disabled engine brought back to town. There was no greater damage than the injured sleepers.

EASTERN NOTES.—The weather is comparatively cool for the season owing in part to the vast bodies of ice reported floating in the northern part of the Gulf.—Considerable herring are caught along these shores at present and a few codfish are reported in the nets but no trawls are baited as time of writing though a few are set. The water is stated to be unusually cold caused by the presence of so much ice to the north, and the winds coming from that quarter are laden with cool vapor trying to the health of the aged and causing a considerable amount of pulmonary complaints keeping our medical citizens in employment and causing a lot of colds among all classes. Mrs. Knight has joined the great majority, foremost in all charitable philanthropic and elevating movements her counsel and financial aid will be missed in these circles.—The farmers are just beginning to farm while a year ago potatoes were planted, wheat was sown and farming was in full blast, still it was one of the coldest and most backward seasons on record a fact the reasons of which are still unexplained by our weather prophets and philosophers.—Daniel Robertson is improving.—John H. McDonald, Red Point and Flora Chapman are seriously ill.

REFERRING to Dr. Strickland's advertisement The Guardian has pleasure in stating that its representative has lately had an opportunity of inspecting some of the work of this gentleman, particularly crown and bridge work, and has no hesitation in bearing testimony to his skill and the artistic excellence of his work. Dr. Strickland is the oldest practitioner of Dentistry on the Island and is known from one end of the province to the other. His rooms are centrally situated over the Apothecaries Hall in the new DesBrisay Block, and are not only pleasantly and comfortably furnished, but fully equipped with all necessary appliances for painless surgical operations and for the production, under the Doctor's experience and capable hand, of such artistic work as the crown and bridge work which Dr. Strickland has studied and practised since its introduction. The Doctor has wisely turned his experience and the acquisition of latest appliances to the benefit of his patrons by reducing the cost of advanced dental practice to very much lower figures than have been demanded for this class of work. Dr. Strickland needs no introduction or recommendation from The Guardian. The excellence of his work, and his skill as a capable practitioner are household words, but it is a pleasure to draw attention to his advertisement, which speaks for itself.

For the presentation of the comic opera Erinie in celebration of the 84th anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd-fellows in this city very elaborate preparations had been made. No pains were spared in getting together this large company of amateurs necessary to present it in good shape, and no pains or expense was spared in providing the most elaborate new gorgeous costumes. As a consequence when the curtain rose at the opening of the first performance at 8.30 last evening the scene presented was dazzlingly brilliant. A fashionable audience that filled the house from top to bottom very heartily acclaimed the performance and throughout the evening liberally applauded many favorites among them as solo, chorus or dialogue were well said or sung. Space at a late hour will not permit a discriminating notice or even to award well-merited praise to those who did the mysterious work. Among those singled out for special favor, and bouquets were Miss Constance Fitzgerald as Erinie, the latter's companion Orlie, is the person of Mrs. W. E. Hyndman, whose vocal and histrionic powers were evident throughout, and Miss Hazel Brommer as Javotte, Erinie's maid, Leslie Cook as Macquis de Pontvert, Benjamin Brommer as the Chevalier de Bourbon, Mr. Bayer as Simon the Waiter (who made lots of fun), Percy Barlow and Lewis H. Beer as the two thieves all performed their parts in a manner that left nothing to be desired. There were many pretty dances, and the spectacular scenes were very attractive generally. If the dialogue held a little at times it was scarcely noticeable and so much that challenged the admiration of all. That it was an excellent performance, highly creditable to all concerned was the universal verdict, and we bespeak another bumper house at the repeat performance in the Opera House tonight. The management desires The Guardian to say that all was ready to start at 8 o'clock sharp last night, but many of the seat holders were not in their places. To insure punctuality tonight all should be in their seats by 8 o'clock.

Quotations, ancient and otherwise, in the light of Twentieth century fashion. "LOOK ON THIS PICTURE, THEN ON THAT" "THAT" is of the old fashioned, long ago goods which sacrificed comfort, grace and all else on the altar of durability. "THIS" is the line of delicate, graceful, up to Spring goods we have just opened up. They are the quintessence of delicacy, refinement and beauty and will wear, not a century, perhaps, but so long that the summer girl passes them on to her younger sister. Just to mention a few of the most attractive ones. Delicate light weight striped Grenadines 82c, Pretty black Knot Voiles, 88c. Black Crepolines—a dainty, light, silky delicate fabric, instinct with grace and style, $1.20, $2.05, $2.45. Pretty Moire Poplins 56c. Then there are Ettoines, Armures, Megnonettes and a host of others we have neither time nor room to mention. The combination of durability, beauty and comfort is perfect in the good we have brought you for the present season's wear. We cater to all tastes and every purse. Drop in when you are passing.
