Annual reports Of Town Council

The following reports were submitted at the annual meeting, Monday, of the Summerside Town Council.

Street Committee

As Chairman of the Street Committee, I have to report that I spent over the amount allotted in the Budget by about two hundred dollars, which amount would have been considerably larger if care had not been taken.

Last winter we had more storms and more snow than for several years, followed by a very rainy summer, which made much more work keeping sidewalks cleaned for pedestrians, and the streets open for cars in the winter time, and endeavoring to keep eighteen miles or more of clay streets in shape in the summer time.

A new sidewalk was built in front of George Key's residence and a new and very much needed bridge built over Robinson's Brook for pedestrians.

We also put gravel on Harvard Street East, Notre Dame Street, Cedar Street, and turnpike North cooperation, also the Town Council, Duke Street and Popular Avenue, and also piped part of the brook on North Market Street.

A new slip was built at the West end of Town for truckmen to haul sand.

It must be taken into consideration that the population has increased by over one thousand since last census and the town has spread out, making heavy demands on the street departments, but as we are in a world war and are not supposed to spend any more money than necessary, people will have to be reasonable in their demands.

During the past year, I have endeavored to attend to all reasonable requests that were in keeping with the budget.

In conclusion I would like to thank your Ward for your kind cooperation, also the Town Council, the Town employees and especially the Street Foreman for his efforts in keeping expenses down.

Respectfully submitted,
J. L. GORRILL
Chairman Street Committee

King denies Meighen charge

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today denied a charge contained in report of a speech in Toronto by Conservative Leader R. Meighen that shortly before the war "the leader of the Government asserted that Canada was no longer tagging on the tail of Britain."

It says South by-election campaign speech last night Mr. Meighen recalled that shortly before the war when defence estimates were increased the purpose was described by the Government as "purely for the defence of Canada."

The report of Mr. Meighen's speech said the Conservative leader continued: "From the Senate I pointing out that at no time there had been no reference to co-operation in defence of the Empire and the leader of the Government asserted that Canada was no longer tagging on the tail of Britain and longer was taking dictation from Downing Street."

Mr. King authorized a spokesman in his office to make the following statement:

"Through a desire to avoid political controversy, as much as possible at this time of war I have refrained from saying anything about Mr. Meighen's candidature for the present by-election, or from participating either directly or indirectly in the by-election itself."

"However, when the new leader of the Conservative party makes statements with respect to myself as leader of the Government calculated to prejudice my own and the government's efforts at this time of war, I cannot allow such statements to pass unnoticed."

"I say to Mr. Meighen that at no time of place have I ever made a reference to Britain or to Downing Street such as he attributed to me."

"I challenge him to quote from any authoritative source the words he has attributed to me, or words which will justify a statement such as he has made."

Col. Drew Charges Shameful Betrayal Of Public Duty

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—(CP)—Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Legislature, today in a statement today "I repeat...with utmost emphasis" that a large number of men from Ontario training centres were attached to the Royal Rifles of Canada as the regiment proceeded west en route to Hong Kong.

Col. Drew was replying to a statement by Lt.-Col. F. W. Clarke of Quebec, Honorary Colonel of the regiment, who yesterday, in comment on editorials in the Toronto Telegram and the Toronto Globe and Mail after an address by Col. Drew Jan. 12, that "it seems a great pity that the glorious record of the Canadian contingent should be marred at this time by editorial comment based on statements made in the heat of a political campaign."

Speaking in support of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's action, Col. Drew had said: "At the very last moment a large number of untrained men were attached to the forces leaving for Hong Kong. I order that they might be brought up to strength. Many gallant young Canadians went into one of the bitterest battles of all history with little knowledge of the weapons they were to use."

I wish to thank the officers of the Air Force and especially those in charge of the Service Police who have rendered valuable assistance and cooperated with the Police at all times.

I wish to thank the Mayor and Members of the Town Council, also the Stipendiary Magistrate, Ernest H. Strong, K.C. who have given valuable assistance and advice.

I also wish to thank the officers under my charge for carrying out their numerous duties in an efficient manner, also, the citizens who have given the police their valuable assistance without which the police would not be able to carry on successfully.

Trusting that this report may meet with your approval, I am,
Your obedient servant,
PETER R. WHITE
Chief of Police, Summerside.

War Briefs

By Douglas Amaron
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP)—War briefs:

James Thomas Annis Scott is called the "Pocket Hercules" by his friends in the South Shields rescue squad of which he is foreman. Only five feet six inches tall, Scott supported a mass of debris on his shoulders for two hours while a woman was being removed from a bombed building. He was awarded the George Medal.

War-time movie fans are shattering all attendance records in Great Britain. Estimates for 1941 show that 23,000,000 persons went to the movies every week, compared with the pre-war average of 18,500,000.

Two thousand men and women civil defence workers of Southampton, Lincs., refused to accept the Ministry of Home Security's subsistence allowance for fire watchers because they considered it an unnecessary gratuity to genuine volunteers.

Lancashire mill girls collected about $12 towards a new Ark Royal by selling kisses under the mistletoe.

Because of the labor shortage, selected Italian prisoners of war with good conduct records are to be put on parole to work on farms in Great Britain. In the past the Italians have worked in groups under armed guard.

Art and industry, a British publication, in a special poster edition for January devotes six pages to posters circulated in Canada by the public information branch of the National War Services Department and comments:

"They show an imaginative use of the poster artist and his potentialities far in excess of the use to which they have been put in this country, where for the large part strength an inspiration of confidence has been placed on the enlarged photograph with added slogan; a course which cannot be uniformly successful, and in some cases is extremely limiting to the strength of the appeal."

Photographs are frequently static and seldom suggest the vigor and action which a competent poster artist can give, the magazine said.

"Canada has put into her posters a visual call to action, which a venture to prophesy has had a much stronger appeal than much of our own official production," art and industry went on.

The posters included: "A 'zipper-mouthed' soldier with big-eared Hitler lurking in the background, requires no caption to emphasize the importance of secrecy. A series of four posters which

Canadian Poster Art praised by British paper

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—(CP)—Canadian war poster art "is rugged and confident"—is the envy of British advertising authorities who rate it above that seen in Great Britain.
