AN Ottawa despatch says: There will be no public holiday on November 9th this year. The government has decided to issue a proclamation fixing May 24th as the day upon which His Majesty's birthday shall be observed. By interpretation of the act it is proved that the expression "holiday" includes among other days in the year the birthday or the day fixed by proclamation for the celebration of the birthday of the reigning sovereign. It is on the strength of this provision and the action of the King in selecting May 24th this year for the celebration of his national day that the government proposes to act as indicated.

THE handsome new two story residence constructed on the Lower Malpeque Road for John C. McLeod, is nearing completion. This week the contractors, M. F. Schurman & Co., Kensington, finished their part of the contract and the work reflects great credit upon the foreman, Percy Tanton of Summerside. The house is finished with a tower on the southwest and verandas on the south and east. The dimensions are 40x31 feet, the halls are finished with quartered oak floors. The painting is now being completed by James Edmonds. The house will be made ready for occupation next week. In a few days Mr. Tanton will commence work upon a residence for Arch. McCausland, Brookfield.

DO you ever light your kitchen fire in the morning, and at a time when every second seems a minute have you stood hivering while your match took fire first? Just use an Eddy Headlight Parlor match and you will know that it is no exaggeration to say that it is a real pleasure to get a large, quick, warm blaze the moment you strike. Or do you smoke? and, either way again, while the sulphur burns off or forget a moment and drawn it through the pipe into your lungs, then cough and choke, and light another. You can put E. B. Eddy's Headlight to your pipe the moment you strike it and with the great big blaze you have you could light three pipes without waiting for the sulphur to burn off your other. Sulphur matches are useful in some ways and E. B. Eddy's Telegraph is the leader.

MESRS. S. & C. Jenkins who have conducted a meat and vegetable business for the last fourteen months in the store formerly occupied by Henry Balls on Upper Queen St., inform the Guardian that they are satisfactorily pleased with the increase of their trade during the last two months in comparison with the amount of business done during the corresponding months of last year and they are now determined to still further increase their trade by keeping a uniform stock of beef, pork, lamb, fowl, vegetables, etc., etc. For this end C. H. Jenkins who has had in all some six years experience in the raising and killing of stock has installed on his farm a first-class slaughter house and is personally attending to the selection of live stock for their trade, this they find the only proper means of getting the right quality versus buying dressed. Jenkins will manage the store and will as in the past keep everything in cleanliness and in order in accordance with the requirements of the public who will do well when buying to give the firm a call as their stock in trade is complete.

THE Mission Band in connection with the Sunday School of the Baptist church at North River held a concert Sunday evening Oct. 12. The Kingston Baptist Mission Band also gave a concert the same evening. But although so near together, there was a large congregation at each meeting. The North River house of worship being well filled, while the edifice at Kingston was packed, and many could not obtain an entrance. The exercises consisted of singing by the choir and the Mission Bands, also recitations and dialogues, all bearing on the great subject of Christian Missions as usual, the missions were highly successful, and every one who took part contributed materially to the favorable result. Good collections were taken for Missionary purposes, that at North River amounting to over eleven dollars and a half.

AN effort is being made by several of our musical enthusiasts to organize under one head an instrumental musical Society, taking members of all musical organizations, all old musicians and all young musicians who are anxious to have their musical talent developed. This institute will be under the direction of a capable conductor, but will be self-governing, that it will have its officers and executive committee elected by ballot at regular stated periods. One thing that Charlottetown is deficient in that is found in many towns of smaller pretensions than this city is instrumental music equal to what we have talent for, and we firmly believe that if this organization be taken in hand by these who are now the principal enthusiasts, it will successfully fill a long felt want. The Guardian, always desiring to see advancement in musical lines in the city, trusts that the new society will meet with the encouragement it deserves.

IT is with much regret that the Guardian records the death of George Bryenton, of Brackley Point Road. The deceased who had not been in vigorous health for some years contracted a severe cold on Saturday last which, despite all medical skill could do, terminated fatally early on Tuesday morning. He leaves behind a widow and several sons and daughters including the following: James, Georgie, Ada and Amy, who live at the homestead, Lilly, who is in the teaching profession in St. John's, Newfoundland, Hedley in Charlottetown and Fred who resides in Rossland, B. C. Mr. Bryenton was well known in the vicinity of Charlottetown and highly esteemed in a large circle of friends for his sterling qualities. For many years he was a consistent member of the Methodist church at Brackley and until his health failed rendered effective services in the capacity of local preacher. The sympathy of the community is with the family in the loss sustained by the removal of a wise and affectionate father, and regrets also the death of one of its best citizens.
