FAREWELL CELEBRATION

On Monday, Nov. 1st, the eve of Mr. Fraser Mann's departure for his new home in Long River, his numerous friends in Charlottetown and vicinity called upon him to spend a social evening and bid farewell to a beloved and respected resident.

Mr. Michael Ready in the capacity of chairman ably explained to Mr. Mann the presence of his friends at his home that evening and, incidentally referred to the loss the settlement sustained by his departure. The following address read by Miss Mildred Harrington in her inimitable manner, and the presentation by Mr. Jas Saunders was a most pleasing feature of the evening.

Mr. Fraser Mann, Charlottetown, Dear Friend:—It is but a short time since we have learned of your departure from our midst. Since then our hearts have been filled with regret, when we think of losing one of our best friends and neighbors. During the many years you have been in our midst we have ever found you a kind and loving neighbor, a true and devoted citizen. "During the many years you have been in our midst we have always found you a kind neighbor, a true and devoted citizen. You were always most assiduous in your efforts to promote the welfare of your country. In all matters that made for the betterment of the community you were ever ready to take your part and the community will be the loser by your departure.

Starting as a humble boy with youth and zeal as your capital, you have gradually risen step by step until you have reached your present position as an opulent and renowned farmer. That such was due entirely to your own persevering efforts need not be stated, for in every position you occupied your services compelled recognition and were appreciated. As a moment of our estimation of you as a true and devoted citizen, we herewith present you with these small gifts.

These remarks would indeed be incomplete without a reference to your little children especially Herdon, a boy whose kind and loving manner has won the respect and love of each and every one of us. Herdon, dear boy, accept this little gift as a remembrance of your friends in Charlottetown. With the hope that you may be abundantly blessed and prospered in your Long River home, and that the lure of Charlottetown friends may be strong enough to draw you back to us often, we join in extending to you our sincere good wishes. Signed: J. N. Evans, Bern Ready, Jas. Saunders, Harry Brauder. Mr. Mann warmly thanked his friends for their kindness and assured them that the event would ever be bright in his memory, and —Mr. Joseph Wedge, Fabian, returned home on Saturday from the Quebec Lumber Woods, where he had been employed for some weeks but through an injury, (not serious) he was unable to continue his labor the gifts, he said, would be an inseparable tie which would bind him to his good friends of Charlottetown. A well arranged programme was then carried out in which many of the visitors took part. The speeches were deservedly complimentary to Mr. Mann and all concurred in the thought that Irishtown had suffered an irreparable loss. The songs of long ago rendered by Mr. John Campbell deserve special mention provoking as they did hearty applause and much favorable comment. After a dainty lunch characteristic of the ladies of Irishtown had been served, the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing interspersed with instrumental music and an occasional song, and cheers for the honored host.

—The following clipping from Dumb Animals, published in Boston, will be of much interest to old and young. It was accompanied by a splendid photo of the beautiful collie "Dick" referred to:—From Summerside, Prince Edward Island, comes the picture of this interesting dog, sent by G. G. Holman, who writes: "The enclosed photograph is of 'Dick' a collie, from whose coat, which is carried daily, I have secured fur for numbers of pairs of mittens, gloves, etc. "The fur is treated in the same way as wool, being washed, carded and spun, then knitted into various articles. The result is soft angora-like fur. Thinking that fur comings used in this way are something of a novelty, I am sending the photograph to you, hoping it may interest your readers."

FUR HUMANELY OBTAINED.
