Gleanings From Tryon And Vicinity

Potatoes are still remaining steady in price at Albany, with a lesser quantity being offered, due no doubt to the poor condition of the roads. A 75 lb. bag bringing the farmer in 80 cents at the present time.

Mrs. George Canfield and little daughter Leah accompanied by Mrs. Donald Bell and Mrs. Aage Sorenson, all of Tryon visited relatives in Westmoreland on Friday or last week.

It was with deep regret that the people of Tryon learned of the death of Mrs. Thomas Warren of Albany, who passed away in the Prince County Hospital on Wednesday, March 13th at the early age of 80 years. The sympathy of this community goes out to his bereaved relatives in their great loss.

Mr. William Anderson of Tryon had what would be called an odd week, when driving on the main road. He met Mr. Alfred Wood of Mount Tryon and pulled off the road to let Mr. Wood go by when his horse crowded in to Mr. Wood's sleigh and in some manner or other managed to get one of its hind feet in between the runner and front bench of Mr. Wood's sleigh. After considerable difficulty the animal was extracted but not without a couple of nasty cuts on its leg.

The Rev. F. M. Young, pastor of the United Church of Tryon returned home Saturday evening after spending three days in Halifax, N. S.

Some of our local farmers are finishing up their threshing for the season by threshing grain they had in stacks all winter.

His numerous friends in Tryon and other parts of the Island will be glad to know that the Rev. J. L. Lund now stationed in La Have, N. S., is improving after his recent serious illness of over three months. Rev. Mr. Lund was the pastor of the Tryon and Crapaud United Churches for five years leaving three years ago for La Have, where he has been ever since. During his five years here he made many lasting friendships. Not only in his own, but in other churches as well and he was always the one, where there was sickness or trouble to give what comfort and help he could in his gentle, helpful manner. We all hope his recovery will be a speedy one.

The scrubbing of the hall floor and oiling of the benches completed by the young people of the community. With all the interior freshly painted and the above mentioned hall presents an entirely different appearance. Credit is due those who so ably supported the financial end of it and to those who supplied the muscle power.

Their friends will be pleased to know that Mrs. Albert Mabey and Mr. Lord are both improving after being confined to their respective homes with the flu.

Mr. Edward MacPadygen of Augustus, possibly one of the largest potato growers in the Maritimes is busily engaged in grading potatoes in his warehouse at Carleton Place. Mr. MacPadygen had 200 acres of studs in the ground the past year and had a better than average crop which all passed for seed. He also grew approximately 4000 bus. of Coronation rust resistant wheat, which the writer thinks is a record for one farmer to produce east of Montreal. Mr. MacPadygen's plans for the coming spring in regard to raising of potatoes, wheat, etc., remains a secret as yet, but on doubt he will be operating on as large a scale as in years past. Men like Mr. MacPadygen are a real help to the community. The cash paid out in wages for more help goes a long way in making more floating mazzuma in the locality.

Miss Mamie Dawson of Tryon has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Gordon Harvey of Cape Traverse for the past week.

St. Patrick's Day which fell on last Sunday was rather dull for the most part and with the roads not the best in the world the attendance at the different churches was somewhat below par.

Pedestrians of the locality report the walking very bad with sloughs and water here and there. Sentinels which stood out all through the winter on the Upper Marshes of Tryon River are fast disappearing. We are referring to the numerous stacks of marsh hay, which dotted the marsh all through the winter. The farmers are busily engaged in removing them, while the ice still remains safe to haul on. These stacks when they are put up, are raised off the marsh three feet or more to prevent the high tides from wetting the hay, which would make it unfit for feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Boulter and daughter Jeanie of Albany were Sunday visitors to North Tryon.

The mail couriers, namely Hazen Dawson and his sister, Mary, have certainly brought the people of Tryon their mail on schedule this past winter, and still continue to do so when at times it would seem impossible for them to get through. Driving the mail at any time is no picnic and when the weather and roads combine against you mail driving is made doubly hard.

Mr. Vance Dixon of North Tryon was a recent visitor to Augustinus Cove.

Filling pitches during the past week, has provided lots of exercise for some of the local people who are seen doing considerable surveying of the said pitches before starting the real physical part of it. Some of the boys claim that a good pitch filler has to have a knowledge of engineering to make a bang up job and that it is the same principle as cutting the top off a hill and transferring it into the hollow to make the valley between the hills not so deep. A visitor to this locality recently made the remark that our valleys are still numerous.

Mr. Lloyd Inman of Borden made a business trip to Tryon and Victoria on Tuesday of last week. Lloyd is one of our own local boys who took up the buying and exporting business a few years ago. He operates in the spring at Canoe Cove and in the fall he buys at Borden. He also furnishes supplies to all fishermen and without a doubt is one of the largest buyers of live lobsters on the South side of the Island. All his equipment, fishing boats, etc., are practically new, which he has had built in the past two years. This shows what lots of initiative will do for a person, who is willing to put their shoulder to the wheel.

Mrs. Russel A. Howatt and son, Ray of Cape Traverse are spending a few days at their old home in West Tryon. Their many friends are glad to welcome them back.

Thursday evening of last week saw the largest crowd of the season on hand at the village hall in Crapaud, where card playing, Chinese checkers, and dancing whiled away the evening. Twelve tables for cards made up the auction brigade, which was won by Miss Annie MacDonald for the ladies and Russel MacLean carrying off the honors for the gents.

Mr. W. Marks who has been employed with Mr. Clayton Thomas of Tryon, in repairing his dwelling house spent the weekend at his home in Albany.

Mr. Asher Howatt of Tryon West is at present laid up with the flu, we hope he will be about again soon. We are sorry that Mr. Hamilton Leard is not improving as rapidly as his many friends would like, and is still confined to his home.

Mr. Bert Dickie of Cape Traverse made a visit to Tryon on Sunday where he visited friends.

"Dad" Lyman, of Tryon was a visitor to Victoria on Friday, while there Dad attended the card party and dance held in the hall and reports an attendance of upwards of a hundred who all enjoyed themselves either at cards or tripping the light fantastic.

Just a few more days until the election and with the present conditions of the road, along with the flu which is holding sway in this community voting is liable to be somewhat less than in other years.

Professor S. A. Rochford of Summerside passed through this locality on Saturday of last week en route from Charlottetown to the Western Capital. While in Charlottetown he took part in the ice racing which is a weekly event in that city. Wherever a horse race is held you can be sure that the Professor will be one of the participants and nearly always has a fine looking animal, as well as speedy, entered in the money. He reports a bad road for travelling on and also finds it hard on harness.

Is there any difference between a raven and a crow? Some think they are one and the same and others that there is a difference, but the writer believes that a raven belongs to the same family, being larger than an ordinary crow and make a different noise, resembling a croak. However, the main reason for commenting on this is that a raven has been reported in this locality.
