25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY - The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robertson Kingsboro was the scene of a very happy event on Wednesday, July 28, when their many friends gathered there to extend congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. The house was tastefully decorated with white bells and streamers, and pastel shaded flowers. The bride and groom of 25 years, were seated under an arch of silver and white. On a table near-by reposed the bride's cake, beautifully decorated in white and pink. Mr. Earle Kennedy who was chosen chairman of the gathering, called on Mrs. William Robertson who read address, and Mrs. Washie Young presented the couple with a well filled purse. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson expressed their thanks in a few well chosen words, after which all joined in singing "For They are Just as Good as Follows." A dainty lunch provided by the ladies, was served by five neighbors, assisted by Miss Mary Poole of Souris. After singing "God Save the King" all retired to their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Robertson many more years of happiness.

"Family" Of 25 Keep Mom, Pop Busy All Hours BY BONNIE WILEY Associated Press Writer SEATTLE, Washington, Aug. 1 (CP) - Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Arketa like children. They have 25 Just down from Alaska, Mamma and Papa Arketa brought 20 little Arketas with them, is adopted and two of their own. The others have just sort of "moved in," temporarily. The three older boys work in war plants. Older girls help with the housework. "Every child," claim Mr. and Mrs. Arketa, who went to Alaska from Montana seven years ago to do missionary work, "is entitled to a good home." So when nobody else seems willing to provide it, the Arketas open wide their arms and in runs another little waif. "Why, up in Juneau we had 40 or 50 youngsters and once we had 14 bottle babies, all at one time," motherly Mrs. Arketa said. "Some of the Alaskan children were brought to us by the police when their parents deserted them. Some we found, neglected and hungry in the slums. We've put weight on them." Most of the little Arketas are part Alaskan Indian. Father Arketa, who supports his ever-growing brood by selling his hand-tooled leather work, is part Ingot. "Everybody is so kind," Mrs. Arketa beamed. "It takes lots of food, 25 quarts of milk a day, 25 loaves of bread at a time, but God is going to see us through, you know." Feeling that their big brood needed more fresh vegetables and more sunshine, the Arketas loaded the children onto a Seattle-bound ship and set forth. After the home is running smoothly with someone in charge, they'll go back to Alaska for more missionary work. On Sunday, the entire brood attends Sunday school in the front room, and the young worshippers also hold daily prayers. LONDON, Aug. 1 - (CP) - Reuter - The future of Newfoundland and its government will be re-examined "as soon after the war in Europe as practicable," Emrys Evans, under secretary for the Dominions, told the House of Commons today. Mr. Evans said the British government then intends to set up machinery enabling the people of the island to express their views on the form of government they desire, having regard to the financial and economic conditions prevailing. He added that consultations between Newfoundland authorities and the commission of government there were continuing. Newfoundland has been under the commission of government since Feb. 16, 1934, after the Newfoundland Parliament agreed to vest the affairs of the island in that body until such time as Newfoundland again became financially self-supporting. MALE TUSKS SUPERIOR The tusk of the male elephant is preferred to that of the female for commercial ivory. Jet Propulsion For Road Vehicles? LONDON, Aug. 1 - (CP) - British inventors are considering the possibility of adapting jet propulsion to road transport as well as aircraft, Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee told the House of Commons today. Frederick S. Coombs, Labor, immediately protested: "Is the Speaker aware there is no general desire to have vehicles careering about the country with red hot tails?"
