THE LOCALS MUCH IMPROVED TEAM—Gave Wearers of Red and White Tough Battle Throughout.

The four days indoor circus held in the Montague Skating Rink closed on Saturday night and was a big success. Great credit is due to the committee in charge who gave a considerable amount of their time in the community interest to make this event a success. A pleasing feature was the active interest taken by the ladies of the town who so willingly assisted.

On Wednesday and Thursday the attendance was large and the entertainment provided in the way of games, fair booths and dancing was thoroughly enjoyed. Friday night, however, proved the big night of the week. An excellent card of contests was provided, each one from going to go and each other was anything but pink tea affairs. The first bout was staged by W. Penfold vs. Stanley Steele, both of Charlottetown. This 3-round match provided some clever boxing and ended in a draw. The second bout brought out Earl Grant of Montague and Kaney McDonald of Charlottetown. These boys were evenly matched and the contest, McDonald weighing 133 pounds and Grant 130. From the first tap of the gong it was evident that time was intended to be lost. The fight started with Grant leading and the first round finished, McDonald had hit the canvas and was counted out. The third bout brought together another local boy in the person of Joe Hughes of St. Mary's Road and Gus Longaphie of Charlottetown. Like in the previous bout these boys fought savagely and heavily. Grant was the first to be knocked out and the fight round finished, McDonald had hit the canvas and was counted out. The third bout brought together another local boy in the person of Joe Hughes of St. Mary's Road and Gus Longaphie of Charlottetown. Like in the previous bout these boys fought savagely and heavily. THE SCORES
The Saints kicked off and dribbled to the Aberdeen five yard line, and after five minutes of play were forced to touch for safety. On a kick-off, the red and white squad, working like Trojans, soon brought the play back in the locals danger zone, but was relieved by following-up by Woods. With the battle waging, Eachern, in centre field, took possession from Woods' cross the Collegians quarter-line. He would have surely scored but for the fast half turning of McKenna. Saint half back who pulled "Whiskey" down suddenly changed. Saint Dunstan's dribbled to the Abbie line and was forced from a mix-up. Grant converted.

On the resumption of play, the take the defensive and twelve minutes later, Hughes, Saint forward, scored on another mix up of tangled legs and arms. The try was not converted.

The last three minutes of this half saw the Abegweits take a new lead. By sheer dint of ruggedness they forced the Saints into a determined stand to frustrate a score. The half time whistle found a score of 1-1. The second half started with a heavy injury to his leg but gamely returned to the fray.

The most scintillating stanza of the tussle. The Abegweits after a score never played before this year but timely kicking and good half line work saved them in every tight situation.

Grant, Murphy and McKenna were the outstanding performers on the University lineup Saturday. Partridge, Conolly and Scantlebury played exceptional football for the Abegweits. O'Neill, Abegweits

Saints Defeat Abegweits 8 to 0

Locals Much Improved Team—Gave Wearers of Red and White Tough Battle Throughout.

Two touch-downs and convert for a total of eight points in the first twenty-two minutes of play, netted Saint Dunstan's University squad a well deserved victory over Abegweits at the latter's Grounds last Saturday afternoon in what was considered the liveliest and most exciting game of football played here this season. This makes the third consecutive victory for the Saints over their rivals this season; they having won the first game 10 to nil; the second 18 to 3, and Saturday's, as above mentioned, 8 to nil.

The attendance was in the case of all other games this year, was very small, which gives poor encouragement to the ambitious youths who run, tackle and in a sense of the game in Charlottetown.

In all likelihood a game will be played on Thanksgiving Day and the locals showed interest in the game.

The locals showed themselves a very much improved band of football players on Saturday last, and although defeated by two touch-downs were very much in evidence during the entire game, especially in the last half when they not only held their opponents scoreless, but the offensive away from them to threaten their scoring line on numerous occasions. In fact such well known footballers as Rev. Father Smith, S. D. U. Coach Jimmy Lightizer, Jimmy Coyle and a number of others who shone on the scene some years ago, expressed themselves in glowing terms with regard to the performance of the Abbies in the last half of the game. This alone is ample proof that the wearers of the red and white are a team worthy of their rank and file of the aggregation. So let's see more practice work from now until Thanksgiving Day.

Photos Confirm Story.

Swartman has a number of good pictures to confirm his weird story. While the Indians were, as a whole, deathly afraid of the plane, they seemed to understand the use of a camera, and posed willingly for photographs.

Pikankikum Lake lies about 200 flying miles north of the Canadian National Railways and 100 miles north of Gold Pines, in the Red Lake district. It is named apparently after the Chief Pikankikum with whom the fliers "rubbed noses" that September afternoon. The Chief is recognized at this isolated spot as Factor for the Hudson's Bay Company, although his store consists of merely a lean-to shack possessing the sole pane of glass in the building. It is equipped—as the fliers saw it—as time—with a few articles of trade, such as brass buttons and some moth-eaten shotgun ammunition.

Most of the "merry rifles" or shotguns, weapons they have secured, Swartman figures, by trading over the not-so-distant Manitoba boundary. The only "civilized" eating utensils spotted by the fliers about the place were a dozen or more brand-new tin drinking cups, but where they came from, and why, they were at a complete loss to understand.

Definitely diagnosed for the first time last April, at least 20 cases among human beings have been reported since in the province, and many more likely exist, health officials said.

The disease, known also as contagious abortion and undulant fever, is believed to infect at least 20 per cent of the cattle herds. It is widespread that doctors admitted last night that when the pathology is better understood, it may be found to be fairly prevalent among the people of Ontario. The diagnosis is so recent that many physicians have never seen a recognized case. Handling diseased animals is believed to be the chief cause of infection. It is believed, however, that Pasteurization is the only means to control the spread.

While the mortality is low, the disease hangs on for a long time and leaves the patient unfit for work. Less of appetite, headaches, pains in the joints and frequent nose bleeds are regarded as symptoms.

Disease of Cattle Attacking Humans TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Billius abortus, a disease which for years has ravaged cattle, is now attacking men and women in Ontario, according to the Provincial Health Department state.

The Markets

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 4.—Owing to the weakness in the Winnipeg wheat situation Saturday an easier demand for Canadian western oats, and a sale of 150,000 bushels of No. 2 feed were made at 55-1/2 cents per bushel, c.i.f. Quebec. Spot prices for Canadian western oats were steady. The demand for spring and winter wheat flour was fair values were firm. A feature of the millfeed trade was the improved demand from United States buyers and a moderate amount of business was done. The local demand was fair and values were unchanged. An active business was done in butter and the undertone to the market was firm. Receipts Saturday were 958 packages. The local and export trade in cheese was fair and prices were well maintained. The undertone to the market for fresh eggs continued firm owing to the good demand and the scarcity of supplies. Receipts were 1,062 cases.

On the resumption of play, the take the defensive and twelve minutes later, Hughes, Saint forward, scored on another mix up of tangled legs and arms. The try was not converted.

The last three minutes of this half saw the Abegweits take a new lead. By sheer dint of ruggedness they forced the Saints into a determined stand to frustrate a score.
