The Kirk Pulpit

Preaching yesterday morning at the solemn Service of Ordination when Mr. Hugh John Gordon was set apart to the Eldership and inducted into the membership of The Kirk Session of St. James' Church, the Minister, having his sermon on the text, "Put on the whole armour of God" (Ephesians 6:11), said: We Protestants have gone to the opposite extreme. We have cast aside one observance after another. We have emptied our lives of all methods by which the soul grows strong till it ventures to state that some people here would have to think hard to remember the last time they "killed, earnestly knelt down and prayed, or offered devotion in any form to the majesty of God Most High. What is the use, then, of hurling denunciations against religious formalism? That is not our typical trouble. We need to be told some thing else altogether. We deeply need to be reminded that the realm of spiritual excellence requires practical methods of training in our schools and in our homes. Did not the last Ignace Paderewski say that if he stopped practicing on the piano one day he noticed the difference, if he stopped two days his friends noticed the difference, and if he stopped three days his friends noticed the difference, and if he stopped for a week the public noticed the difference? That represents a universal law of life.

We recognize the common sense of this in every area except our inner lives. From building bridges to surgery in our hospitals, from teaching in our schools to music in our symphonies, we never expect splendid consequences without disciplined method and technique. Yet who in this congregation does not have to accuse himself of slothful, haphazard, haphazard dealing with his inner life, as though this thing, the most important in the world for our happiness, our influence and our destiny, were not worth thoughtful, painstaking and methodical nurture and care?

MR. JOHN FERGUSON

A feeling of deepest sorrow passed over Argyle Shore and surrounding districts when it became known that one of its oldest and most respected citizens, Mr. John Ferguson had passed away at his home at Argyle Shore on August 21st 1946.

The late Mr. Ferguson would celebrate his 87th birthday on October 1st, 1946, having been born in 1859 at Hampton, P.E.I.

He was the eldest son of the late Malcolm and Isabella Ferguson and of their family of nine only two survive, namely Alexander, who survives him, and Neil, of Bonshaw. Mr. Ferguson was twice married, his first wife was Isobel, who died in 1914, and his second wife was Mrs. Isobel Ferguson, who preceded him in death.

In November 1915 he married Mrs. Caroline Moore of Brookfield who survives him. There are also six step-sons, three of whom, Cecil Moore in Western Canada, Ray and Nelson of Brookfield, David Moore on the old home, Argyle Shore and one step-daughter, Ethel Collins of Boston, Mass., who also survives him.

Mr. Ferguson was a devoted husband and father and with his two brothers above mentioned, have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

The funeral which was largely attended was held on Friday, August 23rd, service at the house was conducted by his pastor Rev. J. H. Bishop and at the grave by the Rev. E. O. L. of which he was a charter member. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Albert McDougall, Dun, Campbell, Goodwill McPhail, Fred McPhail, George Inman and Russell Boyce, tenderly laid their loving friend and neighbor to rest in the family plot at Argyle Shore. "Till the day dawn and the shadows flee".

FOOD GROUSE SEASON—EXCEPT FOR GROUSE—GLASGOW, Sept. 22—(CP)—Food weather, depleted stocks of birds on the moor and price controls combined to take the punch out of the grouse season in Scotland.

Scores of shooting lodges were not opened this year. Not a shot was fired on opening day on the Wistow moorlands and elsewhere, there was little activity.

Hotels which before the war brought grouse at 30 shillings to £2 a brace ($6 to $8) early in the season didn't serve the birds this year.

It was worth buying grouse at 30 shillings a brace when we had a la carte menus, said one hotel manager, "but I can't see an economic proposition to include the birds, even at their controlled price of 12 shillings a brace. In a fixed-price menu" The most a restaurant can charge for a three-course meal is five shillings.

Cracks Down On Graft And Inefficiency

(By The Associated Press) MOSCOW, Sept. 20—The Soviet government cracked down today on admitted widespread graft and inefficiency in its vast system of collective farms, declaring such malpractices impounded the Socialist framework of the country.

A decree signed by Prime Minister Stalin asserted that misappropriation of collective farm land had reached "mass proportions" and called for criminal prosecution of the guilty.

(An editorial in the official Communist newspaper Pravda broadcast in Farmers Union radio said the move had "political significance" of the first importance.)

The decree listed these instances of "violation of the character of collective farms, backbone of the Soviet economy":

In misappropriating collective farm lands, officers of the farms illegally siphoned off sections for the purpose of private gain or at the expense of public economy.

Farm workers failed to receive correct wages and salaries.

Property on farms had been taken in some instances without payment or by paying lowered prices.

Many collective farms were heavily with administrative personnel causing a shortage of field laborers.

The decree said also that on many collective farms officials were appointed rather than being elected at a general meeting, as the law provides.

The government council for collective farm affairs was ordered to help cope with the situation.

Price Disparity Cause of Strike

EDMONTON, Sept. 20—(CP)—The reason for the delivery strike of the Alberta Farmers Union was the "disparity" between what it cost the farmers to produce an item and the price he received for it, President Carl J. Stimpff of the A.F.U. said today.

The union began with holding livestock, grain, cream, eggs and other produce from market Sept. 8 in an attempt to force the Federal government to establish a price-finding board on "parity prices."

"We should have a price-finding board to set up a relationship between what people's buy and what they sell."

"There is a disparity between the cost of production and the price received for the products. We want this fact-finding board to be set up to bring out the relationship prices."

The union has allowed ceilings to come off the cost of production—they allow "the price of the product to go up as the work clothes go up. But they kept the price ceilings on the return the farmer was allowed to get for his products."

"The phase parity prices means just what it says—equality of price."

Meanwhile in Saskatoon, George Bickerton, publicity director of the United Farmers of Canada, a Saskatchewan organization, issued a statement listing the demands and aims of the U.F.C.

Henry Ford, head of the Ford Motor Company, and Mary Martin, celebrated movie star, will arrive on one of the two special trains bringing passengers from the U.S.

CANADA'S No.1 CITIZEN

these five ways...

Canada's future is in the hands of her people... That future is threatened by the menace of inflation... Canada's bulwark against this menace is the steadfast performance of her No. 1 citizens.

Here is the No. 1 citizen's five-point programme of personal finances:

- 1 Hold on to my Victory Bonds and Certificates;
- 2 Buy only those goods which are in fair supply and save my money for the day when goods now in short supply will be readily available;
- 3 Avoid black market purchases;
- 4 Keep up my insurance;
- 5 Build up my savings accounts.

These five points mean conservation—the first requisite for personal security—the first requisite for national security. When you shape your future on these five points, you shape the future of the nation.

This is why we say:

If You Are a No.1 Citizen You will look after No. 1...

This is not selfishness, but the realization that a community is no better, no sounder than its citizens
