The Woman's Medicine. Good for All Ages. Mrs. Harold Smith's Experience.

Clarkburg, W. Va.—"I am writing to tell you the good your medicine has always done me and I hope my letter may be the means of helping some other suffering woman. When I was 18 years old I caught cold and had suppression for two months. I got so weak I could scarcely drag myself up the stairs. I went to two doctors, then my mother got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. I never had any more trouble and got strong fast. Then I took it again before my little girl was born, and it helped me a good deal and I give the Compound the credit for it. This spring I felt very badly again, but I took the Compound and have been well all summer. I cannot be grateful enough for your medicine."

Mrs. HAROLD M. SMITH, 470 Water Street, Clarkburg, W. Va. For forty years it has been making women strong and well, and curing backache, nervousness, uterine and ovarian inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularity and periodic pains. WOULD STARVE BUT NOT WORK CHOICE OF BELGIANS PRESSED TO SERVICE FOR THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Recent reports from Belgium are to the effect that the temporary German government has renewed its efforts to reduce the working men of occupied Belgium to the point where they will have to work for the Germans. Attempts have been made to send Belgians into the Ghent-brugge Naal shops, the German workers having been withdrawn for military duty.

Without exception the Belgians have refused to go to work, the product of this place being barbed wire for entanglements. The same arrangement was made at the Ghent-brugge Naal shops, the German workers having been withdrawn for military duty. That is why the Belgian Relief Committee is urging Canadians to give to the cause of these patriotic and heroic people. Send your subscription to the local committee or the Treasurer Central Belgian Relief Committee, 59 St. Peter Street, Montreal.

and we are inspected by the Adjutant and God help the man who has dirty equipment or boots. Then the Colonel comes on his horse and we move off. We march around the country through little towns and villages and return to camp at 5:00 and are dismissed for the evening. At 6 p. m. comes guard mounting, which is quite a ceremony itself. When the old guard is relieved and the new takes its place for 24 hours. After we are dismissed at 5:00 we line up for supper and get bread and butter, cheese and jam, tea and sometimes a slice of cake or so. Then you see the boys strolling out in twos or threes to town. At 9:30 first post, at 10, last post, you see the boys all strolling in again and making for their tents where they roll themselves up in their blankets and by 10:15 when "lights out" sounds every body is sound asleep with sweet dreams of Old Spud Island.

Are we downhearted? "NO" Will we win? "YES" I am, Sir, etc.

JESSE L. LASKEY, Presents THE METROPOLITAN OPERA STAR GERALDINE FARRAR SUPPORTED BY THEODORE ROBERTS AND A STRONG CAST, IN TEMPTATION IN FIVE ACTS "Temptation" will reveal Geraldine Farrar for one of the few times in her artistic career in a modern role with the present day dramatic theme. The story of the play concerns the trials and hardships endured by a young American girl to obtain a hearing before Grand Opera audiences. On this account it will not be easy to entirely dissociate the star and incidents of "Temptation" from some of the prima donna's own personal appearances in her climb to the top of the operatic profession. A glimpse is had of life back of the scenes in a big opera company.

Tribute To Foch's Marne Strategy At Anniversary

(Canadian Press Despatch.) PARIS, Sept. 15.—Newspaper men who, under the direction of an officer of the Army Headquarters, visited the Marne battlefield yesterday, in connection with the celebration of the second anniversary, viewed the scene where the tide of victory really turned. Part of the ground visited was that occupied by the troops of the Ninth Army, under Gen. Foch, extending through Ferechampenoise to Chateau Mondement, behind which, after it had been taken and retaken four times General Foch carried out brilliant strategy, which not only harked back to the Marne, but also drove the German Guard into the marshes of St. Gond, but also drove a wedge between the forces of General von Below and General von Clausen which compelled a German retreat along their entire line. The idea has always prevailed that General von Kluck, whose army advanced nearly to Paris, made a strategic blunder in turning southeast and marching across the British front, thus leaving his flank exposed to Manoury.

N., has been recommended for commendation for service.

FAVORS BABY SAVING PLAN.

Under the caption "A Philanthropic Possibility," the editor of The Medical Record comments in the current issue, on a unique plan devised by the Mayor of Huddersfield, England, to conserve the lives of babies, and suggests that some philanthropist in this country adopt the same method in a community where infant mortality is high. "Probably we have all indulged in the most agreeable of all phantasies, the picturing of what we would do with boundless wealth," says the writer. "Some of us would erect modern hospitals, some pattern medical schools, give scholarships to needy but earnest disciples of Aesculapius, send them abroad to study, etc. Nevertheless, it is sometimes very difficult to know just what to do with all the unearned increment. After the organized charities have been appeased, the poor relatives made comfortable for life and religious duties recognized, the question arises as to the proper disposition of the remaining thousands destined for charity. "Let us suggest for the relief of these distressed millionaires, a scheme by which they can help to reduce infant mortality at small cost. To explain it fully we must go back some ten years to the time when one Benjamin Broadbent was elected Mayor of the Borough of Huddersfield, England. Having always taken a strong interest in the problem of infant mortality, and having viewed with alarm its prevalence in his community, he offered a birthday gift to every child born within the village of Longwood in his borough. "This took the form of a promissory note for £1, payable when the child should be one year old. The natural consequence was that parents awoke to the fact that the survival of their babies depended somewhat on the care they received. The pride and interest were aroused, and they determined to keep their children alive through the first year, not only because of the five dollars, although that was a large sum to many of them, but for the sheer sake of winning. Best of all Mayor Broadbent's scheme attracted so much attention to the subject of infant mortality, especially in his own borough, that it became a kind of headquarters for the study of the subject. "Why, then, does not some philanthropist set in motion a similar scheme in some district in the United States, where the mortality of babies is high? There is little doubt that he would be doing good, and the only drawback to the proposition would seem to be the almost certain result that about 50 per cent. of the fortunate babies would bear their benefactor's name for life."

German Robbery Of Belgian People

(Canadian Press Despatch.) HAVRE, Sept. 17.—The Belgian minister of finance, Alois Van Vivere has issued the following note: "According to news from authorized sources, the German authorities of occupation are pursuing against the Belgian population a policy of spoliation even graver than that already denounced by the Belgian minister of finance after the first reports in Dutch press. The Belgian national bank is not the only national bank, which they desire to reach. "The German commissary at Brussels demands that a loan be made to him out of 750,000,000 francs, as first announced, but of 1,000,000,000 francs, of which three-fifths is to be furnished by the Belgian national bank and two-fifths by other banks. "All the directors of the Belgian national bank are threatened with arrest. M. Carrière, one of the directors, already has been arrested and taken to Aix-La-Chapelle, and is being treated with the greatest brutality. He has been forced to wear the prison garb. Such are the barbarous methods of intimidation to which the German government has taken recourse in attempting to insure the success of its forced loan. "The Belgian Minister of Finance denounces this odious abuse of power by the authorities of occupation. The act is all the more abominable in that it aims in extorting from Belgium, already so maltreated, her own financial resources to use in making war upon her."

is the logical food for thinkers and doers. It contains all the nutritious elements of whole wheat and malted barley, is partially predigested, and supplies an abundance of energizing nourishment without overworking the stomach. It also includes the vital mineral salts of the grain which are lacking in white bread and many other cereal foods. There's able help for many in Grape-Nuts.
