IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ROGER WESTAWAY

Many friends in the Province will regret the passing of Mrs. Roger Westaway of Lower Montague, at the residence of her daughter Mrs. H. H. Butler, Brookline, Mass.

Mrs. Westaway, formerly Sarah Kelley Martin, youngest daughter of Donald and Lenore Martin, was born at Belle River, ninety-three years ago.

She leaves to mourn three sons and four daughters John Joseph, Vancouver, B. C.; Rev. Richard J., of Cambridge, Mass.; William in New York; Mrs. C. C. MacDougall, Watertown, Mass.; Mrs. James McGee, Pilnipton, Mass.; Mrs. Arthur Whidden, Roslindale, Mass.; and Mrs. H. H. Butler, Brookline, Mass.

She was a loving mother, a fine neighbor and kind and charitable to all.

Interment took place in he Church of England Cemetery, beside those of her husband who predeceased her fifteen years ago.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Yeo of Milton.

The pallbearers were: Charles MacLellan, John Aitken, Arthur Jenkins, Richard Creed, Charles MacLellan Jr., and W. Westaway Walker of Halifax.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. FRANK MULLALLY

On Sunday morning September 26th in the presence of his loving family and kind neighbours Mr. Frank Mullally of Souris River, passed away from this life to his reward in the next. The late Mr. Mullally was born at Gowan Brae in 1877, except for a few years in Boston, Mass., where he was employed by the Boston Elevated Railway, spent all his life on the farm at Souris River.

"Frank" as he was known to all who enjoyed the pleasure of knowing him possessed a kind and quiet disposition, and was always glad to have a neighbour or friend drop in for an evening's visit. He took an active interest in the Souris Exhibition and was always back of any plan that would help Eastern Kings County.

His pastor Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. A. Murphy called on him almost daily during his short illness and administered to him and comforted him with the last rites of the Catholic Church.

Besides his widow the former Celia Ready of Kensington, he is survived by two daughters Gladys of Brookline, Mass., and Helen, Mrs. Edwin McCarvill of Brighton, Mass.; also by three sisters Mrs. John McQuaid Souris; Mrs. Gertrude Rood of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Andrew Corrigan in California and two brothers William of Gowan Brae and Melvin in the Canadian West. Also two grandsons Stanley and Edward McCarvill. His twin sister Margaret predeceased him several years ago.

The funeral was held at St. Mary's Church, Tuesday morning where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Monsignor Murphy, who also officiated at the grave. Rev. F. L. Mullally was present in the sanctuary. Interment took place in the church cemetery. The pallbearers were Rossister Mullally, Howlan Mullally, Charles MacDonald, Charles McInnis, Abden Howlett, John McGillvray. R. I. P.

The following Mass Cards and Letters of Sympathy attest to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Mullally was held.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Frank Mullally wish to thank most sincerely their parish Priests, Sisters of the Convent, Doctors and Nurses of the Souris Hospital, relatives, kind neighbours and friends who did so much to help lighten their burden of sorrow; also to thank those who sent Mass Cards and Messages of Sympathy.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband Thomas W. Bradshaw, who passed away December 5th, 1947.

One year ago God called you home
To be with him on high,
And how I miss your smiling face
In grief, I weep and sigh.

As days go by I miss you more
But know you're safe at rest
My pride, I loved you so
But Jesus loved you best.

Some day we'll meet to part no more
And oh how sweet 'twill be,
To dwell forever with the Lord
Through all eternity.

Inserted by Wife.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. J. T. DOYLE

The death occurred in the Charlottetown Hospital, after a long and trying illness, of Mrs. J. T. Doyle, 104 Water Street, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Mrs. Doyle had been ill since the early spring, and despite the loving care of a devoted family, and the expert care of doctors and nurses, she passed peacefully away, surrounded by her family, and attended by the last rites of the Catholic Church, of which she was a devout and faithful member.

Born Mary Elizabeth Butler, daughter of the late Thomas Butler and Elizabeth Carmody, she passed her entire life in the city of Charlottetown. Of a quiet and reserved nature she lived almost entirely within her family, and a small circle of friends who will remember her always as a devoted mother, and a sincere friend.

The funeral took place from her late residence 104 Water Street, on Saturday, November 13th, at 8.45 A. M. to St. Dunstan's Basilica, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by her Brother Rev. John J. Butler, assisted by Rev. P. McMahon as Deacon and Rev. F. MacDonald as Sub-deacon, followed by the singular honor of having His Excellency Rev. Bishop Boyle, who attended in the Sacristy, bestow the final blessing at the end of the Mass. Also in attendance in the Sacristy were Rev. Wm. McCabe and Rev. Eric Robin. Rev. Bernard Gillis assisted the choir.

The pallbearers were Messrs. J. E. Dalton, E. P. Foley, W. Chester S. McClure, M. P., J. B. Fleming, Albert Wilson and Harry James.

There are left to mourn besides her sorrowing husband, two daughters, Betty, widow of the late Borden A. Cox, Grace, Mrs. W. T. Crockett, both of this city, one son Tom, who is attending the Ontario Veterinarian College in Guelph, Ont., three sisters Winnie, Mrs. H. C. MacMillan, Sydney, N. S.; Margaret, Mrs. J. R. Gillis, Sydney, N. S.; Sue, Mrs. J. F. Jacobs, Hartford, Conn., and four brothers, Dominic, City; Rev. Francis L. Tampa, Kanas; Rev. John J., Wichita, Kansas; Arthur, Illinois. Another brother Andrew of this city, predeceased her three months ago. There are also four grandchildren, Pete, Mary, Elizabeth and Temple Cox, and Suzanne Crockett.

The many Mass Cards, Telegrams Messages of Sympathy and beautiful flowers were tangible evidence of the high esteem in which Mrs. Doyle was held in this community.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. J. T. Doyle and Family, wish to thank all those who sent Mass Cards, Telegrams, Messages of Sympathy and Flowers; also Mgr. Maurice McDonald, Sisters and Nurses of Charlottetown Hospital for their kindness during Mrs. Doyle's illness and death.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving memory of our dear son and brother Clarence Earl Folland who passed away December 3rd 1947.

One year ago we had to part
With one we loved with all our hearts
We miss his face and kindly ways
With him we spent our happy days.

Many a day his name is spoken
And many an hour he is in our thoughts
A link in our family chain is broken
He is gone from our home but not from our hearts.

Sadly Missed and Fondly Remembered by Father and Brother Nelson and Sister-in-Law Isabel and Family.

CHAPTER VI

O'Hara had no chance, without arousing suspicion, of influencing what reply Caryl might give. He was the more pleased therefore at the unexpected sense of diplomacy sh instantly displayed.

"Why of course not!" she assured the Egyptian with a laugh and the most perfect calm. "Im not the sort to be easily frightened. I do admit that the man—well, did seem to be paying me more attention than I could understand. In fact I had meant to speak or write to you about it if it went on ——"

"It certainly will not." the other gestured sharply. "I have threatened Mahmoud with a return to Cairo, if he ever again behaves so foolishly. I'm only glad I chanced to discover what he was doing. You know, don't you, how grieved and humiliated I must be that you should have such unwarranted interference?"

"O course."

'I hope then we shall be quite' good friends from now on." the other urged in his suave way. "And you, Mr. O'Hara as one who knows my country so well, you must allow me to beg that we may not be strangers any longer. Miss Fayne and you must please look on my poor villa as welcoming you both always."

A few minutes later the Egyptian and his friends had gone on down the country-road in the direction of their villa. Old Badinot lingered for a moment, expounding at great length on the wealth and generosity of Hussein Pasha, who was proving so excellent a customer to him. He was delighted to discover from O'Hara that the latter and Caryl were taking dinner. Declaring this an honour and a delight to him, he hurried off, promising an unusually excellent menu.

"And what do you make of Mr. Yousef Hussein?" Caryl asked after the innkeeper had gone too.

"Nothing definite at present, either way." O'Hara responded thoughtfully. "He may have nothing whatever to do with those messages, or with your relatives murder. If he has not, on the other hand whose is the hidden hand? It's the old case of wait and see."

"Meantime." he added. "what about breaking the good news to our film-friends? I notice that Rittenberg has recognised you, and is evidently thinking twice about tackling you again. I ought to tell you perhaps that — having in mind the idea of safety in numbers up at the Chateau — I did promise them to try and persuade you into altering your decision.

"I see . . ." She flung him a quick glance of surprise and a little suspicion, and hesitated a moment Then, as he was about to move in the direction of the film-crowd, she laid momentarily detaining fingers on his arm.

"Are we letting them know the real reason why we're asking them up there?" she questioned.

"Why, no, Not unless that is to say, we have need to do so later, and I doubt if that will happen. Don't forget that the discovery the police have now made about the truth behind your relative's death has set them hot on the scent for the murderer. The other side won't know as much or that Carnot's giving you police-protection. So — as I see it — you're fairly safe all round."

"Actually, in this case." Caryl suggested thoughtfully, her gaze on the obviously interested little party of film-people. "we scarcely need any extra guests up at Chateau. Still, I suppose you really are finding it awkward, being alone there with me."

"Not at all . . ." He felt himself flushing a little, and explained: "I think it better for you, and safer for you to have other company than mine, But of course it's your Chateau; and if you think otherwise—"

"Oh, I don't!" she laughed. "Let's get it over."

As he had told her, the reception she was given after, the first shock of surprise had passed, was stupendous. Not only to have gained permission for his cameras to work in the Chateau, but actually to find himself and his party invited to make a stay there for as long as their filming lasted, so excited Julius Rittenberg that he almost embraced Caryl.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Grandfather, Mr. Angus N. MacLeod, who departed this life December 4th 1947.

Peaceful be thy rest dear Grandpa
It is sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.

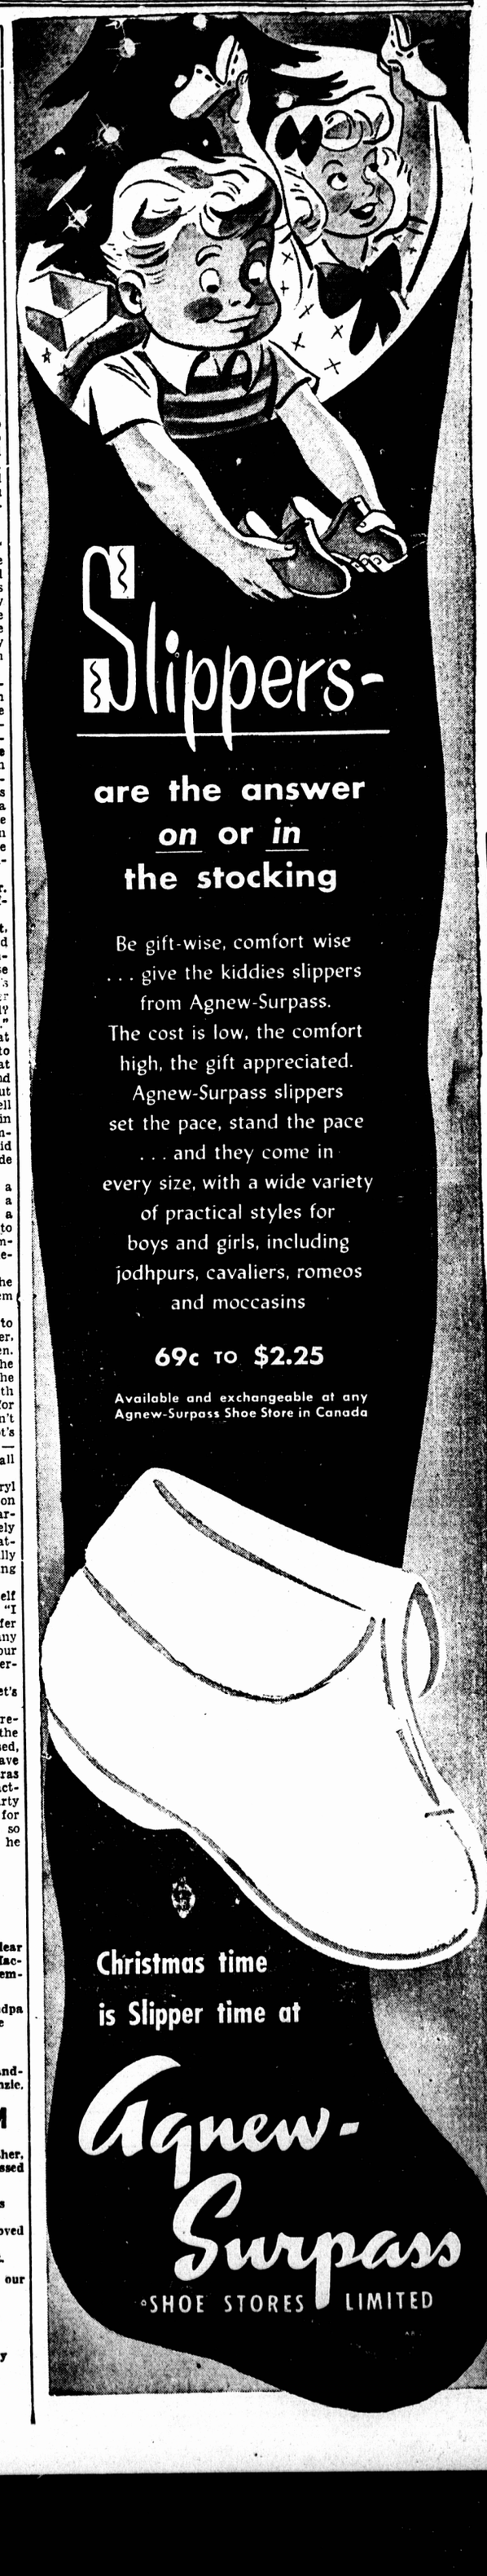
Lovingly Remembered by Grandchildren Jean and John MacKenzie.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father, Thomas W. Bradshaw, who passed away December 5th, 1947.

To think of the day you left us
Will always bring regret
But the hearts that always loved you
Are the ones that can't forget.

God gave us strength to bear our grief
Courage to face the blow
But what it meant to loose you
No one will ever know.

We often think of days gone by
When we were all together
A shadow over our lives is cast
Our loved one gone forever.


Inserted by His Family.
