

STENOGRAPHER TELLS HIGH COST OF DRESS

BOSTON, July 6.—How the high cost of living is supplanted by the high cost of dressing is graphically told by Miss Marguerite Sullivan, a stenographer, who has compiled facts and figures to prove her assertions that the average working girl spends more on clothing herself than she can afford.

"We hear so much these days in regard to the high cost of living," says Miss Sullivan, "that we feel it almost incumbent upon us to curb our hunger. But have you ever stopped to consider the cost of high dressing, about which nothing is said.

"The yearly output of the average working girl for clothes and the customary accessories is appalling. The wage of the office girl today far exceeds that of a decade. The girl who draws a weekly salary of $15 possesses a wardrobe that would put Cleopatra to shame.

"Any number of them can exhibit suits for which they have paid $45, hats $25, shoes $3, $4 and $5. Practically every cent they earn is applied to the adornment of their person. Have you noted the quality of the shirtwaist of the average working girl? Five dollars. Yes, indeed! Why, that is nothing! Only a third of her weekly salary! Then, of course you could not expect her to wear a 25 cent belt with a $5 shirtwaist. Not she.

"But of all the extravagances of the age stockings beat the record. I know a young working girl, drawing a weekly salary of $8. Each week she purchases three pair of the finest, thinnest, daintiest stockings at 38 cents a pair. Why doesn't she darn them? What! Wear darned stockings with her $4.00 pumps. Where will she be when her working days are over?

"Ten years ago the average working girl purchased clothes with an eye to their durability. She was neat, well groomed and natural. Her clothes were warm, comfortable, modest and attractive. She was above all womanly.

"Isn't it queer when our good, sensible, wholesome, New England girl has flown to? Do you admire the substitute?

STOKES TELLS THE STORY OF SHOOTING

NEW YORK, July 7.—W. D. Stokes' testimony was still unfinished when court convened today for further examination of the charge that an attempt to murder Stokes was made a month ago by Miss Lillian Graham and Miss Ethel Conrad. The purpose of these proceedings is to determine whether the evidence is sufficient to warrant sending the case to the Grand Jury, but the examination and cross-examination is conducted with such thoroughness that it amounts practically to a trial.

On the stand Stokes gave his version of the alleged attempt on his life when he visited the young woman's apartments, at Miss Conrad's invitation, to recover letters he had written to Miss Graham. Expectation of hearing of these letters read rivaled the personal attractions of the defendants, and the social prominence of the complainant in drawing a crowd to the Toombs Court today, with frequent derisive smiles.

These letters were found by detectives in the girl's rooms a few days after the shooting, and since have been in the possession of the District Attorney. In them Stokes, who said on the stand yesterday that he was 57 years old, for the most part adopted toward the young girl an attitude of fatherly counsel advising her against the stage, against intoxicating liquors, and about life in general.

The two defendants and Miss Graham's sister, Mrs. John Singleton, wife of a wealthy California mining man, who accompanies them in court, listened to Stokes' testimony with frequent derisive smiles.

THE very same kind of skill used in blending the finest teas is used in blending Orinoco tobacco. It is not the choicest leaves of the Virginia plant—rich, brown, and full of flavor—nor the curing, good as we insist these shall be, which produce the mild, fragrant smoke that makes Orinoco so enjoyable. It is the concentrated experience of 50 years in blending that makes Orinoco a better smoke than is possible with ordinary skill.
