When's Your Birthday?

QUERIES JOE E. BROWN AT PRINCE EDWARD

PROGRAM FEATURES COMMUNITY SINGING

The infinite talent of Joe E. Brown was never better exemplified than in "When's Your Birthday?"

This hilarious picture has the completely novel background of astrology.

After a series of lessons intended to fit him for a career as an astrologer, Brown is seen as a particularly clumsy bus boy in a cafe

Finally located by the gambler, the three members of the partnership—Brown, the baker and a girl—are all engaged by the sporting man as his private prognosticators of athletic events.

The Prince Edward program also includes a splendid Mickey Mouse (introducing one Mortimer Mouse, "Mickey's Rival") and a sport reel but the surprise hit of the program was the Community Singing short in which the audience is requested to join in the choruses and really enjoy themselves by taking part in the program as conducted by Wendall Hall, Master of Ceremonies, Billy Jones and Ernie Hare and Andy Sumner and His Orchestra.

Canada's Golden Jubilee was celebrated by a special service in the ancient edifice on Dominion Day in 1917, when the vast congregation consisted largely of war-wounded Canadians, of nurses, and of other men and women from Canada and the rest of the Empire engaged in London on war duty.

In the Abbey the open grave was within a few spaces of the west door. King George stood at the head while sergeants of the Guards lowered the body into the depth, and the silence was broken only by the creaking of a chair in some distant corner. Part of the royal family, including the then Queen of Spain, stood at the far side of the grave while the sentences of committal were pronounced by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Excitement crackling like a prairie fire, action, fast and furious as a free-for-all; and romance, glorious as the great outdoors—these are the sure-fire elements that introduced Ralph Bellamy as a thrilling new kind of Western hero yesterday at the Capitol Theatre in "Wild Brian Kent," from Harold Bell Wright's best-selling novel.

Until he meets and falls in love with the beautiful Mae Clarke, Western girl-owner of the Circle V ranch, Bellamy is a good-for-nothing playboy, kicked off a polo team for sponging on his friends, and knocked about the Western town he is stranded in for gambling without money to back him up.

Bertrified by Mae, Ralph carelessly watches her ranch being endangered by a bad lands gang anxious to seize control. Branded as "yellow," and subject to her taunts, Ralph suddenly realizes his love for Mae, and the carefree grin on his lips suddenly freezes into a fighting snarl when the gang strikes again.

Champion) (Canadian Press Staff Writer) LONDON, April 15—One of the last great services in Westminster Abbey, where King George and Queen Elizabeth will be crowned next month, was of special interest to Canada—the memorial service to General Sir Arthur Currie. This took place in the Abbey in December, 1933, simultaneously with the funeral in Montreal of the great Canadian war leader. Japan is now making economic rather than military plans. Germany is rearming merely because she is surrounded by heavily armed nations. The Spanish situation, I think, need not give us any concern over becoming more serious," said Lord Riverdale.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ing's, China Point, was pleasantly surprised on the evening of March 29, 1937, when many of their friends from Earncliffe and China Point met to celebrate the birthday of their daughter Olive. After all were kindly welcomed by this congenial couple, dancing was enjoyed for several hours, interrupted only while an address was read by Miss Laura Young and a purse presented by Miss Rita Morrissey to Miss Ing's. Lunch was served by Mrs. Ings assisted by the ladies. The birthday cake beautifully decorated was made by the dexterous hands of Mrs. Roy Mutch.

Care For Your Eyes

If you consider the value of your eyes, you will not hesitate to give them proper attention. Should overwork cause strain have them examined and fitted to relieve the strain.

Naturally weak eyes may see clearly but still be strained, even when not subject to overwork.

Neglected eyes may fail in later life.
