MILLINERY.—Among the passengers by the boat special last night was Miss Rendle, head milliner for Prowse Bros. Ltd. Miss Rendle while away will visit the largest work rooms in New York, Toronto and Montreal, which means that the latest of the latest and vicinity will be able to have hats as correct as could be procured anywhere and at a much more reasonable price. 8567.

PROFITABLE SOCIAL.—The basket social and entertainment at Mt. Herbert hall in aid of the Red Cross Fund on Wednesday evening was largely attended, in spite of the disagreeable weather. The sum of eighty-two dollars was realized. Mr. Jas. McCallum acted as chairman, and a good programme was rendered, consisting of recitations, dialogues, and music both vocal and instrumental. Much pleasure was afforded the audience, by the rendering of patriotic selections, on the phonograph kindly loaned by Mr. Percy Mutch. Mr. Tarbush had the hall well lighted with his famous Alladdin lamps and a most enjoyable evening was passed. The baskets were auctioned by Mr. Carter, in his usual efficient and humorous manner and brought good prices.

The foundation for a perfect gown

NO GOWN, no matter how artistically designed—no matter how carefully made, is going to look its value if worn over a poorly made corset. The really important thing in securing a properly fitting, stylish, really effective gown—is the choice of the proper corset.

That is the "reason why" of this corset department. There are more right corsets here. There is fuller chance to choose here. The more up to date models reach here soonest. And—in the matter of price—just notice that nearest mail order catalogue—if we do not do better for you—we do not ask for your order.
