Summerside Supreme Court

(Special to the Guardian) SUMMERSIDE, Dec. 4.—Upon the reopening of the Supreme Court at Summerside yesterday morning the case of the King vs Pritchard on a charge of receiving stolen goods, which had been commenced yesterday was proceeded with. The following witnesses were examined for the Crown. Mrs. Alta Delaney, Ray Tanton, recalled, for cross examination by Mr. J. J. Johnson, K. C., for the defense and Constable Jos. B. Linkletter and Wesley Corney. A feature of the afternoon proceedings was that Jos. McDougall, who had already at this sitting of the court been found guilty of stealing the foxes in question was on application of the Attorney General brought from his cell in the jail and put on the stand as a witness for the Crown. He was examined at some length by the Attorney General, but denied that he knew anything about the foxes. After an application had been made, the Court allowed the prosecution to cross examine McDougall as a hostile and adverse witness. The effect of this examination was that McDougall denied having had any transactions with the accused in any way relating to foxes this summer. That he owned no foxes during that time and did not deliver to the accused Pritchard, either directly or indirectly any foxes whatsoever and further, that he had not been to Pritchard's home on the Linkletter Road as alleged at any time in the month of July, other than the last few days of that month to make hay. He denied that he had stolen any foxes or that he had been to the ranch of Alban Strong at any time. It will be remembered that at his own trial he offered no defense. Mrs. Delaney's evidence was the same as that which she had given at McDougall's trial.

Ray Tanton, who was recalled by counsel for the defense in regard to statements which appeared in the stenographer's notes of evidence which had been challenged yesterday by Mr. J. J. Johnson, K. C., counsel for the defense. When in answer to the question, did you go down for the purpose of discovering whether the foxes had been stolen or had escaped, witness answered, No, I did not. This was in direct opposition to the answer made by him when the question was put by the Crown the day before. The Court intervened and stated that counsel for the defense had the right to comment on that before the jury.

During the course of the proceedings a witness named Corney was called by the Crown and during his examination a question arose as to the admissibility of a conversation between the witness and Jos. McDougall as evidence, and the jury were asked to retire for the purpose of argument between counsel. But after the jury had retired the Crown Counsel withdrew the effort to give the evidence of this conversation. Constable Linkletter gave evidence of certain admissions made to him by the prisoner as to how he obtained the foxes, which was corroborated by the prisoner when he was put on the stand on his own behalf. This closed the case for the Crown.

Mr. E. H. Strong, K. C., opened for the defense, and called the accused, Pritchard, as a witness in his own defense. He gave evidence that he had lived on the Linkletter Road, all his life, since he came with his parents from London, England, twenty eight years ago. He had never been before the courts or charged with any offense before. He was not a drinking man. He had lately had a small ranch. When Mrs. Delaney left to go to the Sanatorium at Sarnac Lake, he had asked him the prisoner, to assist in looking after his farm while he was away. About the middle of July he had been with Mrs. Delaney to Summerside and on their return had stayed in the car in his yard for awhile. They saw a young man come into the yard. He was carrying a bag. Pritchard saw it was McDougall. He asked him what he had in the bag and McDougall replied he had some foxes. On a further question he said they were three female pups. He said he wanted $25 a piece for them. The prisoner said he examined them and saw they were small black pups, one showing a little silver over the eyes. He did not think they were worth that much. He finally bargained for them for $25 for the three and a pup in the Spring. He was not particular whether he bought them or not as he had no room in his ranch and foxes were going down. He could not pay him the $25, but gave him ten dollars down. After McDougall had received the money he went away. Mrs. Delaney agreed to ranch the foxes for him if he helped her with the hay. He had no suspicion that they had been stolen. The Court then adjourned until 10.30 this morning.—S.

Prince County Court

The December Term of the County Court, Prince County, Judge Inman presiding, commenced at the First Circuit, Alberton, on Tuesday. Fourteen summonses had been issued and three contested cases remained on the docket which occupied the attention of the Court till six o'clock in the evening. The first case was that of Hackett Kinch vs James Tuppina, claim for $200.00 for wages. It appeared from the evidence that the defendant owned a garage property at Alberton, which he allowed his son to operate and it was now closed, the son having gone away and the plaintiff had been working in the garage as a mechanic. The defendant denied having anything to do with the operating of the garage although he owned the building and tools. The Judge held that as no contract had been made out between the parties regarding the wages, judgment would be for the defendant. Mr. Wilfred Tanton for the plaintiff and Thane A. Campbell, K. C., for the defendant. The second case was that of Fred McRae, vs. Ord Sharp, action for $195 on a promissory note. The note had been given for a second hand car which the defendant bought from the plaintiff. The defendant claimed that after he had the car awhile that the plaintiff agreed to take same back. This the plaintiff denies. The defendant further claimed that this was the first car he had ever owned and that the plaintiff warranted the car to be a good second hand car, but he spent $50 for extras.

The plaintiff contended it was a good second hand car for the money. Judge Inman at the close of the case stated he would take time to consider the matter of this warranty of a second hand car. It was a new feature in automobile cases. He reserved judgment for the December term at Summerside on 19th. Heath Strong, K.C., for the plaintiff and Wilfred Tanton for the defendant.

In the third case, which is an action of damages for alleged negligent driving a horse and sleigh on a highway by which a boy received injuries. The Judge stated he was disqualified to try the case on account of relationship which existed between himself and one of the parties interested. He therefore referred the case to three Justices of the Peace for trial and the case is to be heard at Alberton on Jan. 6th. Heath Strong, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and Wilfred Tanton for defendant.—S.

The "match" is played for a stated length of playing time, and the team scoring the greatest number of goals is the winner. A Referee controls the play and enforces the rules, assisted by an assistant referee in certain cases and by goal umpires and timekeepers. 1.—Six players shall compose a team. LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Dear Mrs. MacDonald:—It is with the deepest feelings of sorrow that we write you in this hour of bereavement. We realize, however that our poorly chosen words of sympathy will not lessen your grief but we trust it will be a consolation to you to know that we sympathize with you, and would, if possible, lighten your sorrow. As in this we are powerless, we therefore, recommend you to Him who heals all hearts and pray that He will solace you in your trying tribulation. Signed MISS EILEEN MORRISSEY, Pres. MRS.
