Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:

She has been feeling "out of sorts"

Mme Josephine Rinville

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up: you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Madame Josephine Rinville, Mastai, Que. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered for four years with female troubles—inflammation of the stomach and fallopian tubes which caused me violent pain and often torture, so much so that I could not walk at times and attend to my daily duties. Life was misery to me. I was so blue and despondent I did not know which way to turn for relief. I had tried the doctors but they did not help me. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought a bottle. I am glad that I did so, for I am well and strong to-day and the world looks bright, for I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

WONDERFUL FEATS OF ENDURANCE

Wonderful Experiences of Horsemen--Remarkable Journeys Made by Couriers--Eventful Rides of Ancient and Modern Days-- Incidents in British and Continental Armies.

LONDON, April 27.- Before the days of railroads or telegraphs, when messages were sent through the country by horsemen, some astonishing journeys were made. Not only endurance and skill were necessary, for such feats, but great courage as well, for the country was infested by robbers and the roads and bridges were usually in a wretched state.

A journey which combined endurance and speed, was made centuries ago when the news of the death of Queen Elizabeth was carried to her successor, James VI. of Scotland. Robert Curry started with the news from Whitehall between nine and ten on a Tuesday morning and reached Doncaster, 155 miles away, the same night. On the following day he travelled as far as his own house, at Witherington, where he spent some time transacting business. Starting early the next morning he would have reached Edinburgh by midnight had not an accident occurred to delay him. As it was he completed the journey of 400 miles in three days.

Wolseley nearly a century earlier made a remarkable journey to the Low Countries to hold an interview with the Emperor Maximilian. Leaving London at four o'clock in the afternoon he travelled by boat to Gravesend, rode through the night to Dover, and crossing to Calais, finished his journey on horseback, reaching the Emperor that same evening. On the following morning he rode swiftly back to Calais, and was at Richmond by sunset, after having made the journey to Holland and back in a little over two days.

A match for these feats can be found in the present times, when South Africa was the scene of two performances in this line. Just after the breaking out of the Kaffir war Sir Henry Smith carried the news from Cape Town to Grahamstown in six days, covering a distance of seven hundred miles on horseback through a wild and trackless country and Richard King rode 600 miles from Durban to Grahamstown in ten days, through a country infested with enemies, and over a multitude of swollen and bridgeless rivers, every one of which his horse had to swim.

The German Emperor instituted a long distance ride some thirteen years ago, in which the contestants were to cover the distance between Berlin and Vienna some 680 miles, in the shortest possible time. Count Starhumburg completed the journey in seventy-one hours and twenty minutes, thus winning the silver bust of the Emperor and $5,000. His horse unfortunately did not survive the contest. Some time ago five lieutenants of the Twelfth Hussar regiment of France accomplished a marvellous feat. They left Gray at three o'clock in the morning and rode seventy-two miles to Belfort which they reached at four o'clock in the afternoon. Here they donned civilians' clothes and walked to a town twenty-four miles away, where they dined. They then walked to Belfort, saddled their horses, and rode back to Gray, which they reached at three o'clock the next afternoon.

WALKING ALL WAY TO ST. JOHN

ST. MARTINS, April 27.—Walter Axel accompanied by his wife and family of seven children, arrived Tuesday walking through from Sussex, wheeling the two youngest children in a baby carriage. Yesterday, they left on foot en route for St. John.

USED UP AND TIRED OUT

MEN AT THE OFFICE WOMEN IN THE HOME CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out.

The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Kaldon, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends.
