—84TH BIRTHDAY—A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Bruce Curtis, Wilmot it being the occasion of his mother's 84th birthday. Mrs. Curtis is wonderfully well, being about her household duties almost every day, also doing her part in helping to provide socks for our soldier boys. Her granddaughter, Mrs. Wm. Millar presented her with a lovely birthday cake. Congratulations were on every hand for Aunt Georgia. Lovely boxes of fruit and many other remembrances came from dear friends. The evening whiled away very pleasantly with a general sing-song and some favourite hymns of Mrs. Curtis'. All departed hoping to meet with her on similar occasions.

—MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER—A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Campbell Milburn, Lot 8, on Monday, February 12, when friends and neighbors gathered to tender a miscellaneous shower in honor of their niece, Miss Inez Campbell, a popular young bride-to-be. When all the guests had assembled the bride-to-be was escorted to the seat of honor where she was presented with a great array of useful and valuable gifts bearing evidence of her popularity in the community The gifts which were presented by Miss Myrtle MacNeill, were arranged on the table by Miss Emma Leeky, while the names and accompanying verses were read by Mrs. Glen Campbell. Miss Campbell, in a pretty speech, thanked the donors one and all for their lovely gifts and good wishes. She also expressed regret at leaving the neighborhood and extended a cordial invitation to all to visit her when she takes up residence in her new home. All then joined in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow." A dainty lunch was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing and social intercourse. Then all repaired to their homes wishing the guest of honor a long and happy journey through life.

—PRINCE COUNTY RED CROSS ACTIVITIES—Each week new Institutes and community clubs are enrolling in the large army of women who are helping the Red Cross with the gigantic task of providing knitted garments and hospital supplies for the soldiers. Summerside is the headquarters for the Prince County Red Cross supplies and distributing centre and the room in the Town hall which has been very kindly lent by Mayor Campbell for the use of the ladies is a very busy place with women cutting out garments, and making hospital supplies; besides packing and inspecting the socks and sweaters that come in every week from all over the county. Mrs. G. Ennis Smith, who has charge of the work has received a letter from the Red Cross headquarters in which was expressed the thanks not only of the Red Cross but of the soldiers who have benefited by the articles sent from the many branches of the Society. The letter also conveyed requests for clothing for the Polish and Finnish refugees, especially quilts and children's clothing. Any ladies who would volunteer to make childrens garments would be welcomed at the Red Cross rooms, as there are many pieces of material suitable for childrens garments ready to be made up. Comfort bags are also requested for the soldiers. Patterns and particulars can be had at the Red Cross rooms. The need of wheeling wool socks such as farmers wear was stressed in the letter, as soldiers cannot march on socks made with lighter wools Among the newer Institutes and Community Clubs sending knitted goods to the Summerside headquarters are Ellerslie, Conway, Sherbrooke, Birch Grove, Wellington, as well as the Altar Society and Catholic Ladies Aid at Wellington, Harmony, Jubilee, and Egmont Bay, Womens Institutes, Middleton, Birch Grove, Victoria West, St. Nicholas, Urbanville South West and MacNeills Mill's, Tyne Valley Red Cross Society; Bideford Community Club and Borden, Scarletown and Chelton Institutes. These are just a few of the many clubs throughout the County who have sent in garments for which the Society is very grateful. S.

BRITISH PLANE

Athenia, torpedoed the first day of the war, on which 112 lives were lost.

Dispatches from Amsterdam disclosed a series of attacks on Netherlands ships, some of them large vessels.

The master of the Netherlands motorship Deruyter said on his arrival at Amsterdam that his ship had been bombed by planes of "undetermined" nationality while en route from Britain to Holland. Three bombs fell near the vessel, which was not hit. Two other Dutch ships, the 2,248-ton Sint Annaland and the 2,249-ton Schieland, also reported attacks by aircraft.

Two other Netherlands ships, the Boekeloo and Amazone, were machine gunned Friday night by a foreign plane after they left Newcastle with cargoes of coal, they reported today. They arrived at Terneuzen, Zeeland Province, tonight and reported no one was hurt and no damage done.

Loss of another Netherlands vessel was indicated when a lifeboat and wreckage from the 695-ton Rijnstroom, which left the Downs yesterday for Rotterdam, were picked up by two other vessels. Hope was expressed the crew of 12 was safe in a second lifeboat carried by the Rijnstroom.

years ago, in which I say that conscription is the fair way to raise men for war, but that does not affect my opinion on conscription as a policy today.

"3—Conscription, to my mind, was a failure in the last war, as it raised only about 10,000 men out of more than 500,000, and it stirred up much misunderstanding in our country.

"4—For that reason, and because conscription is not necessary in this war, and because, as I have said on other occasions, it is the duty of a public man to hold Canada together as a nation, I am absolutely opposed to conscription. I said this very clearly on March 30 last, just a year ago, in the House of Commons, and also in the press, before either Mr. King or Mr. Lapointe had made their statements opposing conscription.

"5—In this election I did not wait till I came to the Province of Quebec to say this in public speeches. I said it in my first speech in Ontario, at Brockville about a month ago; and I have said it in practically every speech I have made since then in Ontario and in the western Provinces right through to the Pacific coast.

Word Never Broken

"That is clearly and honestly my position so far as conscription is concerned; and as I have never deceived either the people of Quebec or the people of Canada generally, I know no reason why you should doubt my word. I have never broken my pledged word during my public life. If I am elected Prime Minister of Canada, there will be no conscription put into effect by the Government which I lead. Surely that is as clear-cut and definite as I can make it; and it is quite as clear-cut and definite as the statements of Mr. King and Justice Minister Lapointe."

Dr. Manion reviewed the record of the Liberal leaders and quoted their words only from papers "which are strong supporters of theirs."

On Sept. 9, 1935, Le Canada of Montreal, quoted Mr. King as having said during the election campaign: "The people of Canada are opposed to war. . . Mr. Bennett (then Prime Minister R. B. Bennett) has no right to commit the country before consulting the people by means of a plebiscite."

"May I ask if Mr. King had a plebiscite before committing the country to the present war?" asked Dr. Manion.

The Conservative leader said that in Le Soleil of Quebec on Dec. 20, 1937, Mr. Lapointe was quoted as having said at St. Flavien, Que., "I will repeat this afternoon what I said from my seat in the Canadian Parliament: 'All these expenditures are made only and exclusively for the defence of Canada.' . . . I declared in Parliament that I was not going to support anything more than this and if there would be more than this, Mr. Lapointe would cease to be a minister."

The Conservative Leader continued: "There is a good deal more than this just now, Canada is taking part in a war but Mr. Lapointe is still a minister. Mr. Lapointe is also quoted in Le Soleil of Dec. 13, 1938, as having said in a speech at Limoilou "instead of going to war in a foreign country we will remain here and defend the Canada that we love."'

Works Minister Cardin is quoted in Le Canada of Jan. 17, 1938, as saying at St. Henri "for the 10th time, I am declaring that Canada will not participate in exterior wars," Dr. Manion stated.

Liberals Deceived People

The Conservative Leader also said that Postmaster General Power is quoted in Le Soleil of Dec. 20, 1937, as saying at St. Flavien "I went to war once, I have returned, and will not go back again and will not send anyone.'

"I ask you," continued Dr. Manion, 'after those quotations of Mr. King, Mr. Lapointe, Mr. Cardin and Mr. Power; have they not deceived the people of Quebec in now taking part in a war outside Canada; in being part, as they are, of a government which declared that war? The answer must be 'yes, they did deceive the people of Quebec.' And I may add I have never deceived the people of Quebec and never will—or the people of any other part of Canada."

The Conservative Leader said there is other evidence that the Prime Minister and Mr. Lapointe talk union government and conscription against him "merely for the purpose of playing politics."

Union Vs National Gov't

Union and National Government are not the same, he said, adding that he never was a member of Union Govrnment but merely a member of the House of Commons. However, Resources Minister Crerar was a member of the 1917 Union Government which enforced conscription and it was Mr. Crerar whom Mr. King sent to England to represent Canada in war discussions with the British Government.

"In one of his speeches over there he spoke of Canada giving our last ounce of wealth, resources and manpower in this war—yet Mr. King did not find any fault with Mr. Crerar.

"Another one of Mr. King's chief lieutenants—indeed his chief lieutenant in British Columbia, the premier of that province—Mr. Pattullo, came out for conscription."

Dr. Manion referred to a speech in San Francisco as reported in Le Soleil of Aug. 4, 1939.

Many who were members of the Union Government of 1917 were honored later by the present Prime Minister.

Hon. W. S. Fielding was made Minister of Finance in 1921, Hon. Fred Pardee was named a senator, Hon. Newton Rowell appointed Chief Justice of Ontario and "was given huge fees for legal work and was finally appointed chairman of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations."

Dafoe Supported Union Gov't

John W. Dafoe, Editor of The Winnipeg Free Press, "and one of Mr. King's closest friends," supported Union Government and was appointed to the commission. Hon. A. K. Maclean left Laurier on conscription but was appointed by the present Prime Minister as president of the Exchequer Court.

"I have given you, briefly but honestly, the record of myself, Mr. King, Mr. Lapointe, Mr. Cardin and Mr. Power," Dr. Manion said. "I have not deceived you. These other men have."

The Conservative Leader attacked the government for the sudden dissolution of Parliament and said that if Mr. King is permitted "to close Parliament today to suit his political purposes, then tomorrow he or someone else may close Parliament for some other purpose, such as destroying the rights of a minority of our people—or even perhaps suppressing Parliament altogether."

By closing Parliament, the Prime Minister also prevented the tabling and making public of the Dominion Provincial Commission report.

"Mr. King no doubt knows the contents of the report of that commission. Are we to conclude that he was also afraid of these recommendations? Are we to conclude, for example, that there are recommendations in the report of that commission which he a pointed that may take away from the provinces of Canada some of their rights?

"Since he closed Parliament without permitting the members of Parliament or the people of Canada to read the report, one may surmise almost anything about that report."

It must be understood that the foregoing are the officers and committee of the Prince Edward Island Division. The general war service committee appointed at a public meeting held in Charlottetown last autumn will carry on for the duration of the war.

The Red Cross looks forward to another strenuous year of service in furthering the peacetime and wartime aims of the Society in this Province, and is confident that, as in the past, it will continue to enjoy the confidence and support of our people.

Following is the text of reports submitted at last night's meeting:

Friends of the Prince Edward Island Division, Canadian Red Cross Society:—

I am indeed pleased to extend to you a very hearty welcome to this 1939 Annual Meeting of our Division of the Red Cross Society.

Before giving you a resume of the year's work I must refer to the loss this Division has sustained in the death of Mr. B. L. McClure, a very sincere and loyal supporter, who was for some years a valued member of our Executive.

In time of peace the efforts of the Prince Edward Island Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society were concentrated on the development of Junior Red Cross and to the providing of treatment for the physically handicapped children of the Province. The excellent results obtained will be reviewed tonight in the report on the Junior Red Cross. And,—we are glad to be able to announce that these most valuable services are to be continued in time of war.

Another service maintained for many years is the enrolment of nurses for service in war or disaster. This is done in conjunction with the Provincial Nurses' Association. Last year we had 94 enrolled. On the outbreak of war the list was immediately brought up to date and forwarded to the proper authorities.

There have been no adult Branches in the Province but each year the Women's Institutes, the I. O. D. E. and the Teachers have assisted the Division with the canvass for Senior membership and funds. Usually 40 per cent of the school districts send in contributions.

Adult Home Nursing Classes are conducted by the Public Health Nurses. Last year six of these classes were conducted with 142 members attending 75 per cent or more of the Lessons.

In the spring the Canadian Red Cross was asked to distribute one million pounds of surplus butter. These vouchers were of two kinds, relief and non-relief. The Prince Edward Island Divison, through the various relief agencies, distributed 1,339 lbs. of the former and 2,344 lbs. of the latter.

With the outbreak of the war the duties of your Executive were greatly increased. At Executive meetings held early in September arrangements were made for a public meting at which additional persons were added to the Executive to form a War Council. This body which has among its membership representatives of the various organizations and of all sections of the province met on September 22nd. and appointed the following Committees:—Advisory; Campaign and Finance; General Organization; Purchasing, Stores and Transportation; Women's War Work; and Publicity.

The Campaign and Finance Committee under the capable direction of Mr. George J. Tweedy had the responsible task of raising funds which they accomplished in an admirable manner. You will hear a report on the results from the Chairman of this Committee.

The General Organization Committee studied the best means of keeping in contact with all the organizations and individuals wishing to do war work through the Red Cross. It is the desire of the Red Cross to work through the existing organizations to as great an extent as possible but it has been found desirable to organize adult Branches of the Red Cross at several centres including Summerside, Alberton, O'Leary, Hunter River, Georgetown and Souris. The chief purpose of these Senior Branches is to act as clearing houses for materials and finished supplies. They are also expected to take the lead in raising funds in their areas. In handling these funds these Branches are to follow the same plan as the Division. Each Branch is required to submit its budget to the Provincial Office. Such splendid co-operation has always been received by the Red Cross from all the various organizations in the province that it is our deside to continue this co-ordination of activities and do our best to supply all the organizations with materials for women's war work, unless they happen to be in a position to provide their own. Summaries of the tremendous amount of work accomplished by the Women's War Work Committee will be given by the Chairman, Mrs. J. H. McQuaid who is efficiently handling an immense task, and the Purchasing, Stores and Transportation Committee by Mr. J. J. Leightizer.

The Publicity Committee whose task it is to keep the public informed of Red Cross activities was particularly active during the National Appeal for funds and secured fine co-operation from the press and radio. The Lieutenant Governor kindly agreed to speak on the National network at that time and arrangements were also made for other speakers over the local stations.

Immediately on the outbreak of war some 350 women registered with the Red Cross for whatever services might be required of them. As a great many of these women expressed a desire to have training in First Aid and Home Nursing, classes were organized for them.

From these brief summaries of activities you will understand your Executive and its various Committees have been especially active during the last year. We appreciate the fine spirit of co-operation shown by the general public and as we go forward into another year we depend on the continuation of your sympathetic interest to enable us to discharge our obligations to the very fullest.

Respectfully submitted,
W. J. P. MacMILLAN,
President.

TO STOP COAL

swept through political circles of an impending general cabinet shuffle, but the only man in a position to deny or confirm them, Prime Minister Chamberlain, preserved an inscrutable silence. It was considered unlikely if the Prime Minister intended making cabinet changes, that he would announce them until Parliament's Easter recess at the end of March.

The Prime Minister in the past has stated that he could not see any advantage in a small war cabinet composed of men without departmental responsibilities, with the cabinet to concentrate on the prosecution of the war in all its aspects.

Perhaps now with the war showing signs of increasing in tempo, if not becoming enlarged geographically, he has changed his mind.

Even confirmed government supporters have been outspoken recently on the "deadwood" in the cabinet. From time to time criticism has been levelled at W. S. Morrison, the food minister, Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith, Agriculture minister, Leslie Burgin, supply minister, health minister Walter Elliot, Sir Kingsley Wood, air secretary and in recent days particularly Lord Hankey, minister without portfolio.

Whether the Prime Minister planned changes involving any or all of these men could not be determined, but close political observers stated tonight that they would not be surprised if another cabinet shuffle was on the way.

The reports of a cabinet shuffle had it that Sir Kingsley Wood might be removed as well as Leslie Burgin. At the same time the name of Anthony Eden was heard in authoritative circles as the "coming man." Mr Eden's popularity with all classes and parties has increased since he reentered the government as dominions secretary—nearly two years after he resigned as foreign secretary in revolt over Prime Minister Chamberlain's efforts to appease both Italy and Germany.

Target of Criticism

Sir Kingsley Wood not only has been the target of much blunt criticism over the deadening completeness of the nightly blackout—he also has been reported at odds with the other fighting services over the control of British air units. At the start of the war the army and navy protested vigorously over continuation of a separate air force; since then a number of fighters and bombers have been transferred to both services. However, the admiralty still desires that coastal defence squadrons be placed under its command. The R. A. F. still controls these.

Mr. Burgin's office has been attacked by organized labor and in Commons for some time. The supply ministry places orders equivalent to about $64,000,000 every week. Mr. Burgin has been questioned in Commons about commissions paid for placing contracts and about contractors "believing they had a special line of approach to the minister."

Lord Hankey also has been under discussion. Today Mr. Chamberlain declined to answer a Commons query on just what Lord Hankey did with his time.

The Times acknowledged this morning that the affairs of the country had been in the hands of an "experimental" cabinet and said it was a "certainty" that there would be changes, "in time."

CONSERVATIVE

getting rid of cabinet deadwood transfers from one department to another were resorted to by Mackenzie King.

Dr. Grant had been a very "promising man" before the last election, offering jobs wholesale to electors throughout the county.

Right Hon. R. B. Bennett's work while he was Premier of Canada lived on in the benefits people were reaping to this day from the trade treaties he inaugurated Dr. MacDonald declared.

So fas as present day needs were concerned the country in its hour of danger would be best served by a National government such as Dr Manion proposed to form, the speaker concluded.

Dr. Grant opened his speech by telling several "jokes" but did not go far until electors began firing questions at him. His reply to one was that there was "more dirt in one Tory than in 100 Liberals", and was informed that the speaker he berated had not been a Tory.

All through his speech he was interrupted with pertinent questions. On several occasions his refusal to answer led to an uproar in which the chairman had to interfere to bring order.

Mr. J. Howard MacDonald presided. There was a large attendance, the hall being filled to capacity.

is a very great difference between this method and that of calling leading citizens to Ottawa to serve their Country under the leadership of those pledged to serve their Party first, and then the Country. At a time of such grave crisis, favoritism, partyism and graft should not be permitted to enter into Canada's fight for freedom—and that cannot be avoided so long as you have a One-Party Government promoting our War effort.

Why This Election?

"A National Government would permit every man and woman from Coast to Coast, to demonstrate to Germany that we are a united country. The women's organizations, the Red Cross Society and the churches have all undertaken patriotic services without thought of party politics and their efforts are appreciated by the citizens of this country and welcomed by our Allies. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen, who are serving at the front, are not squabbling over Politics, but are working as a unit with only one thought in mind—to win the war.

"We heard a lot about National Unity from the leader of the present Government, the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King. But, let us ask ourselves why this election was deemed necessary? The Conservative Leader did not criticize the Government's war effort in the last session of Parliament held in September, nor since, until the sudden and unexpected scuttling of Parliament. The criticism and censure of the Mackenzie King Government came from within their own Party. How then can we ever expect national unity with a Party Government holding the reins of power with friction within their own ranks? What guarantee is there that this dissension would not continue and become even more aggravated if the One-Party present Government endeavored to carry on? I am sure the great majority of the citizens of Canada, whether Liberal or Conservative, feel down in their hearts that the truth of the matter is, that Hon. Mackenzie King has called this general election, at the cost of millions of dollars to vent his spite on Mr Hepburn, the leader of the Liberal Party in the great Province of Ontario; and further than that, the criticisms have been so severe that the King Government feared inquiries and discussions on the floor of the House of Parliament.

"Members of Parliament and the electors of Canada have been denied this right which was assured to them by the Prime Minister when a truce was agreed on at the September session. This action, in the scuttling of Parliament, proves that not only the supremacy of Parliament is at stake, but the very institution itself. A smoke- screen of words on National Unity will not save the situation, as the electors of Canada, in these times of stress and war, can be relied on to use their common sense and make sure that they will have a Government in office after the 26th of March, that will serve Canada most efficiently during the war, and through the post-war period.

Mr. King's Mistake

"The Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King has been the leader of the great Liberal Party for many years, and has been Prime Minister on more than one occasion. In the past he has had many admirers among all shades of politics, but it would seem that he has missed the opportunity of his life. After touring across Canada with Their Majesties, the King and Queen and knowing that there was such great friction and upheaval in his own party, it seems unfortunate, for him and for Canada, that he did not graciously retire after the Royal Tour, and thus make way for a new leader and the formation of a National Government. Such a move would have saved this country the many millions of dollars that are required to run a general election, and at the same time would have avoided political turmoil throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion of Canada during the period of the war.

"The present National Government in the United Kingdom has held office since 1931. What is good enough for the Mother of Parliaments in times of stress and War, is surely a sufficient example for Canada.

P. E. I. Interests

"I appeal to the electorate of Queen's County for their support for my colleague, Mr. W. Chester S. McLure, and for myself on March 26th, as standard bearers for National Government in Canada. If the electors of Queen's County feel that I can be of service to Canada and this Province, and honor me with election as one of their representatives, I can assure them that my fullest efforts will be put forth to have the rights of this Province recognized, and discriminations removed, so that Island farmers and fishermen may have an opportunity to develop their resources on a parity with the other Provinces of Canada and thus be enabled to increase their production and participate in Canada's war effort. The first duty of elected representatives should be to endeavor to find ways and means to assist these two main industries of our Province back to prosperity. When the farmers and fishermen have increased earning power, and more in line with the prices for goods that they have to purchase, most of our local problems such as unemployment and relief, disappear, and this, of course, reflects on business generally. The aim of everyone should be to make this Garden Province, such a happy and contented place, that our young people will be encouraged to remain here, and be given an opportunity to make a decent living from the land and sea or business pursuits.

"The reports and discussions at the annual meetings of the various Farmers' organizations held in Charlottetown, in recent weeks indicate the very deplorable conditions that prevail in this Province.

"As my time is so limited tonight, I am unable to discuss these problems that are causing so much concern in this Agricultural Province, with over 80% of our people on the land, but I will deal with some of these vital questions in my next address over C. F. C. Y. which will be given on Monday night, March 11th at the same hour.

"Before closing I would like to say that the voluntary assurances of support, so far received, from all directions, are most gratifying and greatly appreciated.

"On March 8th, this Province is to be favored with a visit from the leader of the great Conservative Party,

Mr. Keith Lewis left recently for Truro, N.S., where he has employment awaiting him. He is a valuable member of the Regals hockey team but will be lost to them for the balance of the season.

Several young men from here went to Summerside Wednesday to be examined for enlistment in the Prince Edward Island Highlanders (Black Watch). Among those who passed the requirements successfully were Merrill McAlduff, Leslie Perry, John McAlduff, James Hogan and Gerald O'Meara. They have returned to their homes awaiting the call to service which is expected in the near future.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gallant on the birth of a baby boy, also to Mr. and Mrs. Amos Ramsay on the birth of a boy. A.
