THE KING O'GAMES IS CURLIN.

The joy o' every curler's hert
Is winnin' near the tee;
Each willin' haun will do its part
To get up near the tee.
The kindly strife does curlers good;
It saftens mony a weary mood,
And mony a mon gangs hame richt prood,
For gettin' near the tee.

"Just haud yer stane wi' steady grup,
And a m straight for the tee
Noo, men, staun' by to soo it up
An' bring it to the tee.
Just draw in canny by this stane,
You've dooe it before, just try it again;
I'll 'pit' ye agin' any mon
For winnin' to the tee."

But there's a time for every s de
To line up near the tee;
It wadna do for ane to bide
Owre lang upon the tee
"Noo lift this pat'lid—canny there,
Soop hard, my lads, he's got it fair,
Its comin' richt tp pass the gair.
Aha, tis on the tee!"

So is it in life's busy strife
All strivin' for the tee;
Some giving health and wealth and life
To get up near the tee
But some gets "hoggit" at the score;
A guard keeps ithers oot the door;
Some thro' the port gang i' a rear,
And drive richt past the tee.

The warld is better for the "Moile"
O' fetchin' for the tee;
tt ligthens many a weary toil,
This warsel for the tee.
When one gets there its noble gran',
To gie a freen a liftin' haun;
The "soopers" hae a better mon
For helpin' to the tee. —Ex.

A NATION OF READERS.

Surprising statistics concerning the volume of literature yearly published in Germany are given in Price Collier's book, Germany and the Germans (Duckworth.) In the year 1911, 10,914 books were published in England; in 1910, 13,470 books were published in America; and in the same year 31,281 books were published in Germany Thus the average publication in Germany averages 100 books for every day in the week excluding Sunday! Nearly three times as many books are thus yearly produced in Germany as in England, and over twice as many as in America.

FOX STOCK SOLD.—The Canada Fox Exchange and Investment Company, Ltd., yesterday received applications for forty shares of stock in the Rayner International Fur Company. They state that shares in all dividend paying companies are being rapidly picked up owing to the excellent prospects for 1914. It is expected that within the next thirty days there will be hardly any shares available.

ON FOX BUSINESS. — Messrs. Wm. Kearney and Thomas L. Cook, of the Murray River Company, are in the city on business in connection with the fox industry. They report conditions in the fox line as satisfactory and have no doubt at all that the outlook so far as the present year is concerned is excellent.

MARRIED AT GLACE BAY.— The Glace Bay Gazette says that: The wedding took place Tuesday afternoon at St. Anne's church of Miss Lizzie Cunningham, daughter of Thomas Cunningham, lighthouse keeper at West Louisburg, and Mr. Donald McIntosh, formerly of P. E. I. but of late years a resident of Glace Bay. The bride, who is one of Louisburg's most popular young ladies, was attended by Miss Mary Cunningham, her sister, while Mr. Joseph Gouthro was best man. After the wedding the young couple drove to the home of Mr. Aucoin, Kirk Edward Street, where a reception was held. After a short trip thro' the province they will take up their residence on Reserve street. Rev. F. McDonald was the officiating clergyman.

ENJOYABLE EVENING.— An enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Warren, Alma, on Friday night last, when the members of the Whist Club met there to have a Masquerade Dance. About fifteen members came dressed in as many different costumes, some of them being real good and many original. After the dance the members were unanimous in awarding first prize to Miss Mary McLellan who was dressed to represent a Colonel in the British Army, while Mr. Peter O'Brien as Uncle Josh of Punkin Centre was given the palm for the most original among the gentlemen. There were also a number of other good dresses of which special mention might be made of, Mrs. Raftery, as a tramp; Miss Katherine Millman, as Dinah Johnson, a colored girl: Mr. Stephen Murphy as Rastus Johnson and Miss Lottie Kinch as a Scotch lassie. The others represented men and women of different nationalities. After partaking of luncheon the guests left for their homes thanking Mr. and Mrs. Warren for their generous hospitality.—A.

MISS GORMAN'S RECITAL.— In connection with Miss Gorman's recital, it should have been mentioned that the contract for the use of the Opera House was entered into under the old regime at the old terms. As Miss Gorman was unable to take advantage of the Opera House on the first selected date, Mr. Shotton kindly allowed her the use of the building on Tuesday night on the original terms, viz. $35 and not $60 as has been stated in certain quarters.

STANLEY KEPT BUSY. — Arriving from Sable Island with the mails the government steamer Stanley made port at Halifax, Friday afternoon. She has been engaged on work connected with the piers at Sydney, and had much hard work ice breaking. From there the Stanley took the mails to Sable Island, after which she proceeded to Halifax. The Stanley left again the following morning to attend to repairs needed and to inspect important buoys along the western coast.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.—Mr. Joseph W. Calbeck, of the Magic and other fox companies, is in Charlottetown on a brief visit. Mr. Calbeck is very enthusiastic about the future prospects of the fox industry; he says that they were never brighter and that he is constantly in correspondence with parties anxious to invest in the business. He has had splendid success in the various companies in which he is interested, principally in the Sampson and Magic. Mr. Calbeck predicts that 1914 will be a banner year for the industry and that there will be a great influx of capital, particularly American.

FISH THAT WALK

We have become accustomed to think that fishes live only in the water, but from recent accounts of naturalists we learn that some fish can walk on dry land, while others walk in the floor of the ocean.

Dr. Francis Day, who studied Nature in India, discovered several cases where the fish migrated over a land route from one body of water to another, and Layard encountered specimens of the perch family making their way along a hot sandy road, one hot day about noon. Humboldt, had heard of a species of the fish family that had climbed a hill twenty feet high, but was greatly astonished on beholding one making its way over dry ground by a succession of leaps, its main support being its pectoral fins.

The climbing perch of India are often compelled by extreme drought to traverse dry land in order to get to another body of water; and they travel a direct route in doing it.—Selected.
