Damaged Ship Reaches Montreal

MONTREAL, June 5 — (CP) — Damaged above the waterline after striking a heavy ice floe off Newfoundland, the British freighter Empire Yukon anchored in Montreal harbor today and is scheduled to go alongside Sutherland pier for repairs tomorrow.

Extent of the damage was not fully determined, but it was indicated it was not serious enough to require dry-docking. The Empire Yukon is one of a number of ships which have arrived here reporting heavy ice conditions in the North Atlantic.

LADD IN "SALTY O'ROURKE" SCORES HIT IN TURF FILM

They're off at the Prince Edward Theatre! "Salty O'Rourke," the Paramount film which opens today brings fond memories to all horse lovers as Alan Ladd portrays the title role in as neat a screen package we've been privileged to see in a long time.

Ladd, in the title role, plays a stable owner — not much of one, it's true (he only owns one horse) —but the drama's there all the same. He loves Gail Russell in the picture, a shy and lovely school teacher, but doesn't realize it until she shows her true colors. Fact is, Alan tries promoting a romance betwene Gail and his jockey, Stanley "Stash" Clements, a recalcitrant, rowdyish character who gets everyone in hot water, including himself.

There are three other big Hollywood names in "Salty O'Rourke," William Demarest of "Hail the Conquering Hero" fame, Spring Byington and Bruce Cabot comprise the formidable trio of supporting players. With "Stash," the youngster who knocked 'em dead as the gang leader in "Going My Way," Gail and Alan get cocking good assistance. The story and screen play by Milton Holmes plus Raoul Walsh's direction are assets which make E. D. Leshin's splendid production a real knockout.

The story describes Ladd's attempt to pay Cabot a debt of $20,000 by running a horse in a big stake race. Alan enters his thoroughbred, a wild, untrained horse which only Clements can ride, and he wins the race, besides! What happens in between, though, causes all the drama, the gun action and romance, too. It's the same Ladd the public knows so well who disdains a woman's wiles, calls bluffs with a brazen air, melts the female heart with but one single, hard cold glance.

The scenic background of "Salty O'Rourke" is particularly outstanding. All the exciting elements which provides the thrills of horse racing are flashed on the screen. There are the huge grandstands, the oval track with the long straightaway, the ramshackle stables, the judges' stand and other sights so familiar to race track fans. For a winner, "Salty O'Rourke" looks like the day's best bet for movie-goers!

TRIO OF SISTERS

Three lovely young actresses make up the trio of sisters in Republic's new comedy-drama, "Three Little Sisters" now showing at the Empire Theatre. Mary Lee, Ruth Terry and Cheryl Walker are the girls, daughters of the caretaker of a pretentious estate which the three "borrow" to set up an impromptu canteen for service men, with hilarious results.

The real reason behind the plot is the plan of two of the sisters to torment the romance of the third, Cheryl Walker, and a soldier whom she has never seen and who doesn't know that she is confined to a wheelchair.

Comedy, music and a heart-warming love story are deftly combined in the picture which was directed by Joseph Santley.

"BLACKIE" TRAPS NEW KIND OF KILLER

Columbia Pictures' latest in the series of thrilling "Boston Blackie" films, the eighth, titled "Boston Blackie Booked on Suspicion," is currently playing at the Capitol Theatre. Chester Morris is again in the title role with Lynn Merrick, Richard Lane and George E. Stone featured.

The book was counterfeit! The fortune was stolen! The printer was murdered! The killer was beautiful! Sensational thrill after thrill follows Boston Blackie . . . as he traps a new kind of killer . . . in an old book shop where he learns some tricks about crime . . . from a very dangerous gal who's quick on the trigger with a kiss and a gun.

Many British Landmarks Destroyed

BY FRANK LOWE

LONDON, June 5 — (CP) — Although aimed primarily at London and other industrial and shipping centres in Britain, German air raids during the European war spread over the surrounding countryside like a plague to damage and destroy many treasured items of tradition and folklore.

Some of these might be considered of military importance. Places such as the Royal Yacht Squadron at Cowes, for instance, or the Royal Observatory at Greenwich, could be legitimate war targets, but for the most part the sufferers were places of importance only because of sentiment.

Famous public schools were damaged. Eton was hit three times, Prime Minister Churchill's Harrow was scorched by incendiaries, Perse School at Cambridge, founded in 1615, was burned out in 1941.

In Farningham, Kent, a peaceful place whose only fault was that it was in the bomber path to London, the home of Captain Bligh was demolished by a jettisoned load of high explosives. Later, a bomb on London's St. Clement Danes Church blew open the grave of the doughty skipper of the Bounty.

Also smashed was Llandaff Cathedral in Glamorganshire, Wales, 150 miles from London. This church, believed to be the oldest Christian foundation in the United Kingdom, was built by Henry VII in the 15th century and to mark the event a carving of his head was placed under the eaves of the south side of the building. As each succeeding monarch was crowned his head was added to the panel under the eaves.

According to tradition the British monarchy would come to an end when there was no more room under the eaves for the carvings. By coincidence, the last carving begun was a head of Edward VIII who abdicated before his coronation.

Miss Violet Gillett Heads Maritime Art

SACKVILLE, June 3 — The Maritime Art Association concluded the sessions of its three-day annual meeting on Saturday. Miss Violet Gillett of the Saint John Vocational School, who was presiding, was re-elected president, and other officers chosen for the ensuing year were: Vice-presidents, for New Brunswick, Mrs. Lawrence Hashey, Fredericton; for Nova Scotia, Miss Lillie F. J. Mitchell, Halifax; for Prince Edward Island, Mrs. R. E. Mutch, Charlottetown; treasurer, H. K. Mosher, Acadia University, Wolfville; director of exhibitions, Miss Helen Beals, Acadia University, Wolfville; director of the Koda-chrome slide project, Mrs. Christine McKiel, Kentville.

The Kodachrome slide project is the chief new enterprise of the association. Slides in full natural color have been prepared covering the work of Maritime artists. A projector and descriptive address has been provided and the whole equipment will be available to all responsible groups or individuals in the three provinces desiring to make use of them.

The member organizations which form the Maritime Art Association are to have oversight of the lending of the outfit within their own districts at the outset and it is hoped eventually to have the slides shown throughout the Maritimes.

Later the association may obtain other collections of slides and make them available also. The present collection will be ready to go out in October. The Koda-chrome collection of Maritime artists' work was shown at the Friday evening session of the conference at which Mrs. John Bishop of the New Brunswick Museum staff gave a talk on Community Centres telling of their background and history. An interesting discussion followed on the part artists can play in community centres. Information was given on what different localities are recommending.

The reports presented showed the association had weathered a difficult year with much success. In spite of transportation difficulties, five travelling exhibitions had been sponsored and these had 36 showings.

Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatic Pains?

These pains come from an inflammation in the muscles and are generally caused by a deposit of poison in the blood called uric acid which produces the irritating and painful effect that causes many days and nights heavy with pain.

During the past 60 years Canadian people have found that by purifying the blood stream, Burdock Blood Bitters aids them to enjoy freer body movement with less rheumatic pain, as B. B. B. helps to tone up the system and clear up the uric acid in the blood, and probably help fortify the system against future attacks.
