S'side Dwelling Damaged By Fire

Fire which is believed to have originated from a defective flue, broke out at the residence of Earl ... of the R. C. A. F. on First Street at noon yesterday. At the time the alarm was rung in a very high wind was blowing from the south east and grave fears were held that the blaze would quickly spread to the other buildings close by as the fire had made considerable headway in the roof by the time the firemen had arrived although a very short time had elapsed from the time the siren sounded until they were at the scene. However they managed to get the fire under control although considerable damage was done to the roof of the residence and to the upstairs of the front part of the house. The property was just recently purchased by Mr. Ling from J. Stephen Gaudet. As far as could be learned the loss sustained is covered by insurance—S.

Grand Jury Finds True Bill In Perjury Case

Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell presided at the opening of the June term of the Supreme Court at Summerside yesterday. There was only one criminal indictment to put before the Grand Jury for consideration, that of Harry Walsh charged with perjury. In this case the Grand Jury brought in a true bill.

Mr. Frederick A. Large, recently appointed Attorney General of the Province, was present in his official capacity, his commission being read to the court by the Prothonotary. Chief Justice Campbell welcomed Attorney General Large and said that he brings to his office the vigor and enthusiasm of youth, also considerable experience gained as Crown prosecutor and as a naval officer. He said, "I bespeak for the new Attorney General the cordial cooperation of the public in the carrying out of his duties."

The Attorney General thanked the Chief Justice for his kind personal references and referred to the fact that his commission was read in the County where he attended school and began his study of law.

The docket for yesterday's court was as follows:

The King vs. Harry Walsh, Perjury.

The King vs. John (Holman) Gallant, Conspiracy, retrial.

The King vs. Andrew Perry, Conspiracy, retrial.

Appeals:

The King, respondent vs. Andrew Perry, Appellant, Excise act.

The King, respondent vs. Alberton Fisheries Ltd. Appellant, Fisheries Act.

The King respondent vs. Arthur Clarke, Appellant, Fisheries Act.

Absent Debtor Attachment: : Norman MacLeod vs. William J. Cristie.

Civil Jury:

G. Stanley Tanton vs. Elmer E. Sharbell.

Council present were, Attorney General Frederick A. Large, W. E. Darby K.C., J. Watson MacNaught, K. C., C. D. McCallum, W.H. Noonan and R.S. Hinton.

Address To Grand Jury

Chief Justice Campbell in his address to the Grand Jury said that the docket shows an absence of crimes of a serious nature. This was due to the constant vigilant check on less serious infractions by the authorities, also to the absence of so many young men in the armed services or in war employment and the full employment in legitimate occupation of those at home. He added, "I think the best preventive of crime is the full time employment for all the citizens of a community."

The Chief Justice referred to the appointment of the Hon. Mark R. McGuigan to the Bench and welcomed him as a colleague.

In reference to the war he said: "We are still meeting under the shadows of a terrific world war. In recent days our hopes and enthusiasms have been buoyed up by the deliverance of Rome. More especially to-day is our enthusiasm awakened by news of the invasion of an important portion of Western Europe."

"We are all confident, he added," that the plans of the United Nations will succeed in ultimate victory. How soon it will be won we cannot say. We fear it will be won at a heavy cost. Our hearts go out in sorrowing sympathy to those who have already received sad tidings of death and serious injury of relatives and friends". He then made a plea for service on the home front, and for the purchase of war bonds and war savings stamps.

Mr. Jusitce A.E. Arsenault addressed the Grand Jury on the Perjury indictment.—S

KING'S MERRIE DAYES

King Cole in English legend is said to have reigned in the third century.

War Situation Last Night

By Kirke L. Simpson, Associated Press War Analyst

Riding the ships of the mightiest sea-air armada ever known, British, American and Canadian troops are in Nazi-prostrated France at last, fighting beyond the beaches of Normandy from which William the Conqueror led his invasion of the British Isles.

Coastal outposts of the boasted German "impregnable" Atlantic wall were shattered on a wide front. From the Cherbourg tip of the Normandy Peninsula all round the curving shore of the great French Bay to the mouth of the Seine Allied troops are still pouring ashore from landing craft.

There was little by which to measure the early successes of the great invasion except the indication that, against all military logic, it apparently had attained tactical surprise. Striking out boldly in daylight under cover of overwhelming air power and a mighty naval bombardment, thousands of big and little sea craft with men and guns and tanks made the channel passage to come to grips with the foe.

The coast of Normandy obviously is not the short and direct road to Berlin. That lies farther to the north and east across the low countries. The Germans may anticipate that an Allied follow-up of even greater proportions across the channel narrows between Dover and Calais is also impending. The Luftwaffe, which did not show up in strength yesterday, may be being held back for that.

Paris is an unquestionable Allied objective. The Normandy beaches over which they are driving are a natural bridgehead to Paris, but it is Berlin not Paris, that is the goal of the Allies.

Seventy Thousand Mark Reached By Subscribers

Wonderful Results Reported At Last Night's Meeting Of Youth Centre Campaign.

Although no details of the Special Names subscriptions were submitted at the first report meeting of the Modern Youth Centre campaign held last evening, Mr. S. A. McLeod reported to the enthusiastic workers present that total subscriptions in hand at the close of the first collection day would total Seventy Thousand Dollars.

This is a truly remarkable start — only 5,000 dollars short of the minimum objective set at the opening of the campaign—and augurs well for the total that will be rolled up before the campaign is closed.

Before General Chairman Bonnell proceeded with reports from the teams in the general campaign silence was observed for a space in recognition of the significance, solemnity, and anxiety of Invasion Day, and the tremendous issues for the future of the whole world which centres upon the success of our armed forces now entering upon the culminating phases of the world war for freedom. This was followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. McLennan for the participants, the leaders, the wounded, the fallen, the bereaved and the anxious.

Receipts

Receipts reported for the day's collection showed that Section A led by Edwin Johnstone had already exceeded its objective of $14,980 with receipts of $16,343 while Section B, led by Roy Cudmore had receipts of $6,596 on an objective of $14,968—total receipts on the general canvass $64,-930.

Clifford MacDonald's, division, No. 2 led the others with collections totalling 151 per cent of the objective set. Each of the team captains in the Division were presented with appropriate prizes and received vociferous applause.

This division also had the winning team, No. 8, Hi-Y Grads, the youngsters of the organization, who had collected on the day $3960 or 495 per cent of the objective set for them, and their commander reported that two members of the team had themselves dug down for $500 each. Jim Burden, the captain and Ralph Cairns Blair McDonald, John Simmonds, Ern Diamond and Richard Matheson who made up the team, carried off prizes presented by Umpire Jas. Haslam and their great day's work was warmly applauded.

Prizes were also presented to the tied captains of the two teams making the greatest number of calls during the day. These went to D. M. McGuire and H. C. Atkinson.

Edwin Johnstone and Roy Cudmore, section leaders, had some amusing flings at one another. The former got the congratulations on the first day. The latter promised that his divisions were still in the fight and it is certain that the general canvass will at the next Report Meeting on Thursday show a total far in excess of the total set. At Thursday's meeting Nelson McEwen, a Charlottetown boy, now in Toronto and an outstanding figure in the councils of the National Y. M. C. A. will be present.

Domestic Duties Keep Woman M. P. Up To The Mark

BY MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 6 — (CP) — A woman politician's lot is not a lazy one as Lady Frances Joan Davidson will prove to you any day in the week.

The Conservative viscountess who is member for Hemel Hempstead, is a housewife as well as a parliamentarian. When her home in Westminster was bombed she moved her family to a country house and now being a rural chatelaine is another of her headaches.

When she first entered the House of Commons in 1937 her children were little more than babies, so she used to wheel the two youngest in a pram to the House and park them with a cooperative policeman who looked after them while the mother got on with her job.

The babies are schoolboys now, but the Davidson home still is packed to the roof. A married daughter with her baby and several small boy evacuees are regular members of the household, an A.T.S. daughter is there for leaves, and the young sons are home for holidays.

Lady Davidson plans all the meals, manages the household, does the shopping and queues up for fish on the way home from the House.

She does her housekeeping before she catches the 8:50 a.m. train to London with her secretary who takes dictation during the hour's journey.

Groceries are picked up on the way home, and before dinner she does most of the putting of the evacuees to bed.

Lady Davidson doesn't feel sorry for herself. "Running a house and bringing up a family is a great advantage to a woman M.P.," she says. "You know what an ordinary housewife's problems are."

SACKVILLE, N.S., June 5 —(CP) — The following were among officers elected at the Annual convention of the Maritime Art Association which closed Saturday at Mount Allison University.

Mr. Rand Matheson Discusses Transporation

"Some aspects of transportation under wartime conditions" was the subject of an interesting address at Rotary luncheon Monday by Mr. Rand Matheson, manager of the Transportation Commission of the Maritime Board of Trade.

Of particular interest to this province were his remarks regarding the securing of next winter's supply of coal.

Further demands are being made by the Transport Controller asking shippers to co-operate in the utilisation of equipment. This request is also being directed to the carriers. One way in which P. E. Island can help out in the situation, he said, is to start the necessary coal supplies at the earliest possible date, or when the traffic conditions in the Northumberland Straits are at their easiest.

P. E. Island's consumption of coal is approximately 130,000 tons per year and the railroads advise that during the summer months they can handle approximately 1,-000 tons per day.

By taking such action now it will facilitate the movement of agricultural products during the winter season and obviate the necessity of coal movements to the Island during a period of tight traffic conditions thus interfering with the movement of potatoes, turnips, etc. during the winter season.

The railroad contemplates having its stockpile of coal on the Island completed by the first of October and the coal producers in Nova Scotia are making every effort to make supplies available so that this can be done.

It was suggested that Mr. B. Graham Rogers undertake the formation in Charlottetown of a local shippers advisory committee for the purpose of co-operating with the railway to increase freight car utilization in compliance with the recent request of the transport controller for improvement all across Canada. Similar committees are being formed in the various other Maritime centres to work in conjunction with the Maritime Shippers Advisory Committee of which J. W. Boulter of Charlottetown is the P. E. I. member.

Mr. Matheson discussed the manner in which the transport facilities have been apkplied to meet the demands of the war effort and also discussed the various controls over transport.

With regard to post-war transportation matters two questions were raised for consideration:

1. What has the Maritimes to offer for the development of air tourist travel in the post war period?

2. What ancillary facilities should be provided to supplement our natural surroundings to attract such travel?

Advance planning was mentioned as a "must" in order that the Maritimes be in the vanguard of this type of travel development.

Brief reference was also made to the preparatory action taken in this regard in some parts of the United States.
