Tom Mix is here again!

Not as a cowboy but in more daring stunts than ever!

In a thrilling story of the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

He leaps 11 feet across a chasm, 2000 feet deep. He drops from a speeding airplane into the Colorado River.

He races his horse up and the Canyon's steep trails around its giddy rim.

A GOOD ROUND AGE—One of the finest samples of healthy Canadianism in this country is Mr. Bruno Gaudet of Tignish. He will shortly be one hundred years of age and walks to and from his parish church a mile away, every Sunday, a practice which he has kept up unbroken during his life time. Last fall he dug sixty bushels of potatoes with a hoe which, handle and all, he had used for sixty years. He is a prosperous farmer and has raised a large family of sons and daughters. Next in seniority to Mr. Gaudet in the Parish of Tignish is Mrs. Bruno Gaudet who is his junior by a year or two.

Modern Medical Views On Alcohol

good, although no fault can be found with taking a glass of whiskey after a hot bath and going right to bed in the early stages of influenza, but where much harm can be done and often is done is where a person takes whiskey to fight off a cold and brace him up so that he can attend to his ordinary duties. It gives him a false sense of well-being. It relieves the distress but it does so just as morphine relieves the pain of cancer, or aspirin a headache, and does not counteract the cause. As a result the man exposes himself to unnecessary and is often stricken with pneumonia which we would have escaped had he not been buoyed up with that false sense of comfort which the rum gave him.

The question may be asked, can alcohol be dispensed with altogether as a medicine? In reply to a question sent out to physicians in 19 States in the United States, 6,749 replied that they did not consider whiskey a necessary agent in the practice of medicine and 6,511 asserted that they had found it of value. 2,668 physicians considered beer necessary and 9,983 were opposed to its use. Personally I do not think there would be any more suffering or any more deaths if alcohol as a medicine were dispensed with and if we were discussing the question from a moral and social standpoint, we would be compelled to admit that there would be a great deal less of both if we had total prohibition. I am perfectly aware that many conscientious doctors consider alcohol of value in medicine and I have admitted that it can give relief in certain cases but I submit that a substitute could be given in those cases although it would certainly mean considerable inconvenience to the physician and the substitute would not always be as pleasant for the patient and I honestly believe that inside of 5 or at least 10 years the alcohol that some may now consider indispensable would never be missed. As a matter of fact there is now total prohibition in States of the United States and I have not heard that there is any great complaint from the medical profession who reside in those states.

Also under the Volstead Act doctors cannot prescribe alcoholic liquors without a special permit from the government. It is an astonishing fact that 122,000 of the 153,000 doctors in the States or over 75 per cent have not taken out permits. In one half of the 48 States not a single permit has been taken out.

I think we all admit that alcohol is not used as a medicine to the same extent as it was 50 or even 25 years ago. Some authorities state that the use of alcohol as a medicine has decreased 75 per cent and they came to that conclusion after looking over the records of several large hospitals. I find that in our own P. E. Island Hospital where 1065 patients were treated last year about $24.00 or the price of 6 bottles was all that was paid out by the hospital for alcohol for internal use.

Griffith's 'Way Down East' Coming

D. W. Griffith's picturization of 'Way Down East', based on the stage play by Lottie Blair Parker which for the past twenty-two years was one of the rural classics of the American theatre, will be presented at the Prince Edward Theatre on Monday, April 24th, for four days, with the following cast: Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Hay, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman, Creighton Hale, Mrs. Morgan Belmont, Kate Bruce, Ed Nelson, George Neville, Vivia Ogden, Porter Strong, Josephine Bernard, Mrs. David Landau, Patricia Fruen, Florence Short, Emily Fitzroy and Myrtle Stutch.

Mr. Griffith's production of 'Way Down East' represents ten months' work of the most exacting character, for in his screen version of the story he has endeavored to follow closely the narrative of the stage play, with here and there a digression for the purpose of dramatic value or elaboration.

'Way Down East' is the biggest production Mr. Griffith has made. Several Griffith innovations are promised, including a thrilling snowstorm and a genuine New England ice break on the river.

Seats now on sale for all four performances.

In Memoriam

JOHN H. PIERCE

The many friends of John H. Pierce were shocked to learn of his sudden death although for the past three weeks he was under the doctor's care but not considered dangerously ill until a few days before his death.

Mr. Pierce was the youngest son of Thomas Pierce, born at Highfield, and about five years ago, retired from farming, residing since that time in Charlottetown. He was a man of quiet disposition and of high character, and will be greatly missed by his many friends. In his early manhood he became a member of the Methodist Church and since has been very prominent in church affairs. He leaves to mourn his wife, nee Emma Hooper, also three brothers and one sister, namely Rev. Thos. Henry Pierce, Woodstock, N. B., Rev. Samuel Pierce, Highfield, and Mrs. George Turner, Winsloe. The Guardian extends its deepest sympathy.

JAMES HOWARD

During the early morning of Saturday, March 25th, 1922, James Howard, a highly respected and life long resident of Cornwall, P. E. Island, passed peacefully away after an illness of only a few days. Mr. Howard was born in Cornwall, March 14, 1846, being a few days past 76 at time of his departure. He was one of the many successful farmers of P. E. I. and always seemed interested in matters pertaining to the welfare of the community. Having been trained in a Christian home he, early in life, united with the Methodist Church and proved himself a faithful member.

He filled official positions in the Church for many years and rendered efficient and devoted service in these various offices. His attendance at the services of the Sanctuary was an inspiration to the speaker and his demeanor gave evidence of the delight and pleasure which he experienced at the throne of grace. He was a willing contributor to all departments of the church's work and was pleased because of success already achieved. The ending came somewhat suddenly, without any seeming manifestations of pain or distress, but quietly and peacefully he fell asleep and "was not for God took him."

The loss is one that will be much felt in both church and community but especially so in the home. He leaves to mourn their loss one son, Leo, residing on the homestead, one daughter, Mrs. Robt. McKinley, of North River and two grand daughters, also two brothers and one sister, George of Charlottetown, Henry of B. C., and Mrs. S. R. Drake of West River.

Many relatives and friends attended the funeral. Services conducted by Rev. Henry Pierce on March 24th. He was laid to rest by the side of his wife in the cemetery close by the church where he had so often worshipped, there to await that day when the shadows forever flee away.

the people upon the heartless politicians who have so grossly deceived them. These they would seize and shake with gauntlets of steel until they cry for mercy. But they would, as we do, still retain some emotion of pity and commiseration for the weary scroic who is their unwilling and half-penitent defender.

We leave it at that. He has our genuine sympathy. We make every possible allowance for the exigency forced upon the one and only press defender of a dishonored and shattered administration. Many will share in this feeling and will join with us in the hope that he may be speedily delivered from the toils in which he has become so hopelessly entangled. The despondency is so natural, the plaint so touching that we would fain speak a word of cheer if such were possible, but is not, and more's the pity.

TWO TURK LEADERS ARE ASSASSINATED BERLIN, April 19.—Two Turkish subjects Jemal Azmyk Bey, former governor of Trebizond, and Bahi Eddin Chakir, a leading member of the Turkish committee of union and progress, were shot and killed here last night. A semi-official version of the shooting says it was probably done through political motives by Armenians resident in Berlin. Eye-witnesses assert that three youths did the shooting and bed immediately after the Turks were killed. An American automobile pistol was found later at the scene of the shooting.

The police authorities have offered a reward of 20,000 marks for the apprehension of the assassins.
